DOG GETS REVENGE.

Dynamite Tied to Tail to End His Life, He Crawls Under House. Scheme Works.

DRIFTON, PA., Aug. 19.—(Special.)—George Wechon of Scale Siding owned a dog suffering with mange. To dispose of the animal he took it to the woods and attacked two sticks of dynamite and a long fuse to its tail, lit the fuse and retired to a place of safety, forgetting to tie the dog.

The animal ran after its master. Wechon saw the animal coming, and, knowing an explosion was likely to occur at any minute, quickened his pace, with the dog close at his heels. He was successful in reaching the house in safety and closed the door. The dog, badly frightened by the sizzling of the fuse, took refuge under the house. Immediately a terrific explosion occurred, and the building, with its contents and the dog, were blown to atoms. None of the family who were in the house was seriously injured.

SCHWAB'S REST IS PREPARATION FOR NEW WORK

Organization of Foreign Steel Interests Is His Mission.

NEW ALLIANCE TO BE INTERNATIONAL

World-Wide Combination Is Dream of Morgan and New Partner.

STEAMSHIP MERGER WAS THE FIRST STEP

It is hardly within the range of probability that President Charles M. Schwab will resign his office in the United States Steel Corporation for a long time to come. He may; he has considered such a move, but when he does it will be to become a partner of J. Pierpont Morgan as a worldwide organizer of industrial interests. The steel manufacturer and the general of finance understand each other thoroughly. Leading officials and directors of the steel corporation have no hesitancy in declaring that Mr. Schwab is stronger in the estimation and confidence of Mr. Morgan today than at any time since Andrew Carnegie stipulated that his man be put at the head of the big consolidation, which has as its strongest and most profitable factor in operation the Carnegie interests.

A Stroke of Finance.

The purchasing of the Bethlehem Steel company by Charles M. Schwab and its sale to a syndicate represented by J. P. Morgan & Co. was a stroke of finance which raised Schwab to a heighth in the estimation of Morgan never before attained by any other man. It is hinted here that Mr. Schwab was backed by Mr. Morgan in the original purchase of the Bethlehem property and then that all participated in the benefits of the subsequent sale. This cannot be verified; it is only the talk among Pittsburgh manufacturers and clubmen.

While Mr. Schwab is going abroad for rest, which he really needs, the plans are that when his health permits, he is to go ahead with the pet scheme of Mr. Morgan and the work which the great financier left undone, that of cementing the manufacturing concerns of Europe into what will practically be a unified concern. This will be the step which international trade conditions call for, a division of trade between the United States and European countries.

Schwab's Mind Needed.

Mr. Morgan organized the ocean-shipping interests. He had been thoroughly in touch with their values. However, he could not drive the bargains in organizing the iron and steel interests of Europe like a man familiar with the industry from the gorund up, from the point of digging the necessary foundation trenches up to the marketing of the finished product.

The foundation for American trade progress abroad was practically built by J. Pierpont Morgan. The United States has frequently been placed so that it could not ship its products abroad in competition to the European manufacturers. Ocean rates were prohibitive.

This was pointed out by Henry C. Frick several years ago when he was at the head of affairs in the Carnegie-Frick concerns. He then said that while prices on American steel were low the country might ship abroad, but that when domestic prices advanced to the points that they frequently reached it would be impossible to continue to enter the foreign markets.

Freights a Barrier.

Within the past two years there was a growing market for sheet and tin plate bars in Great Britain. The ocean freighters were a barrier by reason of the lack of ocean carriers. The ironmaster took the matter in his own hands, arranged to carry Carnegie steel from Conneaut through the lakes, canals and the St. Lawrence and abroad without breaking bulk. By chartering vessels that could do this the freight cost was reduced to a minimum. Then the spurt in the domestic market came and the foreign market was no longer desirable, the surplus production of the time of Mr. Carnegie's idea being minimized.

Before Mr. Morgan left on his European trip now ending, it is said that the entire scheme of procedure was arranged. Mr. Schwab's previous trip to Europe had in the meantime worn on his nerves, although it was a notable success, dazzling European financiers.

Could Not Find Rest.

After returning there was the trying trip to pick points where the great steel corporation should spend $50,000,000 for betterments. Then the head of the steel corporation turned to Atlantic City, taking up a cottage, which indicated that he intended to remain in the United States. Plans for his living in New York also indicated that he would remain at the head of the work of the big concern and would let the international trade problem settle itself.

The strain that he has been under was too much for him. The gay throng at Atlantic City did not permit him the rest that he needed. He was constantly being worried and when anyone could get word to Mr. Schwab he was almost always at home. In this he did business as the business man of a decade ago, himself disposing of all visitors so far as possible.

The work of seeing the people interested in his philanthropies and handling

REMINGTON'S BODY RESTS UNDER ROSES

Pittsburgh Brother Visits Scene of Newport Tragedy and Calls on James J. Van Alen, Who Denies Story of Insanity.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Newport, R. I., Aug. 19.—The body of Robert R. Remington, who committed suicide in the Newport reading room last evening, lies in a rose-covered casket in the rooms of an undertaker here.

Edward P. Remington of Pittsburgh arrived this evening. He visited the scene of the tragedy, then went to the La Forge cottage and took possession of his brother's effects. Later he went to Wakehurst to see James J. Van Alen, at the latter's request.

Late this evening Mr. Remington said that Mr. Van Alen told him that he never said his brother was insane. He stated to Mr. Remington, however, that in a letter received from Robert Remington on Sunday there was evidence of a very excited mental condition. The phraseology of this letter, Mr. Remington was told by Mr. Van Alen, was incoherent and wild. Mr. Remington said that he learned that his brother wrote Mrs. Astor asking if he might call. This, of course, was regarded not unusual.

This statement which Mr. Remington says Mr. Van Alen made to him is somewhat, though not altogether, at variance with the statement that was given out last night as authorized by Mr. Van Alen.

Thought for Sorrowing Brother.

It is generally believed, however, that this course was taken by Mr. Van Alen this evening in order to relieve the grief of a sorrowing man, which had been made particularly acute by the thought that his brother had become insane.

Mr. Remington found in his brother's effects evidence of the cause of the tragedy. He, however, declined to give any particulars. It is believed that there was a letter in which all was explained. When Mr. Remington was asked what, if anything, there was found that would give a clue to the matter he said:

"Now, really I cannot say. I have not had time to think the matter over, and moreover I must see my lawyer in order to get certain connections."

Whatever this means will remain a secret unless Mr. Remington chooses to speak, for though Mr. Remington was in the company of others when he examined the effects of his brother, he did not communicate with them upon this point.

When this evening Mr. Van Alen told Mr. Remington of his opinion from the letter of Sunday that his brother was extremely nervous, if nothing more, Mr. Remington did not hesitate to suggest to him that he might have been informed of the matter and he would have come on here and taken his brother away.

Body Placed in Casket.

The body of Mr. Robert Remington was inclosed in a handsome casket of oak, trimmed with heavy silver handles. The face was badly bruised, but there was a restful look about the features that was very impressive. On a silver plate there was the inscription:

"Robert R. Remington. Died Aug. 18, 1902. Aged 42 Years."

There was sent to the undertaking rooms this evening a very beautiful wreath which stood five feet high. It was of American Beauty roses and lilies of the valley, and was tied with a wide white ribbon. Attached to the device was a small envelope within which was a card. But the orders were not to open the envelope, and it could not be learned who had thus remembered Mr. Remington in death. The impression prevails here, however, that the wreath was a tribute from Miss May Van Alen. If it was not from her it is probable that it was sent by Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Collier. While the undertaker's room the wreath was zealously guarded lest the tiny envelope be opened.

Leaves for Old Home.

Mr. Edward Remington left at 9 p. m. for the former home of the family at Williamsport, Pa., where his brother's body will be buried. With Mr. Remington were two clerks from his Pittsburgh office, who were prepared to take down any statements which were made concerning the death of Robert Remington.

Mr. Remington said he was extremely surprised at what he had read in the papers ascribing the suicide of his brother to mental derangement. The last time he saw his brother, he said, was in April, just prior to the announcement of his engagement to Miss Van Alen, and there was no evidence of any mental change whatever.

On passing through New York today he said he stopped at his brother's office and closely questioned business associates, who all declared that it was impossible that Robert Remington's mind was unbalanced.

KANSAS MAN DROWNS HIS FOUR CHILDREN

Throws Three Girls and a Boy Into a Cistern and Then Shoots Himself.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

SALINA, KAN., Aug. 19.—Jacob Anderson, a farmer living east of Salina, in a fit of despondency today drowned his four children, three girls and a boy, in a cistern, and then shot himself with a revolver.

Anderson is still alive, but probably will die. Financial matters had affected his mind. The crime was committed during the absence of the mother.

The eldest child was 6 years old and the youngest four months. Anderson left a note on a table notifying the mother that the children could be found in the cistern.

THREE MEN KILLED.

Boiler Explosion Causes Death and Serious Injury Near Peducah, Ky.

PADUCAH, KY., Aug. 19.—The boiler in Simpson's sawmill exploded today at New Liberty, Ill., 10 miles from this city, killing three men instantly and seriously injuring five others.

The dead:

JAMES JEFFORDS, JR.
LESTER JOHNSON.

The five injured are suffering from scalds and bruises. The cause of the explosion is unknown.

ROOSEVELT MAY PUT P. C. KNOX ON THE BENCH

Friends of Attorney General Say He May Succeed Shiras.

IS NOW FISHING WITH SON OF THE JUSTICE

There are a good many people in Pittsburgh who would not be surprised to hear that President Roosevelt will appoint Philander C. Knox to the supreme court bench of the United States to succeed Justice Shiras, who will retire next year. The friends of the attorney general are divided as to the probability of Mr. Knox desiring the appointment.

For a few days Mr. Knox and George Shiras III., son of the justice, have been fishing together somewhere along Lake Erie. They are expected to return to the city today. Some political gossipers think that politics is mixed with their fishing. They were speculating yesterday on the possibility of Justice Shiras retiring earlier than he had formerly intended. His retirement was generally expected about next May.

Here and in Washington it is generally believed that the president would gladly appoint Mr. Knox. A seat on this bench is the highest honor which can be conferred upon a lawyer. Opportunities for this elevation come to few men and rarely more than once. For this reason, if Mr. Knox has any ambitions in the direction of the bench, the retirement of Justice Shiras will afford him a means of gratifying them.

Present Work Would Not Interfere.

Just now the department of justice is doing work perhaps the most important of any of the executive bureaus; its work in helping to shape a suitable anti-trust policy for the Republican party may prove of history making value. Its responsibility in the Panama canal enterprise is very great. The number of new questions arising from the constitutional relation to the consular policies, now in formative shape, is notably large. Mr. Knox properly estimates the value of this work, and, it is said, may not like to leave it.

The trust question and probably some of the others will have been disposed of by the supreme court before the retirement of Justice Shiras. In this event there would be no reason for embarrassment on the part of the attorney general if he should go on the bench. The Washington correspondent of The Gazette last night sent the following dispatch bearing on the possibility of the elevation of Mr. Knox to the bench:

Too much emphasis has been placed in estimating the probability of Mr. Knox's accepting this appointment upon observations regarding his home here and his law partnership. It is true that he has bought a house in Washington and that he has dropped all his law connections in Pittsburgh, and many business connections, but most of these changes were made some time ago, and those relating to business and professional relations should be ascribed to a sensitiveness regarding the proprieties of his position, rather than to an anticipation of long residence in Washington. He still retains ownership of his residence in Pittsburgh.

The Pennsylvania senators and the Republican organization of the state have long desired to have Judge J. Hay Brown of the Pennsylvania supreme court receive this appointment. He was urged for the place by Senators Quay and Cameron in 1892, when President Harrison selected Mr. Shiras, and last spring Senator Quay spoke highly of Judge Brown, when the probable retirement of Judge Shiras was first published in The Gazette.

Would Go to Pennsylvania.

As New Jersey is in the same judicial circuit, ex-Attorney General Griggs is mentioned, but it is generally believed here that the president will again confer the honor upon the second state of the union, and especially as he is always glad to favor Senators Quay and Penrose.

New responsibilities of the president under the constitution are more exacting than the making of this great court. It is probable that President Roosevelt, especially if he should be re-elected, would have the filling of an unusual number of places in the supreme bench. Besides the one to which Justice Holmes has recently been named, and the forthcoming Shiras vacancy, reports are persistent that Chief Justice Fuller intends to retire not long after he reaches 70 years, which will be on February 11 next. He has been on the bench since 1888. Associate Justice Harlan will also reach the 70-year mark next June. He has been on the bench 25 years and would stand a good chance to exceed the late Justice Fields in length of service if he cared to remain, but his health, it is reported, has shown some slight signs of flagging, and he may not care to serve many years longer. Justices Brown and Brewer will not reach the age of retirement until 1906 and 1907 respectively.

WIRELESS MESSAGE SPEEDS SAD NEWS

Charles Fair's Sister Learns of His Tragic Death While Nearing Home Port--Whole Party Greatly Shocked.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

New York, Aug. 19.—Looking almost as young and girlish as when she sailed away a bride seven years ago, the duchess of Marlborough arrived in this city today on the Kronprinz Wilhelm. With her was her mother, Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont, Mr. O. H. P. Belmont, her brother, W. K. Vanderbilt, Jr., and Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt, Jr.

The arrival of the party was saddened by the news of the terrible death of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fair in their automobile in France, and by the news of the sensational suicide of Robert Remington.

The first word of the death of the Fairs was sent to the party by a wireless message. Mr. Vanderbilt broke the news this morning to his wife, who is Mr. Fair's sister, and to the duchess. Mrs. Vanderbilt was overcome and the duchess burst into tears at the sad news.

The girlish appearance of the duchess was noticed by everybody. Her cheeks are red, her lips cherry and when she smiles a perfect row of ivory teeth glistens. She wore a very pretty costume of green crepe de chine over a white taffeta skirt. The dress was trimmed in brown and white, and dangling about her neck was a long black chenille boa. She wore a plain brown white straw hat, trimmed with a pink ribbon. About her waist was knotted a pink sash. A row of pearls gleamed from her neck and a gold bracelet fastened with a padlock circled her left wrist. She carried a gold chatelaine purse in her hand.

Steerage and Bridge Whist.

During the trip she mingled freely with the passengers and showed great interest in those who made the trip in the steerage. Her principal recreations were reading and playing bridge whist. Last night she, as well as Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt, Jr., danced at the ball given aboard. The duchess was asked how it felt to be home again.

"I am glad to get back to America, especially New York," she replied. "I have been looking forward to this visit for a long time. Although my home is in England, my thoughts are here much of the time."

Waiting at the dock for the duchess and her party was Mrs. Herman Oelrichs and other relatives. An old lady, who was said to be the duchess' nurse, stood at a window of the pier when the boat came up, and tossed a large white rose toward the duchess, but it fell short and went to the water below. The duchess threw the old lady a kiss in response.

W. K. Vanderbilt, Jr., declared he was out of auto racing. "I've sold every auto I had," he said. "I have not brought any over with me, as has been reported. You know I do not intend to speed my auto over here and get arrested and spend six months in jail for fast driving.

"I saw Charley Fair about a week before I left. I have seen the auto in which he was killed. He was considered a fine chauffeur.

Sister Is Grief-Stricken.

"I broke the news of her brother's death to my wife as gently as possible. She was grief-stricken, of course, but bore up more bravely than I expected under the circumstances."

Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont, who was dressed in a white satin gown and a white straw hat, seemed very much pleased at being able to bring her daughter home with her.

"I have no plans," she said, "to entertain the duchess. We will stay in town a day or so and then go to Newport. My daughter will go back to Europe at the end of September. We have no social engagements and probably in view of the situation at present will not make any. The duchess did not bring her children with her."

Mrs. Belmont was handed a paper which contained an account of the Newport tragedy. When she gathered the import of the news she exclaimed:

"Oh, isn't it awful. I am so sorry to hear of it. I know both Mr. Remington and Miss Van Alen. It is sad news, indeed."

O. H. P. Belmont, who has been at Carlbad for a month, looked much improved. He led about the vessel a white bull dog named "Dollar."

"I saw Mr. Fair," said Mr. Belmont, "in Paris. Our party naturally has been very much shocked at the accident."

STOKER WAS KILLED AT THE HOTEL HENRY

Explosion of Gas in a Boiler Caused Death Early This Morning.

By an explosion of gas in a boiler in the basement of the Hotel Henry, at 1:25 o'clock this morning, John Williams, colored, was instantly killed. The front plate of the boiler, weighing probably 200 pounds, struck him fair in the face, crushing his head and body. The dead man was about 30 years old and was engaged as fireman at the hotel, having been employed only yesterday.

Aside from the injury to the boiler, the property damage is slight. Engineer Charles, who is in charge of the hotel machinery, said that in his opinion the explosion was caused by an accumulation of gas in the boiler box. He thinks that the brick arch under the boiler gave way previously, making a chamber in which a large volume of gas accumulated.

Byers Makes Answer.

GREENSBURG, PA., Aug. 19.—(Special.)—William S. Byers today filed in the prothonotary's office here his affidavit of defense in the suit brought by his uncle, Jacob Byers. He alleges that it is not true that he received from the plaintiff $40,000 in money or its equivalent and that he is, therefore, not indebted to the plaintiff in the sum named or any part thereof.

W. H. GRAHAM REPUDIATES INTERVIEW

Denies Authorship of the Quotations from Senator Quay.

HAS NOT SEEN QUAY SINCE JUNE

Beaver Man Then Said He Thought It Good Politics to Accept Indorsement.

GRAHAM DOES NOT EXPECT STONE'S AID

Congressman W. H. Graham denies the interview attributed to him, in which he was made to quote Senator M. S. Quay as saying that he is more interested in electing a Republican governor than in keeping congress out of the control of the Democrats. The Alleghenian says the entire interview, with the exception that Quay said he thought Judge Pennypacker would act wisely in accepting the Citizens party indorsement, is untrue and was not authorized by him.

The alleged interview with the congressman was printed in the morning organ of the machine a day or two ago. It was said that Graham and Quay had "recently" had a conference on the question of the Citizens indorsement of Pennypacker. They have not met since the latter part of June. According to the story, Graham demanded to know whether Quay was favorable to the indorsement, the congressman endeavoring to point out that there was a danger of the Republicans losing control of congress by the action. Quay is reported to have replied to Graham in this wise:

"That is all very true, Mr. Graham, but there are other matters that must be kept in mind. It is quite true that the next house may be Democratic, and, as you say, it probably will be, but it is more important for me that I elect a Republican governor than that the next house should not go Democratic."

Mr. Graham is then reported to have given his own district as an illustration, and to have pointed out the danger of his defeat. Quay is reported by the machine organ to have replied as follows:

What Quay Did Not Say.

"I guess that is about the situation. I want to say to you, Mr. Graham, that you will have about the hardest fight of any candidate on your ticket, and I shouldn't be surprised to see you defeated. However that may all be, we must have a Republican governor, and to do that he must get all the votes he can and wherever he can."

This interview coming from Graham caused general surprise. He was asked last night if he was correctly quoted, and this is what he replied:

"I had an interview with Senator Quay in Washington about the time of the adjournment of congress. I have not talked with him since. Having heard that the Citizens contemplated the indorsement of Pennypacker, I asked him if he would favor such action. He said that he did not believe the indorsement would be refused, as he considered it good politics for Pennypacker to get all the votes possible.

"I deny the balance of the alleged interview. It never occurred. I never thought there was any danger of my defeat. I will win whether or not Pennypacker is at the head of the Citizens ticket."

The congressman also took occasion to deny another story printed about him yesterday. It was to the effect that Gov. Stone had told Quay he would keep the troops at Shenandoah until the senator would agree to assist in the re-election of Graham. The story also announced that Stone was coming here to help elect Graham. Of this the congressman said:

"The story is ridiculous. The governor has never evidenced any interest in my candidacy, nor will he visit the county in my behalf. He has no further interest in the Twenty-ninth congressional district or in Allegheny. He has repeatedly said that he would not accept a nomination or election to congress, having had all the congressional experience he desired. He has purchased property in the East End and will live in Pittsburgh when he retires from the governor's chair.

Believes Retirement Story.

"I believe the statement made by the governor that he intends to retire from politics. Such publications as this one was evidently intended to influence the people of my district against me. I am making a canvass for re-election purely on my merits as a congressman. On that I stand or fall. If the people are satisfied that Mr. Shiras will make a better congressman, I will accept their verdict. I repeat that I stand on my record, irrespective of past friendships. I might add that between now and election day the voters of my district will have an opportunity to converse with me on this subject."

Congressman Graham does not appear to think an indorsement by the Union party a very valuable asset to an old organization man this fall. "I do not know what the Union party intends to do," said he, "but I would think that the people interested in that movement are more friendly to the Citizens than to the organization. To my mind it would be better for the organization candidates to make their fight wholly within the Republican party."

The state convention of the Union party will be held in Philadelphia September 3. This county will have 40 delegates in the meeting. The county committee will meet in a few days to name these delegates. One of the Union party officials said last night that the local representatives, as well as almost the entire Western Pennsylvania delegation, would vote solidly for the indorsement of the Democratic state ticket.

Forest Fire Raging.

YMIR, B. C., Aug. 19.—One of the most disastrous fires which has ever occurred in West Kootenai is raging about Ymir. Many square miles of timber have been burned and a number of mine buildings wiped out. Wagon roads and bridges have been destroyed. Front the Granite works of the Ymir Company to the Fogborn mine, a distance of five miles, every building has been destroyed.

COL. F. J. HEARNE LEAVES THE BIG TUBE COMPANY

Anxious to Be Rid of Business Cares Except Personal Ones.

WILL STAY IN PITTSBURGH

Vice President William B. Schiller Succeeds Him and Other Officers Move Up a Step—Changes Made at Annual Meeting.

Col. Frank J. Hearne, president of the National Tube Company and its head since the retirement of Joshua Rhodes, resigned at the annual meeting in Jersey City yesterday so as to rid himself from business cares aside from his personal interests. There is no further significance in the move, but it marks the retirement from a big concern of the man who has been its active executive since its formation, and who prior to this was the head of one of the most important constituent concerns of the tube company, the Riverside works at Wheeling.

First Vice President William B. Schiller was elected president, Second Vice President W. H. Latshaw becomes first vice president, John D. Culbertson becomes second vice president, and A. S. Mathewson third vice president. Edward Worcester, general sales agent of the company, was elected a director to succeed Col. Hearne, and a Mr. Murray, attached to the treasurer's office, was elected to succeed William Nelson Cromwell, who resigned from the directorate.

Col. Hearne, when spoken to on the telephone, said: "Yes, the report is true. When in New York last week I arranged with the chairman of the executive committee of the United States Steel Corporation that my name should not be presented for re-election to the board of directors of the National Tube Company and that I should be permitted to retire after a very active business life of 36 years.

"This is most agreeable to myself and family and has been suggested by my physician for more than a year past. My relations with the officials of the steel corporation and its constituent companies, including the National Tube Company, are most cordial.

"I am especially pleased that Mr. Schiller has been selected to fill the vacancy, as we have always worked together most harmoniously and I consider him in every way splendidly equipped for the position. It is my intention to continue my residence in Pittsburgh and devote more time in the future to my personal affairs than I have been able to do while employed by the various corporations with which I have been connected."

BRIDE AND WIDOW IN A DAY.

Young Woman Reached Her Lover Just Ahead of Cholera.

LAPORTE, IND., Aug. 19.—Rudolph Seumastein, who left Laporte last fall to become an instructor in the government schools in the Philippines, died there August 18. Death came five hours after he had been married to Miss Jeanette Williams of Denver, who that morning arrived on the transport Meade from the United States.

Miss Williams and Seumstein were betrothed while they were students at the Colorado university and she crossed the Pacific to wed him. He met her at the landing early in the morning and shortly afterward was taken suddenly ill of cholera. The ceremony was performed at once and at 1 o'clock Prof. Seumstein died.

THE WEATHER.

Fair weather is promised for Pittsburgh and vicinity today and tomorrow by the Washington weather bureau. Yesterday the atmosphere was several degrees warmer than on Monday and by 4 o'clock in the afternoon the mercury had reached a maximum temperature of 80 degrees. The minimum occurred at 6 o'clock in the morning and was 67 degrees. There was a light rainfall after dark last evening, amounting to .13 of an inch.

WANTED TO BEAT AN UNNATURAL SON

TEMPER OF CROWD UGLY WHEN LEWIS WHIPPED HIS MOTHER.

An Allegheny Incident That Might Have Had Further Sensational Features Had It Not Been for Policeman and His Club.

Joseph Lewis was saved last night, by a policeman, from being beaten by a crowd that congregated about the house while Lewis, as it is charged, was whipping his mother. The Lewises live at No. 608 Ohio street, Allegheny, the family consisting of Joseph Lewis and his wife, his mother, and his two brothers.

Two weeks ago Joseph was arrested and fined for beating his wife. In clemency the charge was made disorderly conduct, punishable by summary process, although under the charge of assault and battery he could have been held for court and, if found guilty, sentenced to the workhouse.

The neighbors know Joseph and when last night the cries of a woman were heard coming from the house, a crowd gathered before the door and the report circulated that Lewis was beating his mother. The threatening crowd was about to move on the house, when the door suddenly flew open and Joseph was thrown out by his two brothers, who had gone to their mother's aid. Policeman George Zimmerman had to use his club freely to prevent the crowd from taking the fellow from him and punishing him severely.

BENNETT'S EUROPEAN TRIP A DREAM STORY

Gulick His Partner Knows There Is No Foundation for Laura Biggar's Latest Story.

R. M. Gulick, manager of the Bijou theater, when asked concerning the claim of Laura Biggar, one of the beneficiaries under the will of the late Henry M. Bennett, that she had been married to Mr. Bennett abroad, said:

"I was a partner of Bennett for 12 years, and when he was not in Pittsburgh I was in almost daily communication with him by mail, and I know positively that Bennett in all that time never left the country. I frequently urged him to go abroad, but he always refused to go. A few years ago, when I went to Europe, I endeavored to persuade him to go with me, but he declared that he had no liking for the sea voyage, and never would take it.

"Prior to the civil war Bennett visited Cuba, and I believe he resided in Havana for two or three years, but I am positive that he never left the country during the years I have known him. In his last year he failed so rapidly that it was only at intervals that he could be assisted from his bed and wheeled about in a chair at his farm in New Jersey. I know this, because I saw him there in the condition of which I speak.

"I cannot say anything in regard to the alleged marriage of Bennett and Laura Biggar beyond the fact that he always referred to her in my presence as 'Miss Biggar,' and I never heard of his speaking of her to anyone else in any other manner. Neither did Laura Biggar ever give me to understand that she was married to Bennett."

CLAIMS SHE WAS WED.

Laura Biggar Says Marriage Took Place at Mt. Clemmens Two Years Ago.

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—A Gazette reporter called at Dr. C. C. Hendricks' sanitarium at Bayonne, N. J., tonight, where Laura Biggar has been residing for the past four months, and, while Dr. Hendricks stated that Miss Biggar or Mrs. Bennett, as she now calls herself, was too ill to see anyone, he vouchsafed the statement that Laura Biggar McConnell and H. M. Bennett were married two years ago at or in the vicinity of Mt. Clemens, Mich. The marriage is a matter of record and will be established when the proper time arrives.

GATES THE LOSER.

Injunction Against the Osgood Faction of Colorado Fuel & Iron Company Denied.

DENVER, COL., Aug. 19.—The John W. Gates faction of the Colorado Fuel and Iron Company lost another round in its battle for control. Judge Riber of the United States district court tonight denied the application for a preliminary injunction to prevent officials of the company from refusing to allow the Gates faction to vote proxies it claims to hold at the stockholders' meeting tomorrow in this city.

The suit was based upon the alleged fraudulent and absolutely void by-law which was adopted by the directors of the company on July 30, which the complainants charged was framed and adopted for the purpose of enabling the present officials of the Colorado Fuel and Iron Company to dictate the action of tomorrow's meeting and to deprive the complainants and the shareholders they represent by proxy from voting.

"I am not trying to get the Colorado Fuel and Iron Company to sell out to the United States Steel Corporation," said John W. Gates, after the court adjourned today. "That, as I see it, has nothing to do with my right to the control of the corporation, but the other side has included in its affidavits that alleged fact and they might as well know such is not my intention.

"The United States Steel Corporation does not want the Colorado Fuel and Iron Company. If it did it would have got it at the time it took in all the other subsidiary companies, and neither Osgood nor myself nor anyone outside of the steel company could have prevented it."

The club decided to attend the convention in a body and to take the Knights of Pythias band.

MRS. SPIKES ONCE MORE WENT AFTER HER HUSBAND.

Minnie Spikes, colored, of No. 851 Second avenue, who attempted to kill her husband in the safety palace early Sunday morning, made another attack on him yesterday morning at his home at No. 516 Second avenue. This time James got away from her and went to the police station. Detectives McElroy and McStay took him before Police Magistrate McGarey and he made information against her for assault and battery. The detectives went to the Second avenue house and placed her under arrest. She was immediately committed to jail for a hearing on Thursday morning.

James Spikes was "white" with terror and fear when he arrrived at the police station. "That woman said she would kill me for certain this time," said Spikes to the detectives, "and I had an awful time getting away from her."

ACHESON WILL HAVE TO FIGHT CUNNINGHAM

Beaver Man Declares That Congressman Cannot Be Re-Elected.

COURT AID IS EXPECTED

Opponent of Washington Statesman Will Try to Have Nomination Set Aside—Failing in This He Will Probably Run Independently.

James H. Cunningham of Beaver county made the announcement last night that he did not expect Congressman E. F. Acheson to be on the Republican congressional ticket in the Washington-Beaver-Lawrence district. While he did not go into details, the declaration is evidence that Cunningham hopes to be able to have the courts decide that Acheson's certificate of nomination is illegal.

During the latter part of last week a secret meeting of Cunningham and his supporters was held in Beaver. The meeting place is said to have been in a part of town seldom frequented and there was much mystery and secrecy thrown about the gathering. One report is that it was decided to have Cunningham come out as an independent candidate for congress and probably secure the indorsement of the Union party.

When Cunningham was asked last night if he would be an independent candidate, he replied that such a course was not under consideration at present. He declined to go on record as refusing to accept such a nomination. Cunningham insists that Acheson has not been regularly nominated as the candidate of the Republican party in the district.

Says Acheson Cannot Win.

"I do not expect that Acheson will be on the ticket," said Cunningham. "Neither am I of the opinion that he will go to Washington as the representative of the district. As to the nomination of the Union party, I suppose that in case that I am offered its indorsement I could follow Pennypacker's example and accept. At present I am the only regular Republican candidate for congress in Beaver county. I am not moving toward clearing up the present state of affairs in the district and I do not know how the matter will ultimately be settled, except I am of the opinion that Acheson will not be on our ticket and that he will not be elected."

It is probable that Cunningham will first try to upset the nomination of Acheson and failing in that may appear as an independent candidate. The Beaver Republican county committee did not ratify the agreement of the three counties to nominate by the popular vote system. Acheson carried Washington and Lawrence and Cunningham secured a majority of the votes in Beaver.

Cunningham May Be Fooled.

When it was time to hold a meeting of the returning board of the district, the Beaver organization, controlled by Cunningham, refused to participate. A mandamus was secured, ordering the Beaver chairman to appoint a representative. The chairman absented himself from the county and service could be had upon him. The representatives of Washington and Lawrence certified to the nomination of Acheson and papers have been filed at Harrisburg. It was thought that the Beaver organization would eventually join in the certification. Cunningham claims to control the county committee, but a recent counting of noses is said to have disclosed the fact that 58 of the 90 odd members are opposed to Cunningham's control.

Even should Cunningham run as an independent, he would not hope to win. Acheson will have Washington and Lawrence counties, and many Beaver men say that Cunningham cannot carry his own county.

TRAIN WRECKED AND TWO BODIES ARE RECOVERED

Several Other Victims Are Believed to Be Buried in Huge Mass of Ruins.

LITTLE GIRL IS KILLED

Was Just Being Helped Into Coach When Crash Came—Six Cars Wrecked and Nnmber of Persons Are Injured.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

Asbury Park, N. J., Aug. 19.—A regular Pennsylvania train on the New York & Long Branch railroad, bound north, was run into from the rear at the Belmar station tonight by a special Central Railroad of New Jersey train.

The Pennsylvania train had stopped at Belmar station to pick up passengers. The Central train was running north also and was empty. The engine of the Central train telescoped the rear car of the Pennsylvania train.

Six cars were wrecked, several persons were killed and a number injured. At midnight two bodies had been taken from the wreck. A little girl was killed as she was being put aboard the waiting train.

The engineer and fireman of the Central train have not been seen since the collision. It is believed they are under the wreckage.

The wreckage is piled 30 feet high. The freight shed at the depot was demolished and the depot badly damaged. Their wreckage added to the heap on the rails.

Fitzpatrick, a brakeman, was caught in the wreckage and badly scalded by escaping steam and hot water. He was released from under the wreckage and ran almost four miles to his home, where he is attended by a doctor.

Immediately after the wreck the forward cars of the Pennsylvania train were detached. Except for broken glass they did not appear to be greatly damaged and proceeded. Brakeman Towle was badly injured and may die.

The little girl killed was Alice Biggert, aged 13, who lived at Rahway. The first body removed was that of an unknown man about 35 years of age. The man was poorly dressed and looked to be a laborer. Harry Van Note, conductor of the Central tarin, was injured, but not seriously.

FIVE BURNED TO DEATH.

Two Women and Three Children Victims of Tenement House Fire.

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—Something exploded in a furniture store on the ground floor of a double tenement at No. 35 Essex street today and before the tenants could recover from the surprise the building was a mass of flames.

Two women and three children were burned to death and a man and a woman were carried to Gouverneur hospital suffering painful injuries. Many others were badly burned. Coroner Goldenkranz, who viewed the bodies, said there had been only one positive identification, that of the remains of Mrs. Hannah Balothin.

At the special election held in Millvale yesterday it was decided, by a sweeping majority, to issue $75,000 worth of bonds. The issue will be used for the purchase of the Bennett water works for $65,500, the payment to the Bennett Water Company of the amount of a verdict the company received recently against the borough, and the remaining money from the issue will be used to pay off a floating indebtedness.

TROLLEY JOLT THE LATEST DISEASE.

"The Trolley Jolt" is the latest disease to be added to the long list of human ills. Nearly half the motormen and conductors on the Monongahela division of the Pittsburgh Railways company are said to be afflicted with it.

"The Trolley Jolt" is the name given it by a Braddock physician who has treated a large number of traction men. A weak stomach, pains in the back and shattered nerves are indications of the new evil. It is caused by the jolting of the trolley cars when the magnetic rail brake is applied. The grinding sensation shatters the nerve system of the traction men and they soon become afflicted with weak stomachs. The disease is not so prevalent among men on the other trolley lines where rail brakes are not used.

an army of interviewers was entirely too strenuous. It all grew out of the goodness of heart of the man. The place was too public. This made him ill and then drove him to his retreat in the mountains at Loretto, where his friends say he has been gradually recuperating and is nearly ready for the great task before him.

The scheme of bringing the ironmasters of Europe into a coalition with those of America is not new. It has been a fond hope and promise ever since the first inception of industrial combination in the United States. The German steel interests were partly handicaped from entering a consolidation, they being held in check by combines of their own and subject to dictation of the coal-producing interests, which hold their supply of coal and coke.

Can Dictate Terms.

By the steamship merger the fuel problem is settled in Germany. The American shippers can now dictate terms to the coal producers of Southern Germany and Wales. This will relieve the ironmasters of Belgium and Germany, and will do much toward bringing them into an amicable arrangement that will hold their markets against competition from the United States.

By reason of the high prices which now obtain on the heavy lines of iron and steel production in the United States, exportation to Europe is practically cut off. Belgium, Germany and Britain are now sending some of their unfinished steel here. This will, at least for the time being, serve to entrench the European manufacturers and to hold the markets, which were slipping away from them two and three years ago.

The United States Steel Corporation cannot afford to reduce wages, nor to cut into the prices of finished materials, because such moves would upset all calculations.

All in Readiness.

When the steel situation was mastered here, and the United States Steel Corporation began to run smoothly, Mr. Morgan made his memorable trip to Europe and concluded arrangements for the launching of the shipping consolidation. This done, Messrs. Morgan and Schwab are ready to treat with the steel manufacturers of Europe.

Mr. Schwab is now in position to say to the steel manufacturers of Europe, that if they refuse to accept his offers, they will be inundated with the American product, with the great steam shipping combine the factor that will make this possible, along with plans of the corporation, which may give it an over-production, that can readily be unloaded in Europe. Mr. Schwab is much better fitted to talk business to the iron masters of Europe than Mr. Morgan.

He can tell them the exact expenditure, at which every one of their plants can be duplicated and operated.

Schwab's Accurate Knowledge.

He can tell them just how much it costs to put out iron and steel products, under the old and the modern methods, and thus beat down any cupidity the foreigners may show in their dealings.

President Schwab has practically turned over his affairs in the steel corporation to his subordinates. Financial and labor troubles are practically settled for a year. They have been for months past, and this has supplied an interim, in which the iron master and the master of finance could shape up their big scheme for trade harmony between Europe and America. The prices for all products are established on a high basis, and there are orders booked which, if no more were to come, would keep most of the plants going well into the next year. Under these conditions the time is propitious for the realization of the dream of Morgan and Schwab for a coalition of the world's industrial forces.

Undertaking Great Task.

Despite illness of Mr. Schwab, which has driven him to seek rest, it is declared on high authority, that with the wonderful recuperative powers of a young man, he will be in condition to take up his great task, soon after he crosses the ocean.

If the United States should want to compete with Europe now in the steel marts, the price of finished steel would have to be reduced from $8 to $10 a ton. To do this, the initial and heaviest cost of labor would have to be attacked and the steel corporation cannot afford to do this. It has attempted it, not as a general policy, but in behalf of a constituent, the American Tin Plate Company. This is by reason of the fact, that each of the constituent concerns must stand on its merits. The Carnegie and allied interests continue the heavy earners.

Cannot Lower Wages.

Competition in finished lines has caused the closing of some of the tin plate mills, and its managers figure that some of the import business must be cut off. It is said on good authority, that now the big tin plate company pays to the National Steel Company nearly as much for its tin plate bars as the independent buyers. This is by reason of this scheme of each concern standing on its merits. The tin plate company like others had delayed buying till prices on billets and bars were forced way above the logical ratio, called for with present prices of steel rails, and which at the time they were established, were bitterly fought by some members of the railroad combine.

If a general assault were to be made on wages for the purpose of reaching the foreign markets, it would upset the present equilibrium in this country. On the other hand, the growing importation would do the same thing. Either would interfere with Mr. Morgan's ideas of general co-operation.

An International Union.

To carry forward his plans, Mr. Morgan is forced to turn to an organization of the European iron and steel producers. This is said to be Mr. Schwab's mission abroad. The excuse given is that he is seeking rest.

European financiers have had an inkling of what is coming. While in Europe Mr. Morgan dined with King Edward and was in close touch with Kaiser Wilhelm. No doubt their minds have been set at rest by the financier by being taken into his confidence. Mr. Morgan has probably promised them that, with the carrying out of his big plans for merger, the trade of the empires will assume a condition as steady as that of the United States.

Financiers, when spoken to about the proposed European mergers, admitted that this was part of the grand plan of organization, but they do not know, they said, that the time is ripe for the work. They admitted that step by step the men in charge have been working toward a common end, but knew little of what has actually been accomplished aside from what has been reported publicly.

Will Retire Ultimately.

A close friend of President Schwab said yesterday that within a short time Mr. Schwab had indicated his purpose ultimately of retiring from the office which he has held since the organization of the big corporation. At that time the steel corporation president remarked that there were three men among whom it would be easy to pick his successor. The informant would not say who the three men named are, but it is surmised that they are former-Judge E. H. Gary, chairman of the executive committee; James Gayley, first vice president, and William B. Dickson, second vice president, the last two being former Pittsburghers.

The private car of President Schwab, Loretto, was attached to Pennsylvania train No. 8 yesterday morning. At Cressen Mr. Schwab and his party boarded the car at about 10:25 o'clock.

MR. SCHWAB DECLARES HE WILL NOT RESIGN

Tells New York Interviewers He Is Not Very Ill, but Will Take Needed Rest.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

JERSEY CITY, N. J., Aug. 19.—Charles M. Schwab, president of the United States Steel Corporation, did not look like a very sick man when he stepped from his special car, Loretto, in the Pennsylvania railroad station tonight. He was accompanied by two friends and walked down the platform as alert as they or any of the newspaper men who besieged him with questions. He would not answer any of the queries put to him, but in the middle of the big station he stopped and said:

"Gentlemen, I will make you three brief statements on condition that you do not ask me any questions. In the first place I am not a very sick man, as you can see for yourselves. In the second place, I need rest and I am going to take it. In the third place, I have not resigned the presidency of the United States Steel Corporation and I do not intend to resign. That is all I have to say."

A reporter asked him where he was going.

"Now that," said Mr. Schwab, "is a violation of the conditions I imposed. You were not to ask any questions. Good night."

And he boarded a Twenty-third street ferryboat, which carried him to New York.

Perkins Emphizes Former Statement.

George W. Perkins of J. P. Morgan & Co., said today:

"Mr. Schwab is not seriously ill and the stories about his resignation from the presidency of the United States Steel Corporation are almost too silly to be noticed. He is not going to resign, neither does any one want him to resign. He will be here to see Mr. Morgan tomorrow and will attend several business meetings before sailing for an extended trip to Europe, as has been his custom for many years past.

"Mr. Schwab has the confidence of every member of the steel corporation and perfect harmony pervails among all the officials and directors of the corporation."

Chats With Reporters.

PHILADELPHIA, PA., Aug. 19.—For exactly seven minutes Charles M. Schwab, president of the United States Steel Corporation, stretched his legs and chatted with a group of newspaper men in the outer end of the trainshed at Broad street station this afternoon.

Mr. Schwab arrived in the city in his private car, Loretto, which was attached to the Pennsylvania express, at 5:45 o'clock. With him were his physician, Dr. Golden; his private secretary, and a friend, and as soon as the train stopped in the sheds Mr. Schwab stepped from his car. He wore a rough, gray tweed suit and an English outing cap and carried a cane. He walked with a slight limp and the cane was manifestly of aid to him. His face is bronzed, and if he is as ill as has been said, his appearance did not show it much. Half a dozen representatives of the Pennsylvania railroad were present to greet him and to insure immunity from inquisitive visitors. Notwithstanding this, Mr. Schwab was easily accessible to interviewers.

"Well, boys, you see I am all right," he said to the newspaper men.

A series of rapid fire interrogations were hurled at him. "Is it true that you intend to retire from the head of the steel corporation?" Mr. Schwab was asked.

"No one has seen my resignation," he replied.

"Will you be absent in Europe for a year?"

"I am going to New York and thence to Europe. I cannot say how long I shall be absent."

When asked if he expected to see Mr. Morgan in New York the steel magnate replied:

"I presume I shall before I leave. We are good friends."

Never More Prosperous.

During the time that he was answering these questions Mr. Schwab was moving slowly to and fro along the platform, guarded on either side by the men who were looking after his welfare. As they escorted him toward the rear of his car he said concerning the future of the steel company and his relation to it:

"The United States Steel corporation was never in a more prosperous condition than at the present time. I do not refer to the stock, but to the actual business transacted by the company; and whether I remain at its head or not its prosperity is assured."

At this point some of those about the steel trust president earnestly requested the newspaper men to cease their questioning.

"Oh, let them alone; the boys are right," Mr. Schwab said as he waved hand toward those about him. Then he smiled and said, as he slowly ascended the steps of his car: "You will have to excuse me; I can say nothing more."

He took a seat on the north side of the observation room at the rear of the car. Someone went up to the vestibule entrance and inquired as to who was with Mrs. Schwab.

"I am alone, as you can see," he replied.

While Mr. Schwab was on the platform a photographer attempted to take a picture of him. The photographer was ordered away, but he persistently kept his camera directed toward Mr. Schwab's sturdy figure. Finally he was driven off. Few persons were aware that the head of the big steel corporation was at the station. The train left at 5:56 o'clock for New York. As it moved out of the sheds Mr. Schwab smiled and waved his hand to those on the platform.

LONDON UNDULY EXCITED.

British Papers Give Much Space to Mr. Schwab's Health.

LONDON, Aug. 20.—The reported break-down of Charles M. Schwab, president of the United States Steel Corporation, is a subject of much comment in English papers this morning, from the viewpoint of the enormous strain that "American business life entails on the energies of young men at a period when Europeans of the same age are still engaged in their studies.

"The chief of such a corporation as the steel trust must lead a life compared to which a drunkard's is healthy and a gambler's tame," says the Daily Chronicle.

GOING TO FRANCE.

Mr. Schwab Tells Friend He Will Take Treatment at Mineral Springs.

ALTOONA, PA., Aug. 19.—Charles M. Schwab passed through here today en route to New York, whence he will sail for Europe. He disclosed his destination to an old Altoona friend who talked with him since he has been at Loretto. He said that he was going to France, where he will take a course of treatment at the mineral springs.

The steel president's stay amid the scenes of his boyhood has evidently done him good. He told F. D. Saupp of this city that he never felt better in his life, and Mr. Saupp emphasized this by stating that he had never seen him looking better.

DEDICATION POSTPONED.

C. M. Schwab's Trip Delays Homestead Manual Training School Exercises.

The dedication of the manual training school which C. M. Schwab is having erected at a cost of $100,000 for the citizens of Homestead will likely be postponed for an indefinite time, owing to Mr. Schwab's trip to Europe.

The school was to have been completed and dedicated in time for the opening of the next school term with Mr. Schwab and many other notable people present at the exercises. Plans had been made for the most elaborate celebration ever held in Homestead, but now it is thought everything will be postponed until the return of Mr. Schwab.

SIXTH REGIMENT LEADS SHOOTING AT CLOSE OF DAY

Excellent Work Done by Guard Marksmen at Mt. Gretna.

GEN. STEWART ARRIVES

Col. Richardson Makes Hit With Officers and Men by New Bath House — Regimental Shoot This Morning—Scores Made Tuesday.

By ROBERT WRAY,
Staff Correspondent.

Rifle Range, Mt. Gretna, Pa., Aug. 19.—At the end of the first day's shooting in the annual state rifle contests, the Sixth regiment led the field by six points.

The day opened dark and cloudy, with a strong wind blowing over the range. Until late in the afternoon the wind was erratic and caused many poor scores to be made. The wind was what shooters call choppy and caused the gauges on the rifles to be often changed during the practice. This was a cause of much annoyance to the marksmen and in a measure explains why better work was not done.

There was also another source of trouble in store for the team when they started to the firing line. Most of the markers who were sent to the rifle pit were new men and were unfamiliar with their work. The telephone wires between the firing line and the rifle pit were kept busy all the morning correcting scores and having the shots marked up. The Fourteenth regiment team, which was shooting on No. 4 target, suffered in its score by the green man who was marking on this target.

Where Lieut. Vitte Loses.

Lieut. Vitte got into the edge of black near 12 o'clock, which was distinctly seen through the telescope, but the marker showed a dark disk on the target and the shot was only scored at a 2. The team of the Eighteenth regiment also had trouble with the marker on its target, but it did not affect the score. Complaints were so general all along the firing line that when the morning score ended Col. Patterson had the markers called before him and told them if their work was not better during the afternoon he would send them home and put other markers in their places. He then sent Col. Seldon and Maj. Chew into the rifle pit to watch the markers. There was a big improvement in the work of the afternoon and better scores were made by the teams.

It is yet too early to predict the outcome of the regimental and brigade matches, but the Third brigade teams are doing strong shooting, and if they can keep it up will carry off both matches. One of the interesting features of the morning shoot was the work of the teams of the Sixth, Thirteenth and Sixteenth regiments. They shot so close that it was only known that the Thirteenth had oushot the other teams by one point. And it required the last shot to be a bull's eye at the 600 yard range.

Regimental Contest Today.

The regimental contest will take place in the morning and it now looks as if it will be between the teams of those three regiments. No one can predict which of them will win, as the scores made by them today in the face of an erratic wind was a surprise to all here.

The camp has been full of visitors today, the majority of them being women and children from the Chautauqua grounds in Mt. Gretna park. All the trains on the narrow gauge railroad had all the passengers they could safely carry until sunset. The visitors were greatly interested in the work of the men and expressed wonderment when blacks were being made at the long distance range.

The bath house erected by Col. Richardson is being greatly enjoyed by officers and men. It contains six shower baths, besides dressing rooms. It was badly needed at the range and was suggested six years ago, but nothing was done until Col. Richardson took the matter up. Col. Richardson's commission expires with the present governor, but his friends in the guard are planning to have him retained under the next administration. He is the best and most industrious arsenal keeper the state has ever had, and it is due to him that the splendid rifle range has been improved and made the best in the country.

Gen. Stewart in Camp.

Adjt. Gen. Stewart, accompanied by his wife, arrived in camp this afternoon and will remain until the close of the shoot. He still has to use crutches but his injured leg keeps improving.

A funny incident occurred today. Two farmers drove into the camp with a large road engine. As soon as they were discovered by Col. Richardson the air was of many hues for a mile. The heavy machine was cutting up the sod and the colonel became red-headed at once.

"Take that thing out of here!" he yelled at the badly scared farmers. And they proceeded to do it at once.

The colonel has since been twitted on his "red devil" and the officers say that he treated his chauffeurs badly.

The individual shooting of the members of the team of the Fourteenth infantry was excellent, as will be seen by the score. Digannia, Gray, Hay and Blackhall made a fine record at the three ranges and if they continue this tomorrow the team will be a big factor in the regimental matches. The teams of the Tenth and Eighteenth did very good shooting today. The Eighteenth has this year sent the best team to this range in the history of the regiment. The Tenth has also an excellent team and there is hardly any doubt now, if the men can keep up their scores, that trophies will come out to the west.

Patterson Does Some Good.

The work of the teams this afternoon was directed by Col. Patterson and there was no delay in changing the targets as each shot was fired. The overhauling he gave to the markers had a good effect. The list of prizes and trophies is large and varied. There are among the prizes handsome rifles and revolvers, beside gold medals and loving cups. These will be given to the winners Friday, when the contests close. Following is the total score of each team at the 200, 500 and 600 yard ranges. Morning scores: First regiment, 349; Second, 290; Third, 375; Fourth, 350; Fifth, 345; Sixth, 420; Eighth, 383; Ninth, 354; Tenth, 346; Twelfth, 387; Thirteenth, 422; Fourteenth, 404; Sixteenth, 421; Eighteenth, 361; First city troop, 301; Second city troop, 378; Sheridan troop, 370; Governor's troop, 314.

Afternoon score: First regiment, 433; Second, 301; Third, 417; Fourth, 372; Fifth, 407; Sixth, 452; Eighth, 408; Ninth, 395; Tenth, 338; Twelfth, 396; Thirteenth, 444; Fourteenth, 412; Sixteenth, 433; Eighteenth, 310; First city troop, 339; Second city troop, 399; Sheridan troop, 365; Governor's troop, 380.

LADY RAGLAN TO BE ON VIEW AT SIX CENTS PER LOOKER.

LONDON, Aug. 19.—Lady Raglan is enjoying the distinction of evolving the most up-to-date charity show. She has agreed to place herself on exhibition during the afternoon of tomorrow, wearing her coronation robes and coronet, for the benefit of the local hospital at Breckenham, Kent. The modest sum of six cents is to be charged for admission to the hall where her ladyship will be on view. The event was intended to be a quiet suburban affair, but the newspapers got hold of the story and the hospital authorities, anxious to reap the greatest benefit, have issued poster advertisements announcing the appearance of the peeress in her robes and wearing the coronation medal presented to her by King Edward.

YOUNG JUMPERS ON STREET CARS TO BE ARRESTED

Pittsburgh Railways Company Is Determined to Break Up the Practice.

IT OBSTRUCTS TRAFFIC

Passengers in East End District Unable to Get on and Off Cars at Times on Account of Boys Stealing Rides.

The Pittsburgh Railways Company is making a determined effort to break up the practice of boys jumping on their cars and stealing rides. Orders were issued to the inspectors of the company yesterday to catch all the lads who trespass on the company's property in this way, take them to police stations and have them locked up.

Last night inspectors were stationed on the front platforms of the various East End cars for the purpose of getting boys who are wont to steal rides while the conductors have their backs turned. A number of boys were caught in Fifth avenue and Forbes street and after a warning were left off on promise not to again repeat their action.

The practice of boys jumping on moving cars in the city has become much greater of late than was ever known before. At nearly every intersecting street in the downtown and East End district a crowd of boys congregates almost every evening and spend their time jumping on and off moving cars.

Conductors in Despair.

The conductors on the various lines have given up in despair trying to keep the boys off their cars and recently have made much complaint to the company. In the East End district, especially along Frankstown avenue, the lads crowd on the running boards stealing rides until it is almost impossible for passengers to get on and off cars.

Every few days some boy is hurt from jumping moving cars. Many lads have been killed by jumping on cars when they are going slow and trying to get off when the cars have attained greater speed. The danger in street car jumping lies in the trailers which are attached to the regular cars in the mornings and evenings.

While no loss of life has resulted from the trailers of late, several cases have happened in the past few years and the officials of the Pittsburgh Railways company declare they will take no chances and will break up the habit if it is possible to do so.

Company Must Pay.

In case of the loss of life or limb from an accident caused by a boy jumping on a moving street car the parents of the child call on the street car company to settle. Many suits have been brought in these cases.

One of the worst points for boy car jumpers along the lines is at the corner of Forbes and Brady streets. Here, from morning until night is always found a gang of boys aged from 5 to 12 years, who take a special delight in boarding moving cars.

After the cars leave Brady street they are compelled to run rather slow until Craft avenue is reached. The car jumpers know this, and if the conductor is not looking they jump on and ride until kicked off.

The lives of the conductors on the East Liberty and Center avenue cars are made miserable by boys jumping on their cars. The practice is at its height along this line at Herron avenue, where the cars stop before ascending Herron hill.

Will Stop It Entirely.

The boy jumpers at this point are somewhat shrewder than in the downtown districts. They climb on the running-board on the left hand side of the cars, and the conductor to reach them must go through the seats. When the cars are full of people the jumpers are sometimes not noticed and they ride to the top of the hill.

An official of the Pittsburgh Railways Company, in speaking of the matter last night, said: "The practice of boys between the ages of 5 and 12 jumping on moving cars in Pittsburgh has grown alarmingly in the past few months, and we must break it up at any cost. For the next few days inspectors in citizens' clothes will be placed on all cars, and they will try to capture the youthful trespassers.

"One reason the practice is so bad at this season of the year is on account of the schools being closed. Next month, when the schools open, the practice will not be quite so bad, but we mean to stop it before any serious accidents occur."

WILLIARD WAS SET FREE.

Well-Known Professional Thief Released by Order of Court.

George Willard, who was arrested here on August 12 as a professional thief and committed to the workhouse for 90 days by Police Magistrate McKenna, was released from that place yesterday by an order of the court. Willard's attorney, John Marron, presented a petition to the court, asking that Willard be released, and gave bond for his good behavior in this city for one year, according to the act of assembly of 1897.

The court accepted his bond and ordered his release. The gates of the workhouse had hardly closed after Willard's departure when Police Superintendent McAleese received a communication from Hamilton, O., stating that Willard had been released from custody there under $2,500 bail for trial in court on a charge of larceny. Willard left Pittsburgh immediately.

Norman. The platform indorses the administration of President Roosevelt and pledges him the support of the Delaware Republicans for renomination in 1904.

Denies Vasquez Is Insane.

SAN JUAN, P. R., Aug. 19.—A letter received here from the republic of Santo Domingo says William L. Bass, the most extensive planter in the republic, declares that the recent report that President Vasquez of Santo Domingo was insane is without foundation.

RUBBISH MEN NOW HAVE PLACE TO BURN STUFF

Complaints Recently Voiced Attracted Attention of Marcus Wagman.

FURNACE ON SOHO DUMP

Fair Business Is Done, but More Would Follow Enforcement of a Bureau of Health Order—Not Much Salvage Is Had Now.

Recently the rubbish handlers of Pittsburgh sought to interest the public and the powers that be in their grievance—the lack of a place where they could dump the collections of rubbish they make. They voiced this complaint in the form of an advertisement which was printed in several Pittsburgh newspapers. Marcus Wagman noticed this advertisement, and seeing in it a chance to make something out of the prevailing conditions for himself proceeded to build and put in operation in upper Soho street a rubbish furnace.

There is no question but what the rubbish handlers of Pittsburgh have had their own troubles.

Some time ago the bureau of health issued an order that the burning of rubbish on public or private dumps would be no longer allowed.

No Political Pull in This.

Wagman, who says that no municipal or other politicians are interested with him in his venture, soon after bought the lower Soho dump and erected a furnace for the burning of rubbish. The furnace cost $8,000 and is built on top of the dump, slightly below the level of the street. The handlers first drive to the door of the little office, where they purchase tickets entitling them to dump their ashes and to have the rubbish they have brought destroyed. A 10-cent ticket entitles them to dump a one-horse or two-horse load of ashes or "clean dirt," should the ashes or dirt be mixed with paper or other rubbish requiring the use of the furnace then a ticket costs 25 cents for a one-horse load or 35 cents for a two-horse load.

These figures are only for men who make their living hauling dirt and rubbish. A contractor, or any man who sends an occasional load to the dump, pays 50 cents for permission to dump and burn a two-horse load of rubbish. After buying tickets the drivers dump their rubbish onto a platform, where it is sorted over.

The furnace has a capacity of 60 two-horse loads a day, but so far 40 loads has been the largest charge put into the furnace. Were the orders of the bureau of health obeyed the furnace would be loaded to its fullest capacity all the time and the burning would continue day and night.

Violation of Health Bureau Orders.

Although Wagman went to the expense of providing a furnace, somebody on the upper Soho dump is making a fair living burning rubbish in the open air in disobedience of the bureau's rules. Wagman's furnace was erected partly in response to the complaints of residents who objected to the smoke from promiscuous burning in the open air, and the same residents threaten to prosecute the man who is doing the open air burning, although it is supposed that he will be stopped as soon as the superintendent of the bureau of health, A. J. Pitcairn, learns of the infringement on the rule he has made.

The 50-foot furnace Wagman has built has a stack that is equipped at the top with a wire cage that catches burning paper and the smaller brands of burning wood and prevents them from flying over the neighborhood. Two men are employed to attend the furnace in the daytime and at night a watchman removes the ashes from the furnace.

It is expected that in the course of time the salvage from the rubbish will be profitable, but at present bottles and broken glass are the sole merchantable product.

Young Delivers After Coin.

No attempt has been made to save the bits of iron, copper, brass and lead that come with the loads, but the children of the neighborhood are industrious pickers and two little fellows are earning a few cents daily by gathering this junk and selling it. As the business develops Wagman will probably hire men to examine the rubbish for good rags, copper, iron, jewelry, money, books and valuable papers that sometimes get into wastebaskets.

There is no expense for fuel, for the rubbish burns freely with occasional stoking. After the furnace is charged a bit of lighted paper is thrust into the firebox and the stuff blazes away, there being always sufficient wood and paper intermixed with the heavier portions to cause the charge to burn freely.

A Remarkable Opportunity That Should Not Be Overlooked.

The Pennsylvania railroad will run another of their popular seashore excursions Thursday, August 21, leaving Union station, Pittsburgh, at 8:35 a. m. with through parlor cars and day coaches to Atlantic City without change via the Delaware river bridge. Train leaving Pittsburgh at 7:10 p. m. will carry through sleeping cars, 9 p. m. to Philadelphia only. Tickets available for numerous other seashore resorts. Rate $10.00, tickets good for 10 days. Berths in sleeping cars on evening train can now be procured at ticket office, corner Fifth avenue and Smithfield street, or at Union station.

OVERCROWDED BOAT SO SHE COULD NOT BE MOVED.

So many people crowded on the excursion boat Annie Roberts last night, to attend the annual outing of the St. Francis de Salles church, McKees Rocks, that it was unsafe to take it out into the river. The barge was towed to Sproul's landing, to take on the excursionists, and owing to the heavy rain, it looked as though no one would put in an appearance. As soon as the rain ceased, however, about 2,000 embarked overloading the boat so badly that it was deemed unsafe to move it out from the landing.

MYSTERY HANGS OVER DEATH OF JAS. H. SHEEHAN

His Sudden Illness Thought to Have Been Due to Poisoning.

TWO BOYS WERE KILLED

Walter and Carl Smeltz Tried to Jump from Mine Train When It Broke—Allegheny Man Was Found Dead in Bed.

Mystery surrounds the death of James H. Sheehan, 30 years old, of No. 1007 West street, Homestead, who died early yesterday morning at his boarding house. Dr. Biers and Dr. Mark Baldwin attended the patient and his troubles proved so strange to them that they went to Coroner McGeary yesterday afternoon and advised him to order a post mortem examination. The coroner instructed them to make this examination themselves, and to report to him immediately.

Last night these physicians had not been heard from and Coroner McGeary is of opinion that the man came to his death in some strange manner.

Sheehan was manager of the Pittsburgh and Allegheny Telephone Company at Homestead. He had been in his usual good health, and shortly after he retired at midnight Monday he was taken suddenly ill.

Poisoning Suspected.

Dr. Beirs was sent for and he was unable to do anything to relieve the man's pains. Dr. Baldwin was then summoned, and the case also puzzled him. One hour after this Sheehan died in terrible agony. The end came so unexpectedly that the physicians became suspicious. The symptoms, according to the physicians, indicate that he died of poison.

His friends are also mystified over his death. He was well and strong and Monday did his work in his usual way. At the house where he boarded the family says that he ate nothing except what other boarders had.

He was born in Salem, O., and had been in Homestead since last spring. Is relatives were notified last night. Coroner McGeary will make a thorough investigation today.

Two Boys Killed.

Walter Smeltz, the 12-year-old son of Louis Smeltz of Patton township, and his cousin, Carl Smeltz, the 12-year-old son of James L. Smeltz, of North Versailles township, were killed while riding on a coal train at the Spring Hill Coal Company's mine about one mile from Wilmerding yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Walter's brother Edward, 14 years old, was employed to fire the small boiler used to operate the air machine connected with the mine. Yesterday morning Edward was sick and Walter went to work in his place for the day. During the afternoon his cousin Carl went to the mine and played about the boiler-room with Walter. About 3 o'clock a train of 24 coal cars was brought out of the mine and as it passed the boiler-room on the way to the coal tipple the boys jumped a car about the middle of the train to ride to the tipple.

The train proceeded only a short distance when a coupling pin between two cars broke. Both boys were on the section of the train which had become disconnected from the engine.

Fell Under Cars.

When the coupling broke they became scared and attempted to jump. Walter fell under the cars, which ran over and instantly killed him. His cousin Carl jumped farther out, but failed to get clear of the cars, which knocked him down and cut off his left arm and right leg.

The accident was witnessed by several men, who ran to the boys' rescue, and pulled them from under the cars. They were carried to the tipple, where two physicians were summoned. While operating on Carl, the boy died.

The boys were taken to their homes, from which a double funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon.

C. A. Vanhorn, 70 years old, was found dead in bed yesterday afternoon, at his boarding house, No. 1221 Irwin avenue, Allegheny. Heart disease is thought to have caused death. A week ago, Mr. Vanhorn engaged a room at the house, which is conducted by Mrs. Wackesser, and stated that he was employed in an office in the Lewis block. Nothing further is known about him.

Cello Ducanz, an Italian, died yesterday morning at No. 32 Hanover street, Woods Run, from injuries received July 18, at a stone quarry in Ben Avon. He was 37 years old.

BRILLIANT GOLF IN FOUR-BALL FOURSOME

Edgeworth Links Were Scene of Hotly Contested Match That Went an Extra Hole.

In a very closely contested four-ball foursome yesterday on the Edgeworth club's links, Sewickley, Ernest Way and F. M. Hutchinson defeated George D. Keddie and R. F. Nevin, Jr., by 1 up at the nineteenth hole. Way is the Pittsburgh Golf club professional and Keddie is the Edgeworth club's coach. Mr. Hutchinson and Mr. Nevin are members of the latter club. Way represents the English school of golf and Keddie the Scottish. Both are cracks.

Brilliant golf was played all around yesterday and so close did the players hang together that the issue remained in doubt to the concluding play. At the turn Way and Hutchinson were 1 up, but coming home Keddie and Nevin pulled up, the eighteenth was halved and they were all even, Way and Hutchinson taking the extra hole in 3, 4. The best ball of Keddie and Nevin was 35, 34—69.

Mr. Nevin broke the record for the nine holes, coming in in 34. His card was: In, 4, 3, 4, 4, 3, 4, 4, 4, 4—34. Hutchinson played a splendid all round game, making the 18 holes in 38, 38—76. He took the second hole in 2, making a 15-yard putt. The day before out of 12 balls he laid 10 within four yards of the cup at this hole and one went down in one, a phenomenal stroke. He would have come home in 36 yesterday, making 74 for the 18 holes, but got in the bunker at the home green hole and took two strokes to get out.

A return match will be played next week on the Schenley links, probably on Tuesday.

SNAKE CAUSED A PANIC.

Reptile Caused Pasengers to Jump from a Running Trolley Car Near Altoona.

ALTOONA, PA., Aug. 19.—(Special.)—A large garter snake created consternation on a suburban trolley car along the Logan Valley traction line near here late this evening. The car was crowded with passengers when the reptile was discovered. Amid the screaming of the women aboard a panic prevailed. Many persons jumped from the car and received injuries.

The snake was finally killed. It was taken on the car by a picnicker and escaped through the lid of his basket.

STEPMOTHER WAS IN KIDNAPING PLOT

INTERCEPTED GIRL'S LETTERS TO SWEETHEART.

After This Failed, She and Barber to Whom Maiden Is Said to Have Been Sold for Ten Dollars, Tried Kidnaping.

Her letters to her sweetheart intercepted, in a vain effort to force her into a hateful marriage, 15-year-old Josephine Roggeo was yesterday made the victim of an attempted kidnaping at the hands of her stepmother and her lover's rival.

The attempt was made yesterday morning to kidnap Josephine, who is employed at the home of J. L. Love in Center street, Aspinwall. The girl's stepmother and a Webster avenue barber were implicated. The man and woman were admitted to the house by the girl, who, upon seeing who the visitors were, ran to Mrs. Love for protection.

When followed into the house by the man and woman the girl ran out a side door. She was overtaken by the man, who, it is alleged, choked her in the street. Mrs. Love ran to where her husband was at work and he with several others rescued the girl. It is said that the woman was bent on forcing Josephine to marry the barber to whom she had sold her for $10.

The large crowd that gathered threatened the man and woman for abusing the girl and they were compelled to leave the town. The couple then came to Pittsburgh and reported to the Western Pennsylvania Humane society that Mr. Love was holding the girl against her will.

Last evening a young Italian asked for the girl at the Love house. He said he had read the story of the affair in the papers and concluded the girl was his sweetheart, who disappeared from Poplar alley a week ago. He said he waited for a letter from the girl, telling him of her whereabouts, but none came. Last night, it was learned that the man and woman had intercepted the girl's letters to her lover, and in this way discovered where she had gone. To escape further persecution from her stepmother, and the barber, the girl went to visit relatives at Harmarville, under the care of her sweetheart.

CAPTURED BURGLARS AT HIS OWN HOME

Constable McMillen After Searching Town, Found Them Crawling in His Window.

Charged with burglary, John Hyle and James Johnson, colored, of Florida were brought to the Allegheny county jail yesterday afternoon by Constable R. S. McMillen of Bridgeville for trial at court. The two men committed two daring burglaries.

Shortly after 3 o'clock yesterday morning they entered the place of Justice of the Peace William F. Russell. The latter was awakened by his wife, who told him that she heard someone in the house. Russell got out of bed and taking his revolver went down stairs to make an investigation.

While he was downstairs his wife called to him that one of the men was in the adjoining room. This frightened the burglar and he ran downstairs. Russell was unable to locate the men in his house on account of darkness.

When they jumped out of the window and he saw them Russell fired twice at them and they ran out the road. The burglars then went to the house of G. S. Orth and ransacked this place.

In the meantime Russell went to the home of Constable R. S. McMillen and got him out of bed to help run the burglars down. The two started out and after searching the country roads were unable to find them. Russell and McMillen decided to give the chase up and they started for their homes. When they were approaching Constable McMillen's house he saw the burglars about to climb in the window.

Both squire and constable drew their revolvers and made the burglars surrender.

They were immediately placed under arrest and taken to the borough lock-up. After the hearing before Justice Russell they were brought to Pittsburgh and placed in jail. The men are desperate characters, revolvers and black-jacks being found on their persons, as well as a hatchet and small sum of money, both stolen from Russell's house.

CHAUTAUQUA.

Public Beauty Week Is Teaching How to Help Children of the Poor.

CHAUTAUQUA, N. Y., Aug. 19.—(Special.)—The special conferences now being held at Chautauqua give the heading to the program, "Public Beauty Week," which means a discussion on civic improvement and playgrounds, and is under the auspices of the American League of Civic Improvement.

Many prominent men and women interested in this subject are here and the conference is attracting much attention. The speaker for today's session was John W. Spencer of Cornell university, known in the work as "Uncle John." Mr. Spencer has organized many clubs among the children and his subject was, "How the Children May Help." He gave a most interesting account of what the children in New York have done to improve the appearance of school grounds and their homes, and he urges every one to take some active part in this new moral movement. He said:

"There is no better mission than this. It helps the teacher in her work. It teaches the children a fondness for animals and it brings out in them a love for the beautiful. They carry these thoughts home with them, and, especially in the poorer districts and in the country, you will find that the parents will turn and help the children to do what they would never do for themselves.

"Do not wait for favorable conditions to begin this work. Make a beginning among the worst. You will find your Tom Sawyers and Huckleberry Finns, but make them the best of Tom Sawyers and best of Huckleberry Finns, and don't waste your time trying to convert them into little Lord Fountleroys."

Leon Vincent gave today the second lecture in his course on literary characters, the subject of the lecture being "Ben Jonson and His Literary Club."

This evening Albert Kelsey of Philadelphia gave an illustrated lecture on the municipal art exhibit of the world's fair at St. Louis.

Ernest L. Tustin, Vice Chairman of Union Party, Is for Republican State Ticket—Would Have Voted for Guthrie for Governor.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Harrisburg, Pa., Aug. 19.—The political situation in Allegheny county in particular and the state in general was discussed at a luncheon given by Gov. Stone today at the executive mansion. The governor's guests were Attorney General Elkin, Secretary of the Commonwealth Griest and Public Buildings Superintendent Eyre, all of whom have just returned from their summer's vacation.

None of the parties would disclose what occurred at the meeting, although it is known that the chief matter under discussion was the situation in Allegheny county and the prospects of keeping the Republican state nominees out of the Citizens party column on the official ballot.

Stone is very much interested in the success of the regular machine Republican ticket in Allegheny, and if he can prevent the names of Judge Pennypacker and his associates on the state ticket from appearing on the same ticket with the Citizens party county candidates he has an idea the machine's ticket will be elected.

The governor and his guests denied that their meeting had any political significance and tried to make it appear that the luncheon was a purely informal affair.

Elkin reached his office today after a month's fishing in Canada and professed ignorance of the political situation generally, and particularly in Allegheny county. He said he expected to take part in the state campaign and would be subject to the directors of the speakers' committee at Republican state headquarters.

PHILADELPHIA, PA., Aug. 19.—Ernest L. Tustin, vice-chairman of the Union party city committee, today announced flat-footedly that he would vote for Judge Pennypacker for governor.

"My personal opinion is that the purposes of the Union party would be best conserved by making no nominations for state offices at the meeting of the state convention next month," said Mr. Tustin. "Some of the influential men in the Union party are for Pennypacker for governor, and another element is favorable to indorsing Pattison and the others on the Democratic ticket. Had the nomination for governor been given to George W. Guthrie of Pittsburgh by the Democrats, or to some other equally well-known and consistent reformer, I think I am safe in saying that such a man would have had the unanimous support of the Union party in Philadelphia. As it is now, between Pennypacker and Pattison, it seems to be an equal choice.

"I know both Mr. Pattison and Judge Pennypacker. When it comes to a choice between them, however, I am free to say that, speaking for myself, I am a Republican, and I shall vote for Pennypacker. I believe that Judge Pennypacker as governor will maintain and insist upon the same high standard of efficiency as he has done while on the common pleas bench."

FACILITIES ARE WANTING.

Reasons for Large Number of Catholics Avoiding University at Washington.

ROME, Aug. 19.—The church authorities have received information that 4,085 Catholic students are attending secular universities in the United States, 50 of whom are at the University of Pennsylvania, while the Catholic university at Washington has only 100 students.

It is believed here that the discrepancy is due to the fact that the Catholic University at Washington undertook instruction in other branches of education in addition to theological studies, without having means, apparatus or professors to compete with the great American colleges.

HAY FEVER
LIKE A TORNADO.

"In 1890 Hay Fever attacked me. It came like a tornado—like a river in flood time—seemingly which no earthly power could resist. But thank God that help came at last. After three years of suffering from this plague of humanity I saw in some paper the name of Pretzinger in connection with an offer to the public of a trial box of Catarrh Balm for Hay Fever with a statement that Pretzinger's Catarrh Balm would cure Hay Fever. As my druggist did not keep the Balm at that time, I had him order some of it, and when I began to use it I quickly obtained the blessings of this wonderful Balm, which cured me in a very short length of time—cured me completely. This was nine years ago and no symptom of Hay Fever has ever returned; I am 70 years old. The above is written with the hope that others may profit by my experience."—N. M. Suffrins, State Soldiers' Home, Lafayette, Ind.

Pretzinger's Catarrh Balm stops Hay Fever as sure as frost. All druggists sell it. Send a two-cent stamp to pay postage for a free sample, also Booklet on Hay Fever, to Pretzinger Bros., Chemists, Dayton, O.

"COULDN'T SLEEP FROM THE TERRIBLE ITCHING."
"FIRST NIGHT I USED ZEMA-CURA I SLEPT WELL."

(From the Pittsburg Times)

"Dr. Harris:—I gratefully recommend your wonderful medicine, 'Zema-Cura.' For three months I suffered the most ACUTE annoyance with that dreadful disease, Eczema. Couldn't sleep from the terrible itching. Had about given up all hope of being cured, when in despair I bought a bottle of Zema-Cura. The first night after the first application I enjoyed a sound and refreshing sleep, the first restful sleep in three months. I bought three bottles in all and am to-day entirely cured."

WILLIAM JOHNSON,
Pres't Pittsburg Mfg. Co.,
Twenty-Eighth and Railroad Sts., Pittsburg, Pa.

Why should any Eczema sufferer continue to suffer when Zema-Cura will positively cure him? You need take no risk. 50 cents will bring you instant relief.

ZEMA-CURA

is a liquid, applied externally. It has none of the disagreeable features of a salve or ointment. It is the only CURE of skin diseases yet discovered. Zema-Cura will positively cure Eczema, Acne, Heat, Herpes, Lupus, Erysipelas, Urticaria (Nettle Rash), Barber's Itch, Mosquito Bites, Blackheads, Pimples and Blotches on the face, Hives, Burns, Cuts, or any itching condition of the skin or scalp. All druggists sell it. 50 cents and $1.00.

Remember! ZEMA-CURA is not one of the many "patent medicines" of the day. It is a doctor's prescription—a scientific compound that has been used for years by its discoverer, Dr. Harris, in daily practice. It has restored thousands of sufferers from torturing skin diseases to perfect health.

If you will write to-day Dr. Harris will advise you fully and carefully regarding your case, and charge you absolutely nothing.

Address: Dr. M. M. HARRIS, The Zema-Cura Co., No. 3 West 22nd Street, New York City.

During the treatment of all skin diseases with ZEMA-CURA, externally, U-AH-MA, Dr. Harris' Blood Purifier, taken internally, will be found of great benefit. By acting on the excretory glands U-AH-MA eliminates the poison virus, and hastens and completes the cure. $1.00. Druggists, or express prepaid.

HEARTY TRIBUTE IS PAID TO VALOR OF BOER HEROES

Famous Generals Received at The Hague With Homage Due to Conquerors.

CROWDS LINE STREETS

National Anthem of Transvaal Rises from Thousands of Throats—Attend Art Exhibit and Visit Former President Steyn.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

The Hague, Aug. 19.—A public reception was accorded to the Boer generals, DeWet, Botha and Delarey, on their arrival here today. Gen. Eyter made an address, paying a tribute to their heroic deeds. Gen. Botha replied, expressing the appreciation of the Boer officers at the warmth of their reception, and referring to the consolation which it had been to them to know that while they fought their women and children were being supported by Dutch generosity. The time, added Gen. Botha, had not yet arrived to make public all they knew, but probably at no distant date they would publish their account of the war.

The visitors were escorted in procession through the town in open carriages and were everywhere loudly cheered by the crowds. A number of Boers who served during the war formed a guard of honor for the generals.

Reception at Hotel.

The space in front of the hotel where apartments had been secured for the generals, was closely packed with people. Shouts of "Long live the Boers" greeted the South African commanders when they appeared, and then the crowd sang the Transvaal National anthem, whereupon the generals bared their heads and waved their hats in acknowledgement of the enthusiastic welcome accorded them.

Subsequently a reception was held in the drawing room, former State Secretary of the Transvaal Reitz and Dr. Leyds, European agent of the Boers, introducing the local celebrities to the visitors.

In the course of a speech Gen. Botha declared that he and his colleagues had not come here to hold festivities, but the cordiality of their reception was some recompense for the great sorrow they had experienced.

"We are deputies," said the Boer commandant-general, "of one of the most ruined people—ruined only because we have done our duty and defended our liberty and independence, for which no sacrifice could be too great."

Legs Cut From Under Them.

The generals also attended the pro-Boer exhibition which is being held here. Responding to the welcome they received at the exhibition building, Gen. DeWet in a voice broken with emotion, said:

"All of those who organized this exhibition of art and industry have contributed to the growth of nations. We South Africans were on the road to the development of art and industry, but our legs were cut from under us; consequently we need help and support to rise again. It is for that very purpose that we have come to Europe, and we are grateful for the honors shown and the help given us by the Dutch."

The generals have requested the members of pro-Boer association to refrain from making anti-British speeches which, the Boer commanders say, may possibly impair the success of their mission to Great Britain. During the day the generals visited Former President Steyn. They are expected to visit President Kruger at Utrecht tomorrow, and will probably remain there until August 21.

EXPENSES OF ARMY.

States Received $4,057,585 from the National Treasury on Account of War With Spain.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—The annual report of the auditor for the war department shows that the amounts allowed the several states on account of the war with Spain, aggregate $4,057,585. Other accounts settled during the year are given as follows:

Quartermasters, $54,507,699; engineers, $20,045,518; subsistence, $10,714,903; signal service, $560,677; paymasters, $59,792,474.

The record of deposits by enlisted men of the army under provisions of the act of May 15, 1872, shows that 70,099 were made, amounting to $1,776,881, and that 47,216 deposits were withdrawn, amounting to $1,176,028, upon which the depositors received interest amounting to $34,687.

During the year $556,045 was placed to the credit of the permanent fund of the National Soldiers Home, under the act of March 3, 1883, being the amount retained from pay of enlisted men of the United States army on account of 12½c fund, fines by general court-martial and amounts due deserters at large and dishonorably discharged soldiers.

There was withdrawn from this fund during the year for current expenses, the sum of $238,000, and the amount paid the treasurer of the Home on account of interest on the fund was $87,661.

NEW SEAL ROOKERY.

Capt. McLellan Reports Discovery on Island of Bouldyer, Far Out in Pacific.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—Capt. Shoemaker of the revenue cutter service has received a report from Capt. Charles H. McLellan, commanding the cutter Manning, recording the discovery of a new fur seal rookery in the Aleutian Islands.

While cruising among the islands early in July as the executive officer of the Manning, Lieut. Berthoff went ashore with a boat's crew on the island of Bouldyer. There he found a rookery of fur seals similar to those found on the Pribiloff islands. Bouldyer is between Bering sea and the Pacific ocean, fully 3,500 miles west of San Francisco, but still within American jurisdiction. Lieut. Berthoff approached the herd closely enough to observe that none of the seals had been branded, and there was no sign that white men in search of fur seal had ever been near the island.

The Manning will continue searching to discover if there are other rookeries in that locality.

Youth Charged With Kidnaping a Baby; New Church Is Smeared With Tar by Vandals

BOY ARRESTED FOR KIDNAPING

Green County Youth Charged With Running Away With a Baby.

HAS NOTORIOUS CAREER

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, PA., Aug. 19.—A most peculiar and exceptional case was that of 10-year-old Alva Breece, who was before Justice Berry of West Washington today on the charge of kidnaping a 2-year-old child. The young offender has already made a record that would do credit to a 5-cent novel villain. Five times during six months he has run away from home and has once been charged with horse stealing.

On account of his tender years James Kilgore, who had the child arrested for kidnaping his baby, withdrew the charge and the mother of the lad promised to keep him safely at home hereafter. The boy, whose home is at Time, Greene county, disappeared last week and his mother knew nothing of his whereabouts until she learned of his arrest for kidnaping and was notified that her son was confined in the county jail.

The boy reached West Washington last Thursday and stopped at the Kilgore residence. During the absence of Mrs. Kilgore from the house he took the baby in a baby carriage and started out of town. The mother missed the babe and started to hunt it. She saw young Breece wheeling it along the National pike toward Claysville. Young Breece saw her coming and tried to escape.

When arrested he denied that he had any intention of stealing the baby, and meant to bring it back. At the county jail the boy won the sympathy of the sheriff and led the officers to believe that he was the victim of a conspiracy on the part of the Kilgores, who, he said, had trumped up the charges against him. When Mrs. Breece appeared before the justice and saw her boy on trial she broke down and pleaded for his release. The young offender, however, was unmoved and said he did not care what was done in the case. He seemed to be proud of the notoriety of appearing in court.

KILLED FROM AMBUSH.

Wealthy West Virginia Citizen Is Shot Dead by an Unknown Assassin.

HUNTINGTON, W. VA., Aug. 19.—(Special.)—Williams Adams, a well-known citizen of Lincoln county, died today from an assassin's bullet. He was crossing Mud river in a small craft near his home when a bullet was fired from willows and he fell forward and soon expired.

There is not the slightest clew to the assassin's identity, but a reward will be offered by Lincoln county authorities. Adams was quite prominent recently in Lincoln county politics and it is though by some that this may have been the cause of the deed. He was 40 years old, married and wealthy.

York County Convention.

YORK, PA., Aug. 19.—York county Republicans today nominated D. F. Lefean for congress to succeed Congressman Lewis, who declined a renomination. E. K. McConky was nominated for state senator. A resolution was adopted directing that Jere Z. Hildebrand be placed on the Republican ticket for commissioner. Hildebrand is the Democratic commissioner who created a sensation by exposing irregularities in county finances.

Nominated for Congress.

POTTSVILLE, PA., Aug. 19.—The Democracy of the Thirteenth congressional district today nominated ex-Congressman James W. Ryan of Pottsville for congress.

May Have Been Murdered.

NEW CASTLE, PA., Aug. 19.—(Special.)—Christopher Ennis of McKeesport, the Pittsburgh & Western brakeman who was killed last Friday night at New Castle Junction by a shifting engine, was probably murdered, according to the verdict of the coroner's jury. There was a long, clean cut on the top of Ennis' head, and the jury thinks he was murdered and his body placed on the track to be mutilated.

M'KINLEY FUND GETS AN INCREASE

Kentucky Editor Sends Draft to Association for $567.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

CANTON, O., Aug. 19.—A letter containing a draft for $567 has been received at the headquarters of the National McKinley Memorial association from Samuel J. Roberts, a former Cantonian, editor of the Kentucky Leader, published in Lexington.

About four months ago Secretary Fred S. Hartzell wrote to Mr. Roberts, asking him to aid in raising a subscription to the fund from Kentucky. At that time Mr. Hartzell wrote that of the $5,000 assigned as Kentucky's portion but $500 had been subscribed, and that the state was likely to be the tail-ender in the list of states.

Mr. Roberts replied that he could not take charge of a state subscription, but would raise 10 per cent of Kentucky's quota among the citizens of Lexington. He gave his personal guarantee to raise $500, and the check received makes him better than his guarantee. The sum raised by Mr. Roberts is more than one-third of the amount contributed by the entire state.

MOB THREATENED NEGRO.

Two Are Women Nearly Killed by a Colored Man in Ohio.

JEFFERSON, O., Aug. 19.—Because it is believed that John Grooms, colored, assaulted two old ladies, Harriet and Sebrina Hotchkiss, last night, a mob surrounded the jail this morning, and there was danger of lynching.

Grooms is alleged to have assaulted and nearly killed the women. He is said to have chewed an ear off of one and torn the flesh from the arm of the other with his teeth. The women identified Grooms as their assailant, and his hat and part of his clothing were found in the Hotchkiss home. Some of the women in the crowd were hysterical, and incited the men to take the law into their hands.

The negro was bound over on the charge of burglary and attempted felony, and will await the action of the grand jury. This procedure has allayed much of the excitement, and it is probable that no untoward act will be committed.

WEDDING BROKEN OFF.

Prospective Groom Mysteriously Disappeared at the Hour Set for the Ceremony.

NEWARK, O., Aug. 19.—(Special.)—Miss Belle Cammon, a pretty and highly respected young woman who resides at Utica, this county, appeared at the police station this morning and swore out a warrant for the arrest of J. W. Myers of Clarksburg, W. Va. Miss Cammon said that she met Myers some time ago and he proposed marriage. She accepted him and the wedding day was set for last Saturday. Myers secured the license and the marriage was to have taken place at the home of her sister, Mrs. James Holbrook.

The hour for the ceremony arrived, when Myers excused himself, and, leaving the room, failed to return. A note, however, was found, saying that he would return, but no trace of him has been found.

MISSING PAPERS WANTED.

Administrator of the Estate of the Late Thomas B. Young Making a Fruitless Search.

Certain papers belonging to the estate of the late Thomas B. Young for 22 years connected with the circulation department of The Gazette, who died May 20, 1902, are lost. The administrator of Mr. Young's estate, W. Perry Lemley, has been searching for the missing papers since he took out letters of administration, on May 31, but so far has been unable to locate them.

The papers were found in a safe in The Gazette office after Mr. Young left the paper and handed over to their owner. Mr. Young, who at the time lived at No. 11 Isabella street, Allegheny, took the papers away with him and after several days disposed of them in some unknown manner. His administrator believes that he gave them in care of a friend who has probably forgotten about them. Mr. Lemley is anxious to locate the missing papers so that the estate can be closed.

NEW CHURCH DESECRATED

Vandals Spread Tar on Edifice About to Be Dedicated.

ALLEGHENY MAN PREACHED

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

ZANESVILLE, O., Aug. 19.—One of the worst cases of vandalism ever known in southeastern Ohio took place at Fairview, Guernsey county, Saturday night. When the congregation of the United Presbyterian church met Sunday morning to dedicate the fine new church it was found that the entire front of the structure had been thickly coated with tar. The sticky substance had been daubed especially heavy on the door and in the doorway, evidently with the intention of preventing entrance to the sanctuary without soiling the clothing of the worshipers.

Newspapers were procured and pressed against the coating of tar, adhering to it and covering it so that there was no damage further than sustained by the church itself. There is no clue to the perpetrators, although a large fund was raised to apprehend them.

There is something of a feud among the church membership over the plans for the structure, but no one suspects that those engaged in it had anything to do with the vandalism. The dedicatory sermon was preached by the Rev. Dr. D. A. McClenahan of Allegheny, Pa.

ARRANGED FOR FUSION.

Huntingdon Democrats Prepare to Join With Anti-Quay Republicans.

HUNTINGDON, PA., Aug. 19.—The Democratic county convention here today nominated the following ticket: Legislature, Harry W. Petriken; associate judge, David McCahan; register and recorder, T. J. Hutchinson; commissioners, H. H. Davis and W. B. Wilson; poor director, David H. Beck; auditors, Harrison Speck and George W. Yocum. County Chairman W. M. Henderson was re-elected.

The offices of district attorney, county treasurer, prothonotary and one member of the legislature were left open with the understanding that they will be filled by the anti-Quay Republicans, thus forming a fusion county ticket.

Responsible for Child's Death.

NEW CASTLE, PA., Aug. 19.—(Special.)—The New Castle Traction Company was last night held by the coroner's jury responsible for the death of 2-year-old Caenwen Richards, in that the company had violated the speed ordinances of the city and had operated the cars at too great a speed along crowded streets. The child was fatally injured August 6 by a traction car.

The Metropolitan National bank board met on Friday, August 15, and adopted the following minutes:

It is with feelings of sorrow that we record the death of our esteemed friend and fellow director, Mr. P. C. Byrne, who departed this life on the evening of August 13 at his residence in Fifty-second street, this city. Mr. Byrne was chosen a director of this bank April 6, 1896, and has served on the board uninterruptedly since that time.

Conservative in judgment, his advice was sought and highly appreciated by his fellow members. He was cheerful in disposition, of a social nature and exceedingly companionable. Those who knew him intimately were able to appreciate his sterling qualities of mind and heart. We extend to his family our heartiest sympathy in this their time of bereavement.

With these thoughts in mind it is unanimously resolved that this minute be published in the daily papers and a copy furnished to the family of our late associate. By order of the board.

GEORGE SEEBICK, Secretary.

PREPARED TO BURN CHILDREN AS A MOUNTAIN SACRIFICE.

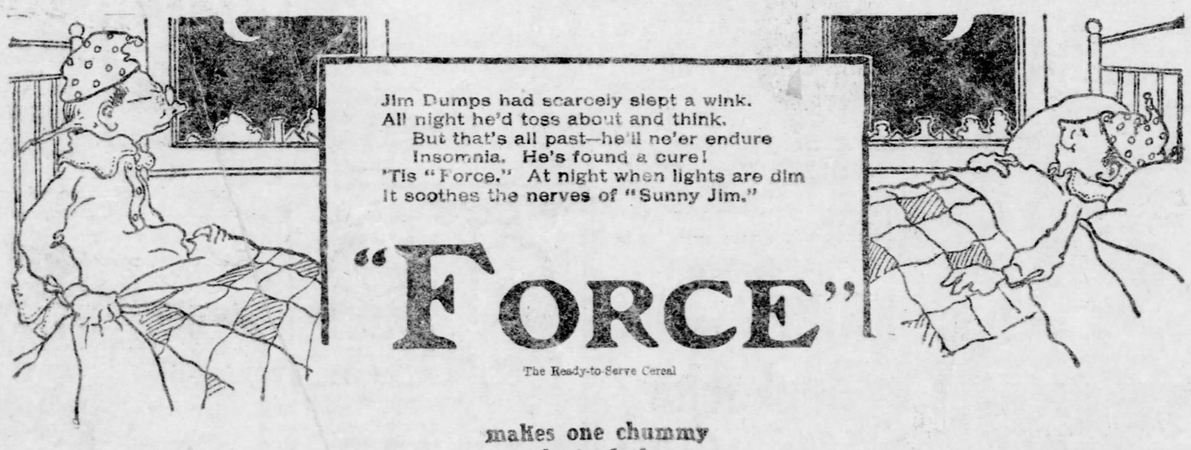
UNIONTOWN, PA., Aug. 19.—During the absence of Winslow Murray from his home near here yesterday his wife set fire to the house and the barn, which, with their contents were destroyed. Then, with her two little children, she went over a mile into the mountains.

Murray came home, saw what had happened and at once started in search of his wife and little ones, after having made sure that their remains were not in the ruins of the house. Going up the hill into the mountain he heard the children screaming and ran in the direction of their cries. He arrived just in time to save them from cremation.

The mother had built a big fire of brush and leaves and had one child in her arms ready to throw it into the flames when the father reached them and snatched it from her.

Mrs. Murray did not seem surprised to see her husband and to his frantic demand to know what she meant by tiying to take the lives of their little ones said she had just received a message from God which told her to sacrifice her home, her little children and herself.

The children were taken from her and she is being closely watched.



Jim Dumps had scarcely slept a wink.
All night he'd toss about and think.
But that's all past—he'll ne'er endure
Insomnia. He's found a cure!
'Tis "Force." At night when lights are dim
It soothes the nerves of "Sunny Jim."
"FORCE"
The Ready-to-Serve Cereal makes one chummy with good sleep.
Sweet, crisp flakes of wheat and malt—eaten cold.

Wouldn't Believe at First.

"I wouldn't believe it till I tried it, but 'Force' is a cure for insomnia. I used to stay awake night after night. Now I eat a big bowlful of 'Force' just before going to bed, and sleep and I have become good friends again."

Negro Had a Gun—T. E. Stephens, colored, was yesterday held in $300 bail by Magistrate D. J. McGarey on a charge of carrying concealed weapons. Stephens claims he was taking the gun to a pawn shop.

Firemen Celebrate—The East Pittsburgh firemen, who took several prizes at the Jeannette convention, held a jollification with the Turtle Creek company last night. A brass band was out and the two companies paraded in their uniforms.

Fined for Abusing a Horse—James Sims of Beech Cliff, Robinson township, pleaded guilty to a charge of driving and beating a decrepit horse with a club, before Justice of the Peace A. W. McMillan at Carnegie yesterday and was fined $10.

Arrested for Corner Loafing—Robert McDermott, Thomas Burke, Joseph Bowers, Frank Wolf, August Wolf, Thomas Beck, William Sullivan, Martin Fallen and James Kelly were arrested yesterday on a charge of loafing at Penn avenue and Twelfth street.

May Lose One Eye—A. Lloyd of Fourteenth street, Sharpsburg, a foreman at Spang, Chalfant & Co.'s mill, may lose his right eye. While passing under a crane a heavy chain struck him in the face, breaking his glasses and forcing a portion of the lens into his eye.

Arsenal Spring Wrecked—A government detective is looking for the vandals who destroyed the building and railing erected a year ago over the spring on the Allegheny arsenal grounds in Forty-fourth street. It is thought the railing was taken by some boys and sold as junk.

Paid Up Back Taxes—The Millvale, Etna & Sharpsburg Railway Company yesterday paid to City Controller Brown of Allegheny $955.25, back car taxes due to July 1, 1902. This is for 14 cars run by the company through the city for a distance of two and a half miles since 1896.

Threw Fire at His Brother—Frank and James Smith, 6 and 8 years old respectively, sons of Abraham Smith of Fourth avenue, Homestead, quarreled yesterday morning when James threw a piece of burning paper at Frank, which ignited his clothing and burned him severely.

Horses Plunged Into River—A team of horses attached to a delivery wagon belonging to Arbuckle Bros. ran away in Water street, near Wood, yesterday afternoon. They dashed madly down the steep wharf and plunged into the Monongahela river, from which they were dragged without damage.

Have Unfortunate Children—Elinore Schwartz, 4 years old, was badly scalded yesterday morning by pulling a kettle of boiling water upon herself at her home, No. 63 Shady avenue, Allegheny. Two weeks ago her 6-year-old sister fell down an embankment and broke her right arm, left leg and two ribs.

Hulton After New Station—A petition is being circulated requesting the officials of the Allegheny Valley railroad to build a new station at Hulton for the residents of the upper end of Oakmont. The residents claim the building has done service since the railroad was built through there 50 years ago.

Deaf Mute Convention—Western Pennsylvania is to be well represented in the convention of deaf-mutes at Philadelphia tomorrow, Friday and Saturday. A party of about 50 from this city will leave today to attend the convention. It is expected that there will be fully 500 present at the Philadelphia convention.

Battles Brings More Suits—John Battles, superintendent of the bureau of highways and sewers, yesterday entered suits before Alderman S. J. Toole against six persons who are accused of throwing waste paper in the streets. Suits are also threatened against a number of East End dairymen on a charge of throwing broken bottles in the streets.

Felonious Shooting—Louis Roman, the Duquesne Italian who last Thursday night shot and seriously injured John Echard, a Braddock hotel man, in his saloon, had a hearing before Justice Holtzman, at Braddock, last evening, and was held for court on a charge of felonious shooting. Roman was unable to secure bail and was committed to jail.

Killed a Mad Dog—A mad dog was killed yesterday morning by an officer from No. 5 police station at the home of W. H. Shields at No. 5820 Howe street, East End, where it had broken into the cellar. It is said the dog bit a cow owned by John Liggett of Howe street and one owned by George Mashey in Penn avenue. Both cows developed rabies and had to be killed.

Returned and Was Arrested—W. M. Wessley, colored, of Broad street, East End, was held in $500 bail for court trial yesterday at No. 6 police station on a charge of felonious cutting. It is alleged Wessley cut Henry Kemp on July 5 and as a result Kemp lost the sight of his right eye. Wessley escaped at the time, but returned Monday night and was immediately arrested.

Others Want Low Rates—Patrons of the Bell Telephone Company in Braddock, East Pittsburgh, Turtle Creek and other valley towns, promise to make matters interesting for the company unless these towns are given the same reductions in price of telephone service accorded Homestead, where a sweeping reduction was announced last week. The reduction included Homestead only.

Burglars Were Polite—Mrs. Louis Crimpy of No. 855 Evergreen avenue, Millvale, Monday evening discovered two well dressed young men in her house. When asked what they wanted they asked for the home of a family which Mrs. Crimpy did not know, and, thanking her, left. When Mrs. Crimpy went upstairs she found that a pay envelope which she had left in a dresser was gone.

No Beer Allowed—C. L. Dickson, a negro, employed in the Homestead steel works, attempted Monday night to enter the mill with a bucket of beer. One of the coal and iron police promptly placed him under arrest. At the hearing he was fined $5 and will lose his job. The Carnegie rules forbid liquor being carried into the plants. Dickson's is the first violation for many years at the Homestead plant.

Displayed His Money—William Hurst, a McKeesport barber, was found yesterday morning in the rear of the White House, in Market steet, McKeesport, in a badly battered condition. Hurst said while in the White House bar shortly before midnight he displayed a roll of money and about 1 o'clock yesterday morning was held up and beaten by three men who intended to rob him, but were frightened away.

Allegheny Council Meeting—Allegheny select council will meet this afternoon. The most important matter to transact will probably be the ordinance changing the grade crossing on the West Penn road to elevated tracks throughout the entire system operated in Allegheny. Common council will meet tomorrow night when the ordinance authorizing the widening of East street from Madison avenue to Royal street to 50 feet will come up.

Kicking on Location—If the ordinance for the establishment of free baths on the South Side, presented in councils by Councilman John Morgan of the Thirteenth ward, is passed, the citizens of the South Side will petition councils to have the bath house established in the South Side market house in Twelfth street, instead of in the old Thirteenth ward police station in Carson street, near Second. It is claimed that the market house is better situated for the purpose.

Prize Drill and Banquet—Braddock Hive, Ladies of the Maccabees, is preparing for a big outing at Kennywood park tomorrow. All the hives in the county have been invited and the majority will be represented. A feature will be a competitive drill between the guard teams of Braddock and Wilkinsburg, which will take place at 6 o'clock, and for which a silver loving cup has been offered as a prize. The state officers and the winners of the drill will be banqueted.

New Engine Secured—Superintendent August Mann of the Rankin plant of the American Steel and Wire Company arrived in Rankin yesterday afternoon, after a record-breaking run from St. Louis on a special train, which carried a large stationary engine to be used in the rod mill of the Rankin plant. The large engine in the rod mill was disabled last week. An engine was secured quickly in St. Louis and a special train chartered to bring it to Rankin. The new engine will be installed at once.

Street Cars and Wagon Collide—Hill Top car No. 11, going south, struck a wagon driven by J. Hanughey at Smithfield and Water streets and rammed it into Liberty and Larimer car No. 146, which was crossing the street at the time. The Liberty car was knocked from the tracks and all the windows in one side of the car smashed. The conductor, A. W. Thorn, had his back badly injured by being thrown against the controller box on the back platform. The front of the Hill Top car was also badly damaged.

SOUSA'S GREAT TOUR.

After Playing at Pittsburgh Exposition He Will Girdle the Globe.

The most comprehensive tour ever undertaken by any musical organization is that just now being planned for Sousa and his band. Frank Christianer, manager of the band, has received a cable that assures a long and profitable engagement in Australia and furnishes the missing link in the chain of cities to be visited in every section of the globe. The itinerary will consume the larger part of the year 1903, with visits to Australia, India, China, Japan, the Philippines, Italy, Greece, Austria, Germany, Russia, France and England, with a grand transcontinental trip across the United States as a fitting conclusion.

Sousa proposes to play the works of American composers in lavish numbers, thus introducing the American musical product to all the world.

The Sousa engagement at the New Pittsburgh Exposition, beginning on the night of Wednesday, September 3, gives every indication of being the most successful the band ever has entered upon in Pittsburgh.

MUST KEEP IT OPEN.

Allegheny Grades Committee Will Not Consent to McFadden Street Closing.

The committee on grade crossings of Allegheny councils yesterday further considered the vacation of McFadden street, as proposed by the ordinance for the elevation of the West Penn railroad tracks from a point 200 feet east of Bridge street to the easterly side of Federal street, by visiting and inspecting the property. The committee decided that the street should not be closed, and notified the railroad company to change its plans for the elevation of its tracks.

The railroad company is said to desire McFadden street vacated so that it can run a single track at the present grade to reach its roundhouse in Allegheny, but the committee is determined that all the tracks shall be elevated, and that McFadden street shall be kept open.

SEEMED TO BE STARVED.

William Painter, Picked Up in Street, Dies at Homeopathic Hospital.

William Painter, 35 years old, died at the Homeopathic hospital yesterday afternoon of exhaustion. He was found lying on the pavement at Second avenue and Try street by Officer John Meighan and taken to Central police station, where Dr. B. A. Booth, health physician, said the man was in a dying condition, and ordered him taken to the hospital. When he reached there he was just able to tell his name.

When the attendant asked Painter where he lived he fainted and died two hours later. The man apparently had been suffering of starvation. Nothing was found on his person to determine where his home was.

Iglesias Arrested Again.

SAN JUAN, P. R., Aug. 19.—Santiago Iglesias, president of the federation of workmen of Porto Rico, has been arrested at Aguadilla for issuing a pamphlet criticising the insular authorities for their attitude on the recent labor strike. He was released in $500 bail.

A GIRL'S PLUCK.

Food That Cut Work in Half.

The food that will enable a person to accomplish in one year the work laid out for two years is worth knowing about. Miss Annie Avery, a student in Lanark, Ont., writes: "I know I felt my ill health even more than if I had been engaged in any other work, as the confinement of school only increased my sickness and inability to study.

"Last year I was on the way to a general breakdown in health; I suffered from severe headaches, was becoming a confirmed dyspeptic, nervous system broken down and my condition went on from bad to worse until I was unable to study or even go to school.

"My parents were very anxious about me, as medicine did not help and mother, hearing about Grape-Nuts, obtained some and I commenced to use it at once. I was very much surprised at the quick effect the food had on me. I began to get better and as a result from its continued use I am no longer troubled with sick stomache and headaches, nor am I the nervous girl I was last year. I feel so well and study so well that I am making an attempt to get my certificate with but one year's work, when at the very least two years are always allowed for it. I have gained 30 lbs. since using Grape-Nuts and now enjoy good physical and mental health."

TWO CARD SHARPS SEEK RICH GRAFT

UNSOPHISTICATED MILLIONAIRES SAVED IN NICK OF TIME.

Captain of Kronprinz Wilhelm Denounces Players in Game of Poker in Which Vanderbilt, Belmont, Coolidge and Goelet Are Prospective Victims.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—The detection of two alleged card sharps in a poker game with W. K. Vanderbilt, Jr., Oliver H. P. Belmont, Robert Goelet, J. Jefferson Coolidge, Jr., and two other men of wealth enlivened the trip across the ocean of the Kronprinz Wilhelm, which arrived today. The game was one of the largest in the annals of oceanic gambling. The ante was $5. There was no limit. The majority of the players were millionaires and the possibilities which the two sharpers saw before them were golden until the interruption came in the form of a denunciation by Capt. Richter, in command of the vessel.

A woman adventuress, said to be well known in both New York and London, is alleged to have been behind the plan to fleece the American millionaires. She met some members of the party before they left England and made them acquainted with the two who were to fleece them.

But for the chance discovery of an onlooker that the two sharpers were cheating a considerable fortune might have been won by them from their intended victims. The discovery was timely, however, and although there were large stakes in sight the sharpers were caught in time to prevent their plans from being carried out.

The woman did not sail. The two men embarked at Southampton and grew friendly with the millionaires, although they held aloof from the card room. There was a lively card party every night from the day the vessel sailed, William Woodward, attache of the United States embassy in London, and Dr. F. W. Chapin being in the party. On the third day the two sharpers, with every show of reluctance, allowed themselves to be induced to take part in the game and immediately commenced to get in their "graft."

POLES NOT TRUSTED.

Kaiser Transfers Army Maneuvers to Frankfort-on-the-Oder—No Official Explanation Given.

BERLIN, Aug. 19.—The headquarters of the approaching army maneuvers have been abruptly changed from Posen, Prussian Poland, to Frankfort-on-the-Oder, province of Brandenburg, Prussia. Emperor William, the general staff and the foreign guests will therefore lodge in a sympathetic Prussian city, instead of in an unfriendly Polish atmosphere. No official explanation is procurable of the abandonment of the program which was arranged months ago.

The unofficial inference is that it would be more judicious to make a prolonged stay at Frankfort-on-the-Oder than at Posen, because Polish political hostility might be aggravated or an opportunity might be given for an unpleasant incident. It is not supposed, however, that the police have learned of a definite design to make trouble or insult the emperor, who intends, regardless of the change of program, to review the army corps in Posen September 3, and then go to Frankfort-on-the-Oder.

HELD FOR THE GRAND JURY.

Matthias, the Railroad Detective Who Shot and Killed Delesant, in Trouble.

J. Matthias, a detective employed by the Pennsylvania railroad, was yesterday held by the coroner's jury to await the action of the grand jury for shooting George Delesant, an Italian, who died at the West Penn hospital Sunday. The shooting occurred at Walls station on August 6.

Delesant was arrested for trespassing, and when the officer went to put the handcuffs on him he twisted away. Matthias followed him and attempted to frighten Delesant into submission by shooting in the air. The third shot struck Delesant, entering his groin. Delesant was 19 years old and lived in Greensburg.

MEETING OF THE CHAMBER.

Delegation to Be Selected to Represent Pittsburgh at Parkersburg.

The rivers and harbors committee of the Chamber of Commerce will hold a meeting this afternoon at 2 o'clock, at which it is expected a delegation will be selected to represent the chamber at the meeting of the Ohio River Improvement association, to be held at Parkersburg, W. Va., probably early in October.

George H. Anderson, secretary of the chamber, says the matters to be brought up at Parkersburg are of the utmost importance to the commercial interests of this city and especially to all the rivermen.

BRIDGE RECOMMENDATIONS.

McCandless Makes Suggestions Anent the Smithfield Street Structure.

Director McCandless, of the department of public works, yesterday notified the Pittsburgh Railways Company of the result of the investigation he made of the condition of the Smithfield street bridge, and advised the company to proceed at once to repair the structure and make it safe in every particular.

Recommendation was made that new cross ties be placed in the bridge, that a new roadbed be made and that new and heavier rails be used in the reconstruction.

PAY FOR ADDED CLERKS

Number of Officials and Assistants Increased by 5,221 With Proportionate Cost—Appropriations Are Seventy Millions Greater.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 19.—The volume containing statements of appropriations, new officers, etc., required by law to be prepared and published at the end of each session of congress under the direction of the committees on appropriations of the senate and house, has been completed for the first session of the fifty-seventh congress by Thomas P. Cleaver and James C. Courts, chief clerks respectively of those committees. A summary of the appropriations shows the grand total of $800,624,496 55. The details by bills are as follows:

Agricultural, $5,268,960; army, $91,730,136 41; diplomatic, $1,957,925 69; District of Columbia, $8,544,469 97; fortification, $7,298,955; Indian, $8,636,028 10; legislative, $25,396,681 50; military academy, $2,627,324 42; naval, $78,856,363 15; pension, $139,842,250; postoffice, $138,416,598 75; river and harbor, $26,771,442; sundry civil, $60,163,359 13; deficiencies, $28,050,007 32; miscellaneous, $2,722,795 13; Isthmian canal act, $50,130,000; permanent appropriations, $123,321,220. Total, $800,624,496 55.

Looking to Future.

In addition to the specific appropriations made contracts are authorized to be entered into for certain public works requiring future appropriations by congress in the aggregate sum of $262,711,405. These contracts include $21,060,500 for additional ships for the navy and for permanent improvements of and increased facilities at certain navy yards; $15,943,650 for additions to old public buildings in various cities of the country; $38,836,180 for improvement of river and harbors; $3,500,000 for reconstruction of old and erection of new buildings at the military academy at West Point; and $180,000,000 for the construction of an Isthmian canal.

The new officers and employments, of a civilian character, specifically authorized number, 6,388 with compensation for the year of $6,943,595, and those abolished or omitted aggregate 1,165, at an annual pay of $1,280,080 50; a net increase of 5,221, at a yearly cost of $5,054,514 50.

More Home Defenders.

In addition to the new civilian employments shown, the volume also exhibits an increase of 65 in the military establishment, at an annual cost of $42,308 and 300 officers (including 285 additional midshipmen) together with 3,000 seamen in the naval establishment, and 750 additional men in the marine corps, with total yearly pay of $1,343,777 50.

Of the total net increase in civilian employments, 34 are for the library of congress; seven for the state department; 23 for the navy department; 179 for the treasury department; 306 for the postoffice department, including 265 on account of the rural free delivery service; 70 for the department of agriculture; 117, including 46 school teachers, 22 policemen and seven firemen, for the government of the District of Columbia; 50 lighthouse keepers, 11 for the coast survey; 32 for the diplomatic and consular service, and 4,300 for the postal service, including 118 assistant postmasters, 3,134 clerks in postoffices, 169 agents and others in the rural free delivery service, and 865 railway postal clerks.

Mostly in Postal Service.

Of the net total, 5,221 civil officers and employments authorized, only 921 are outside of the postal service. The number of salaries increased is 725, at an annual cost of $118,576 10, and the number reduced is 16, in the total annual sum of $13,120; a net increase of 709, at a cost of the year of $105,456 10, of which number 481 are the cadets at the military academy, who are given an increased allowance of $60 50 each; 31 are consuls and consular clerks; 61 are officers of the revenue cutter service, whose pay is made equal to the similar officers of the navy; 13 are in the life saving service; and 32, amounting to $33,000 annually, are in the department of agriculture.

A comparison of the total appropriations made at the last session of congress for 1903, $800,624,496 55, with those of the preceding or short session of the Fifty-sixth congress for 1903, $730,338,575 99, shows an increase of $70,285,920 56. In this amount are included increased appropriations for the department of agriculture, $626,540; for the diplomatic, District of Columbia, legislative, executive and judicial and naval service, $1,706,081 74; for the military academy, $1,854,670 74; for the postal service, $14,638,915; for the whole of the river and harbor act, none having been passed at the preceding session, $26,771,442; for deficiencies, $12,132,560 38; and for the Isthmian canal, $50,130,000. On the other hand there appear reductions of $24,003,912 60 for the army; $65,056 for fortifications; $761,442 99 for the Indian service; $5,403,000 under requirements for pensions; $1,632,549 08 by the sundry civil act; $5,207,223 54 by miscellaneous acts; and $487,000 under permanent appropriations which cover interest on the public debt, making a net increase as stated of $70,285,920 56.

HAT CHAT.

Passing of the Panama, and Other Points of Interest About Men's Headwear—Pittsburgh to the Front With Four New Makes That Are Sure to Become Popular This Fall.

Only a few days more and men will be turning their fancies to fall headwear. The Panama, which is at last a drug in the market, as well as the more modest priced straw hats, will soon give way to the new fall shapes in headgear, some of which are particularly pleasing.

Pittsburgh people, always appreciative of home enterprise, are already sounding the praises of four celebrated makes that are controlled exclusively by R. G. Gamble & Co., the well-known wholesalers, whose headquarters are at No. 713 Penn avenue.

The hats in question are named respectively—

"Raymond," "Winfield,"

"Byron" and "Nelson."

Competent critics all agree that for style, elegance, comfort and durability each particular make stands unrivalled in its class. In the "Raymond" the makers have certainly produced a hat that is equal if not superior to anything heretofore placed on the market. The style is particularly graceful and is sure to appeal to swell dressers everywhere. The surprising part of it is that such a high grade piece of headwear could be made to retail at the popular price of only $2.00. Messrs. Gamble & Co. stake their reputation on the "Raymond," and will be pleased to hear of particular men comparing it with the highest priced hats manufactured, knowing that it will not suffer by comparison.

The "Winfield," which has just been put on the market by Messrs. Gamble & Co., promises to be a winner among the medium priced hats this fall. It retails for $2.50, and the man who buys it will certainly get his money's worth in style, material, workmanship and finish.

The "Byron" is a lower priced hat, being specially manufactured to fill the growing demand for a really good hat at a reasonable figure. The "Byron" will be sold in up-to-date retail stores at the popular price of $2.

The remaining make, known as the "Nelson," is a hat one would never guess the price of from its appearance. Although manufactured to retail for only $1.50 this particular hat would not suffer by comparison with most of the headwear being sold today for almost double its price.

Dealers wishing to secure the agency for any or all of these hats should communicate immediately with R. G. Gamble & Co., No. 713 Penn avenue, Pittsburgh, Pa.

TWELVE PAGES.

The Naval Maneuvers.

While it may not be possible to exactly duplicate war conditions in the maneuvers that are now occupying the attention of the army and navy, there is no doubt they are useful training. The attacking party cannot know just what an enemy might do, but it will plan its approach as it would if intending to assault a foreign coast, so much may depend upon the cleverness of the officers in command. Allowing for the difference between an enemy whose every movement is secret in as far as possible and a make-believe enemy confined to certain limits, the play may be quite realistic.

Yet there is an important detail denied to both forces. It is one in which the superiority of the American navy lies—the ability to shoot straight and rapidly. Detecting and intercepting the enemy are necessary arts in warfare, but far more vital is that which can be done to him when he is caught at it. On that point, however, there is little room for doubt. What Dewey did at Manila and Schley at Santiago demonstrated absolutely the proficiency of the American navy in the highest art of naval warfare. The present maneuvers are designed to determine how difficult it may be to get the proper opportunity for fun practice.

Where Laws Are Enforced.

Those burglars who were captured out at Bridgeville tackled the wrong village. There are places where they might have found the greatest security in operating right under the noses of the constituted peace authorities, but Bridgeville is evidently not one of them. Neither 'squire nor constable showed any "nervousness" that prevented him from doing his duty. The one finding burglars in his house arose to the occasion and in his pajamas. When they escaped he arose again in his wrath and his street clothes, aroused the constable and started in pursuit. It availed the robbers nothing to flee to the constable's home. Protection to vice is unknown there, so the marauders were captured on the very window sill. The lesson is so plain those who run may read.

He Could if He Wanted To.

Naturally the industrious dissemination of the rumor that he is about to retire from the presidency of the United States Steel Corporation causes a great deal of annoyance to Mr. Schwab and his business associates. But in spite of this it must be a great satisfaction to the president of the greatest corporation on earth to feel, as he reclines in an easy chair and peruses the columns of stuff the papers are printing, and contemplates the pictures that resemble him more or less, that he can afford to retire if he wants to. Mr. Schwab is a marvelously successful man and the rumors and denials in the newspapers serve to once more call attention to the fact. He has succeeded on his merits and his successive advancements have been matters of natural selection and not special favors. This is not saying that there are not other men as able as Mr. Schwab who have not risen so high or profited so much, and who, in spite of their ability, will never rise so high or possess so large a fortune. He has been, fortunately for him and the interests he serves, the right man in the right place at the right time, a combination that is invincible. His career is an inspiration, and while he does not choose to end it with his present achievements, and while his associates in business would protest vigorously against his ending it, and do protest strenuously against the mere mention of it, it is nevertheless, as has been said, very comforting to the subject of all the gossip that he is in a position to unshoulder all the cares and responsibilities of management if he wants to do so. But he isn't built that way. There are "other worlds to conquer," and he is after them.

Defending the Police.

Both Director Leslie and Superintendent McAleese have taken a hand in defending the members of the police force against what they claim is unwarranted criticism. The defense is ingenious and calculated to arouse sympathy for the "finest body of policemen in the country"—but it assumes too much. There is no denying that a spirit of demoralization and disorganization pervades the entire police bureau. Both the director and the superintendent admit this cautiously, it is true, but, nevertheless, what they say about the "extreme nervousness of the men," their "fright over the fear of making a mistake" and timidity of judgment is a practical admission that things are not as they should be in the department. The only difference between the critics and defenders of the defelict policemen, therefore, is a question of cause.

Director Leslie says the signs of inefficiency, he calls it "nervousness," are a direct result of criticism. Let us see. An officer goes on a jamboree and shoots a man whom he pursues from the portals of a speakeasy. Another rudely and offensively accosts a peaceable citizen, and because the citizen protests against the indignity he is forthwith locked up. Still another "nervous" officer viciously attacks his superior officer in the very precincts of the safety building. Added to these are a number of over-zealous arrests on trifling pretexts and a sedulous inability to see real and long standing offenses against municipal law and order. These are not the acts of nervous or timid men driven to blunders by an excess of stage fright.

Let it be granted that in a force of 500 men there will invariably be found those unfitted for the right discharge of their duties. This in no wise lessens the force of, or necessity for, the recent criticisms against the violations of official propriety launched against the offenders in the department which is so vehemently defended by its chiefs.

There have been numerous flagrant cases of police inefficiency and impropriety. These have been characterized as they deserved by a watchful public press. The remedy is not to plead the baby act for the offenders, but to brace up the discipline and personnel of the bureau to a point that will make a repetition of such instances impossible.

A Need Pressed Home.

Pittsburgh, always independent of the anthracite coal fields because of its use of natural gas, coke and bituminous coal, can hardly realize the conditions produced in eastern cities by the cessation of mining operations in the anthracite coal regions of Pennsylvania. There is already a coal famine in New York and no relief in sight. Flat dwellers, as told by the correspondent of The Gazette, have been already warned that they will have less heat in their apartments this winter. Everybody is looking forward to largely increased fuel bills or entire dependence on bituminous coal or gas produced from it. Coal yards adjacent to New York have been closed because their supplies are exhausted. The New York Commercial Advertiser quotes retail dealers' statements that they expect anthracite coal to go above $15 a ton, against a normal price of less than half that sum. The seriousness of the situation for New York city is thus set forth by one dealer:

> Even if the strike were declared off tomorrow the normal winter demand could not be satisfied. The maximum output of the mines is only 5,000,000 tons a month, and owing to the fact that the miners must all be licensed, and that two years apprenticeship must be served before the license is granted, it would be impossible for the operators to double their force of employes. In fact, when work at the anthracite mines is resumed, the force will be considerably smaller than before the strike was declared. A good percentage of the idle miners have emigrated out of the state and are working at other labors in Ohio, Indiana and Kentucky, so that when work is resumed the output will be considerably less than 5,000,000 tons a month.
> If anthracite coal could be had elsewhere in the United States than in Pennsylvania the situation would not be so serious, but there are no other anthracite mines in the country than those now shut up by the strike. The only alternative left to the individual consumer this winter will be to use gas or else burn crushed coke, cannel coal or wood as fuel. I understand that one gas company alone has installed over 9,000 hearth stoves in the past month.

There is plenty of anthracite coal in the ground to be had for the mining. There are (or were when the strike started) a sufficient number of miners to take out all the coal needed to supply the demand. There was and is an abundance of capital to finance the entire process of taking the coal from the ground and delivering it to the consumers. The consumers, out of the abundant prosperity of the country, had and have money to reimburse the capital employed in the production and distribution of the coal. They also had and continue to have the willingness to do so. But because of the inability of the owners of capital to agree with the miners on terms on which coal shall be taken from the ground they cannot, in spite of their ability and willingness, obtain their usual supplies. The capital and labor employed in mining coal really exist to serve the consumers. Each assumes, however, to exist for itself alone, forgetting that it is the consumer who gives value to their efforts and that failing the consumer the business would be no more profitable than a potato patch in the Sahara without irrigation. The consumer is the innocent third party without voice in the dispute, who feels all the blows the disputants deal each other. The great lesson of the strike for him is the need to acquire power to participate in such struggles for the purpose of protecting himself against their ruinous consequences. There are demands that the state interfere to open the mines in the interest of the public. This cannot be done with the machinery now provided by statutes and constitution, but such an affair as is the anthracite strike brings home the need of some new provision for the protection of the public against its servants in the production of the commodities on which it is dependent.

Billion Dollar Country.

It is a billion dollar country. The official statement of the expenses authorized by congress during the fiscal year foots up a total of $800,624,000. The same congress has authorized expenditures for future years aggregating more than $200,000,000, so the billion mark is no fancy figure. Yet it is not so easy to put a finger upon anything that is extravagant.

It may be assumed there are items in the various appropriation bills that might have been omitted without detriment, or even with positive advantage to the country. But it would not have paid to lose any one of the great bills for the exclusion of one or two extravagant items. They simply have to be charged to profit and loss in the conduct of a great business. The largest among the appropriations are for pensions and postal service. Probably some pensions are undeserved, yet the greater majority are justly bestowed. Army and navy are expensive institutions, but essential to the peace of the country and therefore truly economical. In the rivers and harbors bill there are some bad items, among many more for useful public works. Public buildings are authorized in excess of actual necessity, yet here again there are so many more that are needed and must be had.

By the most careful analysis it will be found the tremendous appropriations authorized are not greatly beyond what is really required to run the government of the richest country the world ever knew. Compared with the budgets of lesser nations, there is no reason found for the cry of profligacy. True, the sum looks large, but it must not be forgotten that the needs of this nation are great; that it is a land of good wages and general prosperity. The appropriations, wise or extravagant, are for the benefit of the people and not to be absorbed by an aristocratic or privileged class. No millions are anywhere included for the maintenance of royalty, as in the case of our neighbors across the ocean.

A Social Tragedy.

Society, social recognition, has many a tortuous and difficult path for its devotees. The suicide in fashionable Newport that has so shocked the social set that makes that resort its summer Mecca affords a pathetic and pitiful commentary upon the fearful toll that Society exacts from those who would wear her colors and enjoy her triumphs. A young man, strong and vigorous, flushed with a hundred hard-earned victories in other fields of endeavor, weakens and falls by the wayside crushed and despairing at the failure to win the guerdon of success that would grant him the realization of his heart's ambitions.

After all is said in explanation it is evident that young Remington killed himself because he saw his hopes and dreams of social success and a consequent happy marriage disappear beyond his grasp. Society is beautiful in its allurements, but who can number the hearts that have been broken in the pursuit of its triumphs?

Wrong Kind of Car.

From the New York Sut.

He had a long beard and talked like an Essex market court practitioner. When he had bothered all of the cops and railroad inspectors, asking questions at the bridge entrance, he turned to the conductor of a Greene and Gates car and shouted:

"For which is dot car?"

"Grain and Gates," answered the Irish conductor.

"Grain and Gates," repeated the bearded man. "Vhy don't Mr. Gates hire a freight car for dot grain? Dose cars should for der peoples be. Ain't it?"

Results Assured.

LOST IN GOTHAM NO IDLE DREAM

Squabble Over Designs for Street Signs Will Keep Stranger in the Dark.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Herald Building, Herald Square,
NEW YORK, Aug. 17.

Considering that New York is so anxious to have street signs put in position as quickly as possible, it is passing strange that there should be so much splitting of hairs over designs. The hair-splitting means delay, and delay is what everyone would avoid. The American Art commission, a useful but somewhat arrogant body, has protested to the comptroller of the city that contracts have been awarded for the erection of street signs other than those approved by the commission. Like most persons with a reputation for artistic taste, the art commission will not brook any opposition when it lays down a dictum in sweetness and light. It has said that only one pattern of sign should decorate the street corners, and it will not agree to anything else. Moreover, the commission has burrowed into that bugbear of all who would ride roughshod over municipal ordinances, the city charter, and turned up to the light section 637. This section sets forth that contracts awarded in opposition to the will of the municipal art commissioner are null and void, and would be utterly invalid. The commission slammed the comptroller across his official countenance with this section today, and he was dazed. The worst of it is that the slamming had to be done by proxy, because Mr. Grout, the actual comptroller, is in Europe. This means that nothing can be done in the matter until he returns to this country next month. Then, by the time it is settled what design is to be used, it will be too late in the year to put up signs at all, and we shall have to grope our way about dark, nameless streets at night all winter, as has been the experience of New Yorkers for many years. There are a few signs in place. They are samples which have been put up at well-traveled corners, like Herald square at Thirty-fifth street, for instance, and which are of little utility, although pleasant to look at. Very few persons require to be told they are in Herald square when they get there. It is the side streets on which we require the signs, but it looks now as if we must possess ourselves in patience for at least another year.

Mr. and Mrs. Westinghouse Arrive.

Mr. and Mrs. George Westinghouse, Jr., were passengers on the Kronprinz Wilhelm, which arrived in New York from Bremen today. The duchess of Marlborough was one of their fellow-passengers.

Off Comes a Croker Head.

Chief Croker, after coming into town yesterday from Good Ground, cutting short his vacation so that he could be present at the investigation of certain members of the fire department, did not gain much by the movement. He was suspended today. Until certain matters are straightened out New York will have as its fire chief a Mr. Purroy, who has been deputy under Croker. The chances are that he will manage the affairs of the position as well as Croker, but it does not seem to be exactly to the taste of the deposed chief. He considers that he has not had a square deal, and perhaps he has not. In spite of the assertions of the authorities that "there are no politics in it," the ordinary New Yorker, who has seen some funny political games worked in this metropolis, is inclined to think that Purroy has been made chief in fulfillment of a promise to his brother, Henry Purroy, who was at one time county clerk and used to be Tammany leader above the Harlem river in the old days. All this is rumored and denied, but it is believed to be a fact by Croker and his friends, at least.

Open the Gate, Duss is Coming!

John S. Duss will run over to Pittsburgh on Friday, leaving here on the Pennsylvania railroad limited in the morning. He will be back in time to take his place at the head of his band in St. Nicholas garden on Sunday night. On Friday and Saturday evenings his place as leader in the garden will be filled by Signor Belucci. Mr. Duss has some important private business which demands his personal presence. It will be the first time he has missed a performance of his band here since he opened his season more than three months ago.

Morgan Bumped by Coal Famine.

When the Oceanic arrives off Sandy Hook, which will be tomorrow, probably, J. Pierpont Morgan's yacht Corsair will go down the bay to take off the distinguished financier. This was the arrangement from the first, but it looked for a while as if it would not be carried out. The coal famine was the trouble. The yacht required 250 tons of coal to fill her bunkers, and there was none in sight. At last the commander managed to find 90 tons at the Erie basin and the Corsair is ready for her owner. What was paid for the coal per ton is nobody's business, says the commander.

Symptoms of Pittsburgh's Force.

It was something of a surprise to the police when two of its members were indicted by the grand jury today for clubbing Hebrews in the funeral riot on the East Side a fortnight ago. The testimony of a witness is that one of the indicted men hammered a prisoner in a patrol wagon unmercifully on the way to the police station. Evidently the grand jury has reached the conclusion of many New Yorkers—that the use of the locust by irresponsible policemen is altogether too frequent and severe.

Scores One for Salvation Army Music.

In Jersey City the Salvation army has a sturdy champion in the police department. A delegation of business men complained that the open-air meetings of the Salvationists were a public nuisance, and they asked the vice chancellor to stop them. Police Captain McKay investigated and reported that the Salvation army makes music and not noise. The vice chancellor has the matter under consideration, and it looks as if the Salvationists will win the day.

Money Makes the Jail Fare.

Peter Power did not like to go to Ludlow Street jail, but the objection probably was more sentimental than actual. Many distinguished men have sojourned in the famous old building. Star thieves, star actors and star swindlers find their way into the prison for all kinds of offenses, from housebreaking and forgery to failing to pay alimony. Men who are accustomed to the best accommodation that swell hotels can furnish say that old Ludlow is not half bad when one wants to escape the stress of modern metropolitan life, especially when it is considered that class distinctions as governed by the almighty dollar are observed there almost as generally as outside.

Golf Boom in West Neck.

It is reported that Howard Gould is negotiating for the purchase of a large tract of land in that part of Huntington, Long Island, known as West Neck. It is said that if he acquires the land he will have it laid out into golf links and will build a club house.

Two Nights, and Still Successful.

J. Brandon Tynan, formerly a stock actor and matinee idol in Pittsburgh, seems to have made a solid success with his new play, "Robert Emmett," at the Fourteenth Street theater. The applause awarded by the regular good-natured first-night audience on Monday was repeated again this evening by the different class of theatergoers that pays its way on the second night. Mr. Tynan is Robert Emmett, and he has such sterling actors in his support as W. H. Thompson, P. Aug. Anderson, William Elton, Owen Fawcett and Luke Martin. They all back up the hero in making Irish patriotism fairly howl from overture to denouement, and the line at the box office after the performance this evening was imposing enough to make everyone connected with the enterprise feel certain of a long run.

Prominent Angels Are Denied.

As a matter of record, let it be stated that the story that Senator Hanna is backing James K. Hackett, that George J. Gould is behind Henrietta Crossman and that John W. Gates is performing the same office for Mrs. Fiske is vigorously denied by Mr. Fiske and Maurice Campbell, and no doubt will be branded as untrue by James K. Hackett when he gets here on the Oceanic tomorrow. All three managers say they are paying their own way and do not require pecuniary assistance from any one.

Banking Strong on Fickle Future.

Amelia Bingham says she will not play a drama of the "Mary Magdalen" type for five years. Julia Marlowe says she has her plans laid for three years to come. Other theatrical stars talk calmly of what they intend to do for the next three, five or 10 years, as it may happen. The assurance of these people in making arrangements for long terms of years regardless of possibilities of death, sickness, change in public tastes or any of the thousands of the contingencies which may arise even in one year would be amusing if it were not so sad. The only explanation of their attitude as published in New York papers from time to time is that they are not positively sincere. Where are Clyde Fitch and his brilliant plans of yester-year?

Devery Has Real Fight On.

The triumvirs of Tammany, who have been irreverently referred to by "Big Bill" Devery as "sport," "two-spot," and "joker," may be revenged on that flowery gentleman. They decided today to oppose his candidacy for the leadership of the Ninth district if they found that there had been any fradulent enrollments of voters. Devery laughs at the threats of the triumvirs because he maintains that everything is square in his district. But the nicknames he has attached to the three members of the Tammany advisory committee sticks in their collective throat, and it is "anything to beat Devery." Meanwhile, Devery continues to spend money for the benefit of his constituents, and is sure that he will be at the head of affairs in his district after the primaries. The "big chief" is so popular in the city nowadays that it seems as if all his arrogance and cut-and-thrust methods when he was deputy police commissioner are forgiven and forgotten.

Hummel Predicts Divorce Rush.

"Abe" Hummel, New York's great little divorce lawyer, says there will be a rush to get divorce decrees signed in the next two weeks. A new law goes into effect in this state on the first of September, which makes it obligatory on persons obtaining divorces to remain unmarried for at least three months. There will be no getting a divorce and taking a new wife or husband on the same day. Mr. Hummel said today on this subject: "In instances where the parties are about to bring legal action of a character to divorce the marriage tie, it is amusing to observe the disappointment shown when it is learned for the first time that a divorce will not be an absolute judicial separation until three months after the decision of the court in the plaintiff's favor. But such is the law passed on the recommendation of Gov. Odell, and those who seek it for relief must be content." Mr. Hummel is credited with having engineered more divorces in New York than any other three men at the bar in this city. He knows more of the inside history of thousands of families, and it is often said that if "Abe" Hummel were to tell only the half of what he knows, he would disrupt more happy homes than one could find in a long day's walk.

May Not Prove All a Joke.

Brooklynites do funny things some times. Here is a young couple that entered matrimony today amid coffins and mourning furnishings generally. Their names were Louise Purves and George W. Snow, and they selected an undertaker's shop at Coney Island. They had funeral candles to light up the scene, and the guests sat around on caskets and the regulation black stools generally used at funerals. The minister almost made a mistake when he began the service, for he had opened his prayer book at the funeral service mechanically, when he noted his grim surroundings. He soon recovered himself, however, and there was nothing uncertain about his voice when he had corrected his mistake, and uttered the well known "dearly beloved," with which the most beautiful of rituals begins. It is understood, that to be in keeping, the couple took a wedding trip to Gravesend Bay.

Might Have Done Worse.

Nero had just been taxed with cruelty for fiddling while Rome burned.

"That may be," he replied, with a glare at the man on the flat below, "but I never practiced the cornet at 2 o'clock in the morning."

THAT LITTLE CHAP OF MINE.

"I know I'm jest an ordinary easy-goin' cuss,
'Bout like the common run of men, no better an' no wuss.
I can't lay claim to anything as fur as looks may go,
An' when it comes to l'arning, why, I don't stand any show;
But thar must be somethin' more in me than other folks kin see,
'Cause I've got a little chap at home that thinks a heap of me.

"I've had my ups an' downs in life, as all folks have, I guess,
An', take it all in all, I couldn't brag on much success;
But it braces up a feller an' it tickles him to know
That'r some one that takes stock in him, no matter how things go;
An' when I get the worst of it, I'm proud as I kin be
To know that little chap of mine still thinks a heap of me.

"To feel his little hand in mine so clingin' an' so warm,
To know he thinks I'm strong enough to keep him safe from harm;
To see his lovin' faith in all that I kin say or do—
It sort o' shames a feller, but it makes him better, too;
That's why I try to be the man he fancies me to be,
Jest 'cause that little chap of mine, he thinks a heap of me.

"I wouldn't disappoint his trust for anything on earth,
Or let him see how little I jest naturally am worth!
An' after all it's easy, up the better road to climb,
With a little hand to help you on an' guide you all the time;
An' I reckon I'm a better man than what I used to be,
Since I've got a little chap at home that thinks a heap of me."

—Mrs. Ida Goldsmith Morris in the Washington Star.

PERSONALS.

Carl K. McFadden, American manager of the Belmont Petroleum and Liquid Fuel Company, limited, of Texas, and also American manager of the Byrd Oil Syndicate, limited, of London, Eng., was in the city yesterday, arrived from Cleveland in the morning and leaving last night for his home at Geneva, Ind., for a visit to his family. In the course of conversation he said that the Belmont Petroleum and Liquid Fuel Company was about to place over $1,000,000 in the famous Beaumont oil fields and already had some 60,000 acres acquired. "The field is now beyond all speculation, as the wells all have a steady flow, and within the past three months all the gamblers and speculators have left for good," he said. "The Guffey interests are the largest and best and the best managed, and they are constantly being improved. They have just completed a pipe line from Spindle Top to Sour Lake, a distance of 20 miles, and they are now engaged in putting down mains from Sour Lake to Saratoga, 25 miles distant, which will greatly add to their production. One of their latest wells in this district is furnishing 300 barrels per hour through a 2-inch pipe line. To me there seems to be no limit to the resources of this wonderful field."

George A. Duffield, supreme deputy regent of the Royal Arcanum, an old Pittsburgher, but now a resident of Lexington, Ky., was in the city yesterday, the guest of Dr. J. H. Wright of Allegheny, and returned to his home last evening. During his visit he was shown much attention by Joseph Langtitt, supreme regent, and other members of the order, many of whom accompanied him to the Union station to see him depart. Mr. Duffield left Pittsburgh some three years ago and he was greatly surprised to notice the wonderful advancement made in scyscrapers and other handsome bluildings in his short absence. He has been at his old home in the northwestern part of the state for the past six weeks enjoying the fishing, which he said was unusually fine.

W. D. Henry, proprietor of the Hotel Henry, had a barn raising yesterday at his beautiful place, "Irvington Farm," three miles back from Sewickley, to which a few guests were invited. E. E. Bonneville, manager of the Hotel Henry; H. E. Lineweaver, W. H. Foster and J. H. Lindsay were among the interested guests who witnessed the 35 carpenters raise the frame work of the immense structure according to the old-time custom which of late years has gone out of fashion. The event was properly celebrated with a feast and when the barn is completed the custom will be further followed by giving a dance in the building.

Col. W. D. Holliday, assistant general freight agent of the Wabash and Wheeling & Lake Erie, and Fred H. Tristram, assistant general passenger agent of the Wabash, both of Pittsburgh, left yesterday to make a trip of inspection over the Wheeling & Lake Erie. This road is now a part of the Wabash system. Mr. Holliday's authority is already extended over it and Mr. Tristram will also receive similar authority when the line to Pittsburgh is completed, if not sooner. The trip will end with a general gathering of Wheeling & Lake Erie traffic officials at Cleveland today. Those present will include Traffic Manager H. J. Booth and General Freight and Passenger Agent E. B. Coolidge.

"We are going to have an excellent oyster crop this season," said J. L. Boyd, president of the Amboy Oyster Company of Perth Amboy, N. J., who was on the limited last evening, "and that will be good news to you Pittsburghers, as this is the best market for oysters in the country. From all that I can learn the oysters have grown very fast, and that is always an indication that the crop will be large."

The Hon. Arthur Kennedy, formerly state senator, of Allegheny, was a passenger on the limited last evening for Chicago. He said that he had just returned from a visit to Atlantic City for a rest, and that he was going to Chicago and Indianapolis on business connected with the electric roads in which he is interested. "I am also interested in some new roads at Santa Fe, N. M.," he said, "and I may possibly make a trip down there before my return."

W. H. Sharah of Braddock, secretary of the Western Pennsylvania Firemen's association, last night left for Portsmouth, Va., to attend the Virginia firemen's state convention. The most important matter to come before the convention, which will be attended by firemen from many cities, will be the preparation of plans for the organization of an international firemen's association.

W. H. Britt, librarian at the Cleveland public library, is visiting the Carnegie branch libraries in this city. Mr. Britt is investigating the manner in which the branch libraries are managed, with a view to establishing similar libraries in Cleveland. He was especially interested in the work of the branches among foreigners.

Charles Addy, for 15 years superintendent of the machine shops of Booth & Flinn, was surprised at his home in Ophelia street Monday night when the men who worked under him presented him with a gold ring set with a large amethyst. Mr. Addy has engaged in other business.

Francis J. Torrance, who has large business interests in New Mexico, has arranged to take a party of friends to Santa Fe and other points to show them the country, and the party will leave in a private car next Monday.

G. M. Scofield of New York arrived in the city last evening and registered at the Hotel Duquesne. He is the purchasing agent of the American Bridge Company, and will be here several days on business.

A. Beard of Canal Dover, O., general superintendent of the American Steel & Wire Company at that point, is at the Hotel Lincoln.

E. B. Noble of New Haven, Conn., one of the officials of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad, was at the Hotel Lincoln yesterday.

Richard Arnold Skalweit, principal of the Berlitz School of Languages, has returned from a short vacation spent at Niagara Falls and East Aurora, N. Y.

Has the Right Ring.

From the Philadelphia Press.

The Marion, Mass., authorities have arrested five men for alleged participation in the tarring and feathering of a man in that place and will try them for the offense. That is a good beginning. The district attorney's speech had the right ring when he said: "It is true that these men have been arrested on the charge of riotous assault, but in reality they are arrested for having dealt a blow at the town, the county, the state and the whole country." Mob law will not be tolerated in Massachusetts.

THE DEATH ROLL.

The Rev. Dr. William Lynch.

The Rev. Dr. William Lynch, the oldest minister in the Pittsburgh conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, died yesterday morning at his home in Creighton. He was 87 years old and had been actively engaged in the ministry for 62 years. Dr. Lynch had been pastor of some of the most prominent congregations in the Pittsburgh and West Virginia conferences. He was to have preached at the camp meeting in Tarentum next Sunday. Dr. Lynch had been ill but a few days, and although he appeared quite weak, his death came suddenly early yesterday morning. Dr. Lynch was born in Brownsville, Pa., in 1815. He attended public and private schools and prepared himself for the ministry under several noted tutors. Being thrown on his own resources for his early education, he kindled a desire for learning which distinguished him as a student throughout his old age. In 1840 he entered the Pittsburgh conference in Clarksburg, Va., under Bishop Morris. He filled the following pastorates: Mongalia, Va., 1841; Kingwood, Va., 1842; Williamsport, Va., 1843-44; Marion, Va., 1845-46; Kittanning, Pa., 1847-48; McKeesport, Pa., 1849-50; Johnstown, Pa., 1851; Elizabethtown, Va., 1852-53; Wheeling, 1856-57; Liberty Street, Pittsburgh, 1858-59; Salem, O., 1860-63; Blairsville, Pa., 1864-66; South Common, Allegheny, 1867-69; Massillon, O., 1870-72; Salem, O., 1873-75; Beaver, Pa., 1876; Monongahela City, Pa., 1876-78; First Methodist, Johnstown, Pa., 1879-81; Sewickley, 1882-83; Elizabeth, 1884-86; Uniontown, Pa., 1887-90; Mansfield, 1890-95. Dr. Lynch was married about the time he entered the ministry and his wife is still living in excellent health. Their son, the Rev. Dr. Frank Lynch, is a minister of prominence in the Philadelphia conference. Two daughters of the aged couple also survive. Since the first of the year the Pittsburgh conference has lost five of its members. Besides Dr. Lynch there are: The Rev. Dr. Robert T. Miller of Ford City, the Rev. Dr. J. L. Stuffey of Beaver, the Rev. A. L. Kendall of Seward, and the Rev. M. M. Sweeney of Bellevue, who died last week.

Mrs. Agnes R. Fulton.

Mrs. Agnes R. Fulton of Pittsburgh died unexpectedly at Atlantic City last night at 10:20 o'clock at the Hotel Belmont, where she had been a guest for a long time. For 30 years Mrs. Fulton had been a sufferer from asthma and about a week ago her condition became worse, but it was believed that she would again rally and regain her normal health. Her sudden death was a severe shock to her relatives and friends. At the time of Mrs. Fulton's death the following members of her family were present: Andrew Fulton, former mayor and director of the public safety department of Pittsburgh; Miss Jane M. Fulton, a daughter; Mrs. J. S. Arnold, a daughter; Mrs. Robert A. Scott, a sister, and Mr. Scott. Mrs. Fulton was born in Pittsburgh in 1829 and had always been a resident of this city She was married in 1849 to Samuel M. Fulton, well known as "Dick" Fulton of the Fulton bell foundry. The body will be brought to this city for interment.

James Bassett.

James Bassett, 66 years old, a retired lumber dealer, died suddenly yesterday morning at his home, No. 6812 Simen street, East End. Mr. Bassett had been a sufferer from heart trouble for years. Yesterday morning, when a member of his family went to call him, he had been dead for some hours. Mr. Bassett was born in Allegheny and received his education in the public schools of the North Side. When he reached his majority he engaged in the lumber business in McKees Rocks, and remained continuously in the lumber business there until three years ago, when, owing to his failing health, he retired and moved to the East End. Mr. Bassett was a member of the Union Veteran Legion. During the civil war he served three years as a member of Hampton's battery. He is survived by his wife and two sons, Henry and Ralph Bassett.

Funeral of John Henry.

The remains of John Henry, the aged and wealthy resident of Glendale, who died last Saturday at the Mercy hospital, from injuries received at the Fourth avenue station by being struck by a train, were buried yesterday afternoon in the Chartiers cemetery. The funeral was one of the largest ever seen in Carnegie. Funeral services were held at Mr. Henry's home by the Rev. J. M. Duff, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Carnegie, of which the deceased was an old and prominent member. The music at the services was furnished by the full choir of the First Presbyterian church and a number of Welsh singers. The pallbearers were John A. Bell, William Hill, Dr. E. G. Husler, Mark McDonough and Joseph Davis.

Judge L. S. Sherman.

Judge L. S. Sherman of Ashtabula, O., died yesterday after a brief illness. He has been prominent in legislative and judicial circles for 50 years. He was one of the close friends of Joshua R. Giddings and Benjamin F. Wade. In 1852 he was elected a member of the Ohio legislature and served two terms in the state senate. He was born in Berkshire county, Massachusetts, in 1814. He entered Williams college in 1834. In 1839 he received the degree of bachelor of laws in the Cincinnati law college. Western Reserve college conferred upon him the degree of LL. D. In 1876 he was elected common pleas judge and served in that capacity 15 years.

Mrs. John Meredith.

Mrs. Agnes Meredith, 52 years old, wife of John Meredith, a grocer of East Carnegie, died yesterday morning at her home in Ambrose avenue. She was born in England and came to this country 30 years ago. She had lived in Carnegie ever since, except two years in Kansas. She was a member of the St. Luke's Catholic church of Car

LARKIN HAS A WARNING TO GIVE RECORDER BROWN

Controller Will Today Emphasize the Need of Strict Economy.

BORROWING IS BARRED

Larkin Says Expenditures Have Been Unnecessarily Heavy of Late and an Empty Treasury and Plenty of Trouble Are Threatened.

"Economy is the road to wealth, and Pittsburgh must be put on a solid financial basis. I am preparing a statement which will be completed and ready for Recorder Brown tomorrow morning. The communication is a notice that if the city keeps on spending money at the present rate there will be no money in the treasury by November 1, or November 15 at the outside, and unless there is sufficient money I will not issue or sign any warrants."

Controller Larkin made the above statement yesterday afternoon. He was busy all day preparing the figures which will be embraced in his communication to Recorder Brown. Continuing the controller said:

"The expenditures have been unnecessarily heavy for the last few months. Take for instance the department of public works. During one month its expenditures amounted to $10,000 over the same month last year. The expenditures for another month amounted to $8,000 over the same month of last year.

Warning Is Given Early.

"I am giving the recorder notice three months in advance of the time when I believe there will be no money in the terasury to meet the obligations of the city. If I wait until October to do so, the cry might possibly be raised that there was not sufficient warning given and I am bound to be on the safe side and notify the departments in time.

"The new charter states positively that the controller shall not issue or sign any warrants for any money to be expended by the city when there is no money in the treasury, and I will follow that injunction to the letter.

"The city does not need to borrow any money to meet its payments to its employes and I will not approve of the negotiation of a loan for the new charter if I do not permit me to do so."

When Recorder Brown was informed of the intention of Controller Larkin he replied and said:

"The city has borrowed money before and it may be done again. I have on more than one occasion given my personal paper to the Allegheny National bank for amounts ranging from $100,000 to 150,000 for payments made by the city.

"I did this as an accommodation to the firemen, policemen and other city employes. In order that they might not have to wait for their money after it was due them. All the security I had was the city pay roll, which I considered good."

Would Not Discuss Correction.

Recorder Brown declined to say anything regarding the corrections of his financial statements made by Assistant Controller Morrow, in which the figures given out by Recorder Brown last Sunday and which he said at the time were obtained from Mr. Morrow, were flatly repudiated by the latter, and in which correction Mr. Morrow made pointed reference to "odd errors" made by the recorder.

Just what will be done to remedy the threatened condition of the city's finances is not known. Controller Larkin yesterday refused admit that he had suggested any curative methods in the statement he is preparing for the recorder. It is possible that Recorder Brown will be forced to find a way out of the difficulty, if one occurs.

Under the old charter the city generally ran short of funds during the last few months of the fiscal year. The city pay roll for these months was made up by the city treasurer and handed to the controller, who issued and signed the warrants.

These warants were then taken to the banks which are made the city's depositories and were held by them as collateral security, and the money for the pay roll was furnished. When the taxes were collected and turned over to the banks the amount of money and interest was deducted from them.

Brown Went to See Larkin.

After Recorder Brown learned that Controller Larkin would send him a communication relative to the city's expenditures this morning he went to the controller's office and was shown into Mr. Larkin's private office, where he remained for almost half an hour.

At the conclusion of his visit the recorder refused to say what his object was in making the visit. "Just merely an official visit, you know," he said, as he left City hall for the remainder of the day. Controller Larkin said his conversation with the recorder was relative to his communication, but further than that would not be quoted.

FISHES FOR ONE AND CATCHES TWO

BOY FOUND CLINGING TO LEG OF MAN PULLED OUT OF WATER.

Aged Atlantic Citian Does Double Turn as Rescuer—Press Agent Adopts Shark as Stage Property—Arrivals at Seaside Hotels.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 19.—The most peculiar rescue of the season was reported today. Charles W. Tompkins, a 60-year-old resident of this city, jumped into the Thoroughfare and saved the lives of a man and a boy, not knowing that the latter was in the water.

Lawrence Schency, aged 7, an Atlantic City boy, had been fishing from a small boat near the West Jersey railroad bridge across the Thoroughfare, and in attempting to draw another boat to him lost his balance and fell overboard. A well-dressed, though very much intoxicated, man about 40 years of age was passing at the time, and, seeing the boy's plight, jumped over without divesting himself of any clothing whatever, and swam to the lad's rescue. The man's condition proved to be a menace more than a help to the boy, however, and both went down.

The struggling pair had gone down a second time when Tompkins saw what he supposed to be a man drowning. Hastily throwing off his coat, he made a leap, grasped the nearly exhausted man and swam to a nearby boat with his burden.

When he pulled the would-be rescuer into the boat he was dumfounded at seeing that a small boy was tightly clinging to the unknown man's leg. Calling for assistance, he proceeded to resuscitate the child, who had fared badly. In about half an hour, however, the boy was brought around.

When questioned as to his name the now sobered up would-be life saver declined to give any information regarding himself. He merely said that he was from Philadelphia and that he "had come to Atlantic City to have a good time, and was having it."

He was attired in an expensive suit and had every appearance of being well to do. A valuable gold timepiece was ruined by the lengthy stay in the water.

The boy has quite recovered from the shock. He told his mother that he thought the tidal wave had struck him.

The following story, which will arouse the suspicions that the press agent has again been at work, eminated today from Young's pier: Miss Lillian Sinnott, who is only 14 years old, and plays the part of Miss Simplicity in "Lovers' Lane," had a narrow escape from drowning this morning. She was fishing in the net at Young's pier about 8 o'clock, when she fell in. Several fishermen jumped in after the young lady.

A big shark, which happened to be in the net went for them, but the men succeeded in beating it off, and with the assistance of several persons succeeded in rescuing Miss Sinnott and ascending the pier.

Miss Sinnott is none the worse for her experience and was seen in bathing later in the day.

SHAH ENJOYED BALLET.

Persian Ruler Given Noisy Reception at Empire Music Hall in London.

LONDON, Aug. 19.—The shah of Persia, who reached London yesterday as the guest of King Edward, was entertained tonight at the Empire Music hall. He went to the hall in a carriage, accompanied by the prince of Wales and escorted by a detachment of the Household cavalry.

The shah was received with loud cheers when he entered the building and he apparently enjoyed the ballet, the animated pictures and the other attractions offered.

Today the shah gave a reception to the members of the cabinet and the foreign diplomats in London and this afternoon he took a long drive.

MINDANAO DATOS SPEND STRENGTH IN TRIBAL WARS

Moros Fighting Among Themselves Will Make Subjection Easier for Americans.

PERSHING IS DIPLOMAT

Chiefs of Bocolod District Only Ones Who Still Breathe Defiance—Promise Warm Work for Advancing Troops—Friendly Natives Fearful.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

Manila, Aug. 19.—Capt. John J. Pershing of the Fifteenth cavalry, who is in command of the American column at Lanao, Mindanao, has reported a fierce Moro inter-tribal fight near Camp Vickers, Mindanao. The contending factions met at Webding. Thirty-five men were killed outright and many others were wounded. No Americans were concerned in the trouble.

Gen. Chaffee was expected to reach Cebu on the transport Ingalls this morning, but the vessel's arrival at that port has not yet been reported. It is possible that Gen. Chaffee has decided to shorten his trip to the southern islands and return to Manila direct. An order received from the war department at Washington, leaving action in the Moro situation to Gen. Chaffee's discretion has been transmitted to him in the south, but has probably not yet reached him.

It is believed here that Gen. Chaffee will increase the American forces on Mindanao and issue an ultimatum to the hostile Moros. There are at present 27,000 American troops in the Philippine Islands, a goodly portion of which could be spared for active service.

Pershing a Diplomat.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—Manila newspapers received at the war department contain important information concerning affairs in the islands. An account of the doings of Capt. J. J. Pershing of the Fifteenth cavalry, who is just now figuring in the disturbed districts of Mindanao, states that he has proved a diplomat with a majority of the Moros, but that nothing could be done, however, for the Moros in the Bacolod district. One of the sultans said to Capt. Pershing:

"The Bacolod Moros have deceived you in saying they wanted to be friends, as I know many of them are lying along the road waiting to attack the Americans."

Capt. Pershing undertook to ascertain the condition of Bacolod, and was informed by the sultan of Bacayuan that there were three forts, all of which were strong. The people had been strengthening them by lining them inside and out with stone, so that the projectiles of the Americans could not penetrate. He said that Bacolod had 300 men, but if the Americans went there the Moros adjacent would assist in the defense.

Friendship Means Death.

Other native chiefs informed Capt. Pershing that the sultan of Bacolod would kill them (the natives) if he knew they had been on friendly terms with the Americans.

The paper of the latest date states that many troops were being sent to Mindanao, and that it was the evident intention of the government to occupy the country around Lake Lanao, which would require a considerable number. It is said that the health conditions in this region were perfect and that soldiers could stay in such a climate and enjoy all the delights of Camp Meade, Pa.

LEISHMAN IN CHARGE.

State Department Confident He Will Circumvent Wily Sultan—Stone Abduction, an Added Straw.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 19.—It is admitted at the state department that there is a renewal of tension between the United States and Turkey, but the officials do not deem it prudent to disclose the present condition of affairs. They say, however, that the condition is in no way grave, but is of the straitened character that has occurred from time to time with Turkey in recent years.

It is gathered that the present tension grows out of the long pending claims of Americans who suffered loss during the Armenian outbreak. To some extent the Stone abduction gave added cause for irritation.

The American minister, Mr. Leishman, has been given wide latitude to deal with the situation as circumstances may demand. There is the fullest confidence on the part of the authorities here in the course being pursued by our minister, and it is not thought desirable to prejudice any steps he may be taking, by official comments.

A QUIET home wedding took place on Monday evening at 8 o'clock, the bride being Miss Gertrude A. Ridgeway, daughter of E. S. Ridgeway of Bigham street, Mt. Washington, and the bridegroom, John Burnett, a well-known contractor. The wedding was conducted quietly, only the immediate family friends being in attendance. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Mr. Reiter of the Mt. Washington Methodist Episcopal church, and was followed by the wedding supper. Later in the evening the bride and bridegroom took an eastbound train for Philadelphia, and will visit Atlantic City, New York, Boston and Washington, before their return to Pittsburgh. Their new home will be in Sheraden. The bride last evening wore a wedding gown of white silk trimmed with lace. Her flowers were lilies of the valley and orchids arranged in a shower bouquet. The decorations of the house were American Beauty roses. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Jennie Ridgeway, who was the maid of honor. Mr. Butterfield was the best man.

Pittsburgh Summer Travelers.

Mr. and Mrs. John G. Holmes have been spending a few days in New York on their return from a visit to Mr. and Mrs. Henry Clay Frick, who are occupying the Sears cottage at Brides Crossing, Beverly Farms, Mass.

Mrs. Edwin Kirtland Morse of North Craig street and her two daughters, Miss Edwina Boardman Morse and Miss Lucille Morse, leave this evening for Atlantic City to remain a month. They will stay at the Hotel Dennis. Mrs. Morse spent a portion of the summer at Poland, O., and at Saegertown, Pa.

Colonel and Mrs. A. S. M. Morgan of the Kenmawr, who have been abroad all summer, are expected home today.

Today Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Lansing Seymour of Wallingford street, and Mr. and Mrs. William S. Miller of Bayard street leave for a trip over the lakes. They will spend a couple of weeks in Canada before returning home.

Elected a Secretary.

The board of directors of the Twentieth Century club has elected a successor to Miss Lillian Marshall, who recently resigned as secretary of the club. Miss Elizabeth Reed of Sewickley was chosen to fill the position. Miss Anne S. Phipps, secretary of the board of directors, however, has not yet received Miss Reed's acceptance. Miss Reed has been for several years connected with the Woman's Industrial Exchange, and was selected by the board as especially fitted to act as the club secretary. The new secretary will not take up her duties at the club until the 1st of October, as Miss Marshall's resignation will not take effect before that time. Miss Marshall has been the secretary of the club ever since its organization. Her resignation was accompanied by the announcement of her engagement. The wedding will take place in October in St. Andrew's Protestant Episcopal church.

THE RIVER INTERESTS

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CINCINNATI, Aug. 19.—River at 6 p. m., 7 feet 8 inches and falling. Weather clear and pleasant. Packets in and out on time, but owing to low water and fog the Virginia was late in arriving. Business is brisk. The Avalon will arrive early in the morning from Memphis and reload for the same point. Capt. John H. Jones of Pittsburgh was a visitor on 'Change today. The Wash Honshell will arrive at midnight with empties from below. During the prospective lay-up of the Pittsburgh packets all of the boats will receive a thorough overhauling here. An effort will be made to raise the barge of coal which was sunk by the Hudson at the Kentucky pier of the suspension bridge.

LOUISVILLE—River falling. Canal, 4 feet 8 inches; falls, 2 feet 6 inches; foot of locks, 7 feet 6 inches. Business good. Weather clear and pleasant. Packets in and out on time. Harry Brown and tow from New Orleans due up tonight. She goes on up the river.

HUNTINGTON—River 6 feet 3 inches and falling. Down, Bonanza, 12 m. Local boats on time.

WHEELING—River, 3 feet 7 inches, falling slowly. Showers. Departed, Keystone State, Cincinnati, 10 a. m.; Bedford, Parkersburg, 11 a. m. Queen City arrived at 4 p. m., with passengers and freight by rail and will return for Cincinnati on Wednesday at 6 p. m.

BROWNSVILLE—River, 5 feet and stationary. Weather cloudy.

STEUBENVILLE—River, 2 feet 11 inches and falling. Clear and warm. Down, Keystone State, this morning.

WARREN—River, 8-10 and stationary. Weather fair and warm.

GREENSBORO—River, 6 feet 8 inches and falling. Warm and threatening. Elizabeth and the Cherry down Wednesday and the Gertrude and Woodward up.

MORGANTOWN—River, 7 feet and stationary. Weather cloudy and warm.

POINT PLEASANT—River, 3 feet 2 inches and falling. Partly cloudy and warm. Up, Defender, Greenwood, Emma Cooper.

PARKERSBURG—River, 5 feet and falling. Clear and warm. Valley Belle left for Middleport at 5 p. m., Ben Hur for Wheeling at 4 p. m., Keystone State due for Cincinnati at 10 p. m.

COAL FLEETS ACCUMULATING.

Much Loaded Craft Being Held in Pools for Southern Shipment.

A large amount of coal is accumulating in the pools of the Monongahela river for southern shipment. On account of the low condition of the river no coalboats can be dropped out of the pools into the harbor.

For more than a week the rivermen have been anxiously waiting for the rain which the weather bureau predicted would come, but in vain, and until there are heavy rains to replenish the creeks and other tributaries of the Monongahela river no heavy coal craft can be brought into the harbor.

Barges are being moved freely. There is a large amount of empty craft in the pools of the Monongahela to be loaded with coal. The low stage of water in the Ohio has prevented a number of towboats from coming to Pittsburgh with empty fleets. Very few towboats, however, are moving between Wheeling and Cincinnati.

News of the Rivers.

The steamer Bessie Smith turned back from Rochester. She was aground for a short time near Haysville, but got off.

Mrs. Foster, the wife of Charles F. Foster of the Anchor line, and children leave in a few days for Sea Isle City to spend the remainder of the summer.

The closing of navigation on the Ohio river shuts off the business of many hucksters who weekly brought large consignments of poultry and eggs to Pittsburgh.

At 8 o'clock last night the steamer Kanawha left Rochester for Charleston. She may be able to come to Pittsburgh next week, but this is only possible in the event of a rise.

The towboats W. W. O'Neil, with 26 coalboats, 2 model and 6 square barges; Exporter, with 22 coalboats, and Wash Honshell, with 13 coalboats, arrived at Louisville Sunday from below and cleared for Pittsburgh.

The hearing in the collision case between the Vulcan and T. J. Wood was held yesterday by the local inspectors. The Wood lost about 10 wheel-arms and the Vulcan had a number of plates in her stern bulkhead shoved out.

At Howard's shipyard the keel and grub streaks for a magnificent cottonseed barge have been laid. It will be 110 feet long, 30 feet wide and 5½ feet deep; to be the property of the Capital City Oil Company of Baton Rouge, La.

Rivermen say that if Uncle Sam would rush improvements on the upper Ohio river there would be no need of stopping navigation at this season of the year. It has been 10 years since work on the Merrill dam was started and it is not yet finished.

The steel tipple which has been under construction at the Hitchman coal works at McMechen, near Wheeling, is nearing completion. It is 40 feet high and extends from the works to the river, across the south side of the Baltimore & Ohio yard, which is a distance of 200 feet.

The steamer Virginia may quit on her arrival at Wheeling. It all depends on conditions. The Keystone State and Queen City likely will lay up at Cincinnati on their arrival there. The Queen City sent her passengers to Pittsburgh yesterday from Wheeling by rail and the boat turned back from there this morning.

At Lockport a drove of 40 hogs turned from the drivers and ran into the city. The town marshal captured them and charged the owner 25 cents for each before releasing them. The bill was paid, but before the gruniers reached the boat they turned and again got into the town, and the marshal got his fee the second time on every one of them.

Col. Theodore Poe, the weather prophet of the Pittsburgh & Cincinnati Packet line, still has a few days' grace in which to bring the rise which he has predicted for August 26. A great many fishermen, however, believe that the colonel has long since passed into the same class with Col. Frank Ridgway of the weather bureau. Col. Ridgway has been predicting rain for one week.

The steamer Elizabeth did not depart for Morgantown yesterday afternoon until 4:30 o'clock, having been detained by heavy receipts of freight. It was one of the best days in the history of the Elizabeth. Besides a large number of short-trip passengers the boat carried 22 round trippers to Morgantown, a fair-sized crowd for one day. The boats of the new line will be well filled all week.

$5.00 Niagara Falls and Return $5.00 Saturday, August 23d. Via Pennsylvania Railroad.

CHAMPIONS TURNED TRICK IN NINTH---YOUNG CORBETT IS SANGUINE

THE PIRATES PLUCKED GAME FROM THE FIRE

It Was Up to Wagner in the Ninth and Honus Made Good.

THE GIANTS FOUGHT HARD

New Yorkers Put Up a Great Game and Hit Chesbro's Curves With a Vengeance—The Stirring Finish Brought Cheers from the Crowd.

Talk about pulling games out of the fire and all that sort of thing, but the Pirates made a finish yesterday that was the crackerjack of the season. It was one of those finishes that the ball cranks love to talk about, because it brought victory where sure defeat stared the team in the face, and it set the 1,875 spectators wild with joy and made them cheer and slap each other on the back in the ecstacy of their delight. The final score was: Pittsburgh 5, New York 4.

The champions had been making a game fight of it all through, with New York making a determined stand and playing the kind of ball that wins pennants. The battle had been a stubborn one all the way, the locals starting off with a lead of two, which the visitors evened up before the contest was half over. Then the Giants shot one ahead, only to be overtaken by the champions in the eighth. In the ninth, by hard work, the visitors got one to the good, and that was the way things stood when the champions' half of the ninth was reached. A few of the spectators thought it was all over and started home to supper. It is good betting that these few will hold a grudge against themselves for the rest of the season.

Chief Was Not Fast Enough.

The first Pirate up in the never-to-be-forgotten ninth was Chief Zimmer, who stopped one of Miller's speedy ones with his broad shoulders and ambled down to first. Then Deacon Phil was sent in to bat for Chesbro, and the Deacon, following instructions, bunted. The Chief was too slow of action and Bowerman had the ball at second before Zimmer could reach that bag, though the Deacon got to first. Beaumont was there all right and laced a pretty single to right, on which the Deacon raced to third, reaching that bag after a nice long slide.

Tommy Leach was next up and the crowd cheered, because Tommy is about as sure a hitter as there is on the team. In the first inning he had slammed the ball down against the pennant pole for a home run. There was blood in Tommy's eye as he strode to the plate, but the best he could do was a fly to short left, which Shortstop Dunn gathered in. As Dunn stood nursing the ball and watching the Deacon on third Beau took advantage of the opportunity to place himself on the second cushion.

Then Came the Mighty Honus.

When Honus Wagner appeared at the plate, bat in hand, the crowd sent up a mighty cheer. It was up to Honus, and as he is acting captain in the absence of Fred Clarke he knew himself that great things were expected from him. The first two balls that Pitcher Miller sent in were strikes, and on each strike the crowd groaned. The third one was too high for Honus, who stood still, but the fourth one was the ball he had been waiting for, and he didn't do a thing to it. There was a sound like the fall of a trip hammer and the ball sped like a rifle shot down between third and short. Dunn tried to reach it, but he might just as well have clutched at the setting sun. The runners speeded toward the plate and as Left Fielder Browne gathered the sphere up and shot it at Bowerman, Beaumont crossed the plate with the run that won the game.

It was indeed a sensational finish, and the crowd cheered as only a baseball crowd can, while our old favorite, "Steve" Brodie, the hardest loser in the business, stamped about the field and called Wagner and everybody else all kinds of names. The crowd lingered in the stands to cheer the players as they proceeded to the club house, and everybody, except the New York players, went home happy to supper.

The game all the way was a very enjoyable one, with a sufficient number of sensational plays to keep up the excitement. Chesbro pitched for the champions, but he was not in his best form, and at times was hit rather freely. Miller pitched fairly good ball for New York and the Giants put up a great game behind him.

How the Runs Were Scored.

The Pirates scored one in the first when Tommy Leach drove the ball to the flag pole for a home run. One in the second when Burke reached first on Miller's bad throw, went to second on O'Connor's out at first and scored on Zimmer's infield single. In the eighth Ritchey was hit by the pitcher, went to second on Conroy's sacrifice and scored on Burke's single to center. The champions' other two runs have already been accounted for.

The Giants scored two in the third inning as a result of a wild throw by Conroy, a single by Dunn and a three-bagger to right by Bresnahan. They got another in the sixth when Brodie singled and got around on Bowerman's single, a life to Lauder, who forced Bowerman at second and a single by Smith. In the ninth Lauder led off with a single, took second when Miller was hit with a pitched ball and scored on Browne's single to left.

NOTES OF THE GAME.

George Smith's Allegheny friends, and he has a host of them, got a chance to cheer their favorite in the fourth inning, when the Allegheny boy chased away down into right field and gobbled Chief Zimmer's fly. The catch was both difficult and pretty and George richly earned the hearty applause accorded him by the spectators.

When Burke attempted to steal second in the eighth Jack O'Connor tried his level best to help the steal along. Rowdy jumped in front of Bowerman, swung his bat wildly and was guilty of everything but hugging the Giants' catcher. The scheme failed to work, however, as Bowerman side-stepped, made a pretty throw and Burke was nailed as he slid in.

In the first inning, after Browne had singled, he attempted to steal second, and in sliding for the bag his spikes caught Ritchey on the shin and cut him painfully. Chief Zimmer, who went out to tender advice, shouted on his return to the plate, "One toe was cut off, but it will play the game with the other four." Ritchey did play the game and played it well.

That Bowerson fellow who once upon a time was a player on the Pittsburgh team, contributed his fair share toward a Giant victory yesterday afternoon. Out of four times at bat, Mike got a single, a triple and his fourth effort was a good one, but his old side partner, Clarry Beaumont, got under the ball and pulled it in, much to Bowerman's disgust.

Chesbro was not in his best pitching form yesterday, but there were times when he was at himself. For instance, in the seventh inning when Dunn was at bat, Happy Jack shot the first three balls right over the pan and Dunn was called out on strikes, he never having attempted to swing on any of the balls. It takes nerve for a pitcher to do a thing of that kind.

J. Leach was on first in the fifth, with Wagner at bat and they decided to try the hit and run act. Miller pitched the ball wide and Tommy started for second. Honus couldn't reach the ball, so he fired his bat at it and the result was a pop fly, which McGann gathered in and Tommy fell an easy victim, as he could not get back to first in time, though he made a hard try for it.

J. Mugsy McGraw did not join the Giants here yesterday as was expected, but sent a telegram saying he was on the way to consult with John T. Brush at Indianapolis, and had with him the contract of the best shortstop in the country for next season. It is thought the player Mugsy has corralled is Coughlin, the sensational young player of the Washington team, who is a star all right.

Tommy Leach's home run in the first inning was a thing of beauty. The ball went on a line to middle field and when Brodie tried to intercept it the sphere bounded, struck Steve a blow on the cranium and continued its flight until the pennant pole was reached. Tommy went around the bases with the speed of the limited express and was over the home plate before the ball got back to the infield.

Bowerman's instruction to Pitcher Miller was to keep the ball close to Beaumont's body. When Clarence appeared at bat Miller followed instructions, but Beau was not biting on the close ones yesterday and as a result got two full passes to first. Bowerman's scheme was to keep Clarence from bunting and he succeeded, but Beau got his base just the same and without having to do a sprint for it.

Dunn and Bresnehan got mixed in their signs in the fifth inning and the Pirates as a result got an easy double play. Dunn was on first and Bresnehan at bat and the duo was out for the hit and run game, but it failed to work. Ritchey got the ball and decided it to Conroy at second, who shot it to O'Connor at first. Bresnehan fairly beat run out his hit and he got a call-down from his fellow players.

If the Giants had played all season as they did yesterday the team would not be holding down last place in the league race. The players showed yesterday that they know how to play the game, and there is no good reason why the same kind of work should not be produced every day. It was that kind of play that won four games for them at Chicago, and if kept up will win a whole lot more before the season is over.

That ninth inning finish yesterday was a hair-raiser and no mistake. The Pirates' chances did not look like one in a hundred when the final inning was reached, and that never say die spirit displayed by the players is the kind of stuff the patrons of the game like to see. The wind up put the crowd in the jolliest kind of humor and every one, except, of course, the short-enders, wore a smile when departing from the park.

Some spectators were wondering why Umpire O'Day allowed Christy Mathewson, who was on the New York players' bench, to keep up a continuous chatter of instructions all afternoon. He not only tried to coach the Giants from the bench, but kept shouting at the Pirates, particularly at the critical stages. Players who are playing the game should be made to keep quiet and it's the umpire's duty to look after things of that kind.

P. A. C. GOT REVENGE.

Defeated Atlantic City Team in Hard Fought Game.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 19.—(Special.)—Coleman and P. A. C. got sweet revenge on Atlantic City today. In a see-saw game fought bitterly throughout the P. A. C. team showed its true form by fighting it out and winning in the ninth. Coleman pitched superbly, as he did on last Saturday, and his hit, followed by Fohl's home run, won the game in the last inning. Salmon played a great game, but the greatest work ever seen here was the catching of Fohl. He put out six men at the plate on close plays. His hitting also counted strongly. Bray hit the ball hard and the Atlantic City team played their usual strong game. P. A. C. played well and pulled out of many bad holes. Coleman pitched best when things looked worst. Atlantic City had two men on bases in the ninth, but Jim Rodgers pulled down a long fly and the agony ended.

Verners Beat the Keeches.

The Verners defeated the W. H. Keeches last evening at Friendship park. The famous Irregulars will be Verners' opponents in what will probably be the last twilight game of the season at Friendship park. Welch will pitch for the Verners. The strong Iroquois team will be at Friendship park Saturday. Welch or Beer will pitch for the Verners and Burns for Iroquois. The champion Homesteads will be at Friendship park Monday. Coleman, who is with P. A. C. at Atlantic City, will likely pitch this game. Score of last evening's game:

CAN TAKE A BEER OR TWO IF WISHED

CINCINNATI'S NEW OWNERS ARE NOT FOR TEMPERANCE.

Say the Players Drink Anyway and There's No Use Fooling With Rules or Fines—The Pittsburgh Club Has Followed This Style.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CINCINNATI, O., Aug. 19.—A very radical departure from the old rules governing the Cincinnati ball team has been made by the new owners of the club, and voiced especially by President Herrmann. When a member of the Reds wishes his beer he may take it when and where he likes without fear of managerial rebuke.

"They all drink when they like anyway," said President Herrmann last night, "and they are right to do so. I don't believe in a rule which requires a man to tell or act a lie, and I don't think a few glasses of beer will hurt any ball player. I was with Kelley this afternoon in the company of Mr. Cox, and we had several little glasses of beer in 'the little grocery' across from the entrance to the ball park. I invited Kelley to come up to Wielert's and drink beer with us whenever he felt like it. Kelley is a very intelligent fellow and an interesting man to talk to. He is not the man to drink more than he can carry. I think that a ball player who has no more self control than to get drunk is likely to be a bad ball player at any time. On the other hand I believe that a ball player who drinks beer is all right as long as he doesn't get drunk. His drinking will not do him any harm. It may do him good."

This is not a new move in baseball, but is simply following out the lines observed by the officials of the champion Pittsburgh team. Neither President Dreyfuss nor Manager Clarke expects the Pirates' players to live an effficial life of strict sobriety and they are pretty much at liberty to do as they please in the drinking line. The only thing required of them is not to sneak off into out of way saloons to do their drinking, but step right in no matter whether the manager or president is present.

It is a fact that Manager Clarke advises some of his players to drink a glass of beer or two after a game when it is found that water will not quench the thirst. This is particularly true of the pitchers, whose hard work during the afternoon leaves them with but little energy after a closely played game. There are several players on the Pittsburgh club roll who never drink, summer or winter, but there are others who like a beer or two and there are no rules or fines staring them in the face to prevent their drinking if they desire.

LUCIEN APPLEBY'S RACE.

Defeated Favorite in Second Event at Hawthorne.

CHICAGO, ILL., Aug. 19.—Lucien Appleby, backed from 5 to 1 to 9 to 2 at post time, won the second race at Hawthorne today with two lengths to spare over Wainamoinen, the heavily backed favorite. At the head of the stretch Wainamoinen had a clear lead of three lengths and looked a winner, but Lucien Appleby closed with a vicious rush and was going away at the end. Bragg, the second choice in the betting, finished third, two lengths back of Wainamoinen. Judicious at odds of 10 to 1, won the third race because of a miserable ride by Helgeson on Matin Bell, which should have won easily. The other four events were won by second choices and outsiders in the betting, not a single favorite reaching the wire in front. Weather cloudy and cool; track dead. Summaries:

First race, five and one-half furlongs—Lady Jocelyn, 108, Winkfield, 9 to 5, won; Airlight, 112, Knight, 7 to 1, second; Adios, 105, Coburn, 8 to 1, third. Time, 1:09¾. Flo Carline, Belle Graham, Chicago Girl and Purse also ran.

Second race, one mile—Lucien Appleby, 105, Buchanan, 9 to 2, won; Wainamoinen, 99½, Birkenruth, 7 to 5, second; Bragg, 105, Rausch, 4 to 1, third. Time, 1:43¾. Melegante, Autumn Leaves, Hargis and Water Edge also ran.

Third race, seven furlongs—Judicious, 101, Wolfe, 10 to 1, won; Matin Bell, 101, Helgeson, 11 to 2, second; Emathion, 110, Winkfield, 3 to 1, third. Time, 1:30¾. Red Tip, Aules, Lass of Langdon, Somersault, Leviathan, Miss Ermine, Parham, Tommy Foster and Lou Woods also ran.

Fourth race, mile and an eighth—John McGurk, 101, J. Walsh, 7 to 1, won; Scotch Plaid, 110, Helgeson, 9 to 2, second; Orontas, 108, Blake, 5 to 2, third. Time, 1:54¾. Jiminiz, Favonius and Strangest also ran.

Fifth race, seven furlongs—Ramiro, 106, Winfield, 12 to 1, won; Rolling Boer, 109, Buchanan, 4 to 1, second; Headwater, 114, Knight, 8 to 1, third. Time, 1:29. Duelist, Russellton, Constellator, Joe Frey and Domadge also ran.

Sixth race, mile and a quarter—Little Elkin, 101, Robbins, 4 to 1, won; Edith Q., 104, Birkenruth, 30 to 1, second; Ravensbury, 100, Buchanan, 2½ to 1, third. Time, 2:08¼. Beulah, Miss Liza, Ida V., Crest, G. W. W. and Jack Doyle also ran. Hayward Hunter left at post.

Entries at Hawthorne tomorrow:

First race, seven furlongs—Cornelian, 117; Russellton, 114; She Wins, Light Wind, Siesta, Ailina Abbott, 112; Mackey, Temper, 110; Ran After, Wild Oats, Frank Mc, 107; Hopefield, Herse, The Rabbit, Blessed Damozel, 105.

Second race, six furlongs—Semicolon, 114; McChesney, 113; Georgie, Little Duchess II., 112; Nellie Waddell, Herodiade, 110; Jane Holly, Taipa, 108; George Fabb, 107; Golden Glitter, 105.

Third race, six furlongs—Joe Buehley, 107; Prince of Endurance, 106; Pennant, Philo, 105; Egg Nogg, Pericles, 103; Adirondack, 100; Whiten, 95; Vesta, 90.

Fourth race, one mile—Toah, 110; Alard, 109; Searcher, 107; Brulare, 106; Nitrate, 105; Caliban, 98; Strangest, 94; Eva Rice, 93; Thurles, 92.

Fifth race, seven furlongs—Fridolin, 101; Frank M., 107; Royal Penny, Kazan, 106; Scotch Plaid, Red Apple, Layia, 105; Essence, Alee, Cherries, 103; Dare Secret, 99; Emma A., 98; Pretorius, Declarmer, 96.

Sixth race, mile and a half—Lizzella, 110; G. W. W., 105; Compass, 103; Little Elfain, Brutal, 100.

CRAWFORD MAY JUMP.

He Is the Only Red Who Will Not Sign a Contract.

CINCINNATI, Aug. 19.—Jacob Beckley, first baseman, has signed a contract with the Cincinnati Baseball club, National league, for next season. Later, Hahn, Phillips and Peitz also signed for next season. Seymour, Kelly, Donlin and Maloney had previously signed for next season, and it is thought that President August Herrman

STEEL WORKERS WERE SHUT OUT BY THE CUBANS

Romero's Pitching Was Too Much for Risher's Batters.

GAME WAS A GOOD ONE

It Was Full of Exciting Plays and the Spectators Fully Appreciated Them—Visitors Can Put Up Some Very Fast Ball.

The All-Cubans yesterday took the fifth and deciding game from the H. L. A. C. at Steel Works park in another fine contest. The game was lost through the inability of the home players to hit Romero effectually, while the Cubans hit when hits were needed and fielded more effectually than the Homestead men. The Cubans were all life through all of the game.

The first run of the visitors was obtained in the fourth inning. Valdez singled and went home on the two-base hit of M. Pratts. Martinez got a base on an error by Nagle and stole second. Martinez tried to steal home but was called out for forgetting to touch third base.

In the eight inning Homestead made a strong bid for a score, but failed. The Cubans added another in the ninth, Durdon getting a base on an error by McClosky. He was advanced to second and third by Martinez's hit and got home on Corilio's single. Martinez got to third and Corilio to second, and it looked as though they would score again, but E. Pratts retired the side by a slow grounder to Bennett. The work of Bennett and Valdez at the bat was notable yesterday, each obtaining three hits. Score:

GOT A GOOD START.

Punxsy Took Another Game from Johnstown.

PUNXSUTAWNEY, PA., Aug. 19.—(Special.)—Punxsutawney found Johnstown's pitcher for seven scores early in the game today and then jollied O'Neil until the latter, taking offense in the eighth inning at a decision by the umpire, refused to preside in the box and retired to right field. After the scrimmage over the affair Johnstown took a brace and gave the home team a close run for victory. Clark again distinguished himself at second base for the locals, and "Heavy" Gessler did a sensational stunt by throwing from deep center to home, catching a Johnstowner running from third. They play here tomorrow. Score:

AMONG THE ACATEURS.

The Clippers of Lawrenceville will play at Bridgeville next Saturday.

The Casino A. C. desires to arrange two games for Labor Day with some good out-of-town team. Address A. A. Mahaffey, 2225 Center avenue.

Any 10 or 20-year-old team having grounds and wishing Sunday games, can secure same by addressing Lawrence Sipe, Box 42, Station A, Pittsburgh.

The H. W. Mawhinneys will play the W. T. Wards Saturday and all players are requested to report for practice at Riverview grounds Thursday evening.

Lafayette would like to arrange a game for Saturday with some good out-of-town team having grounds. Address J. C. Feldheimer, 1030 Cherry street, Allegheny.

Oakmont would like to hear from strong amateur teams for a game on Saturday, August 23, either at home or abroad. Address room 411, Union Station, Pittsburgh.

The Beaver A. C. plays Mifflin Saturday and Sycamore on Sunday. All players are urged to report early for practice Thursday evening, as something of importance is to be acted on.

Oakmont would like to hear from strong teams having inclosed grounds for games August 30, September 1 or any following Saturday in September. Address room 411, Union Station, Pittsburgh.

The manager of the Manchester Athletic club wishes to call the attention to the meeting on Thursday evening at the home of Jas. Thum, 1004 Morrison avenue, and requests the presence of all members of the football team.

The National Tube Juniors would like to hear from the manager of the Highland A. C. with a view to arranging a game for Saturday that will be played on the Highland grounds. The N. T. Jrs. defeated them the last time, but would like another game from them. Otto Schwarm, 1st Pntbf. building.

The Windsors will be the attraction at the lawn fete to be held tonight for the benefit of the Swissvale A. C. ball team, the two teams participating in a twilight game, commencing at 6:30 sharp. Tarbox and Fox for the Windsors and Denny O'Hara or Stewart for Swissvale. After the game there will be footracing, music, etc., for the balance of the evening.

The Melvin football team holds a meeting Wednesday evening at Lowrys, 2507 Hallet street, at 8 p. m. The following members please attend: Campbell, Tarbox, Boyle, Ewing, S. Ewing, G. Hook, T. Hook, Eichel, Stutzman, Barr, Smith, McCandless, Jennings, Donley, Gallagher, Gusky and Levy. Important business.

The Melvin A. C. will play the Brushton A. C. at Brushton next Saturday. A good game is expected as both teams have been winning right along. The manager of the Brushtons is requested to call on Chas. Comfort, 5939 Hebron Herbertson. For a game August 30 some good team should address R. H. Herbertson, 2107 Wylie avenue, city.

It is said that the Fort Pitt Supply A. C. has not yet realized they were defeated last Saturday in a baseball game with the Wilkinsburg High School team, as they published Sunday that their defeat was by the score of 8 to 5 and 6. The correct score was 8 to 7 for High School. Better management advises Fort Pitt to cut out such baseball tactics and play clean ball. Respectfully, R. W. R., Manager W. and S. Baseball club.

Owing to the fact that the game Sunday called for the Tizer A. C. was a fizzle, it is wished by the management that all the players and those wishing to play for this year's team, please report on the 1027 Lacock street grounds, Wood place, Allegheny, next Monday evening, August 25, at 8 o'clock. Showers, Robson, Driggs, Burry, Cassel, Thompson, Tiernan, Emanuel, Weydell, Meyer, McAleer, Mulhern, Glenn, Hunter, Hersberger (Ralph), Reiter, Briney and Meyers are especially requested to report. All 90 to 100-pound teams with grounds can secure games by addressing Clarence Reiter, 525 Hemlock street, Allegheny.

The Woodlake A. C. will play the strong Waldorfs Saturday on the Woodlake grounds, and a good game is looked for, as both teams are among the best in the two cities. Magnus or Matthews will be on the firing line for the Waldorfs, while Red Beerman will do the stunts for the Woodlake A. C. All the following Woodlake players must report for practice Friday evening without fail; also Sunday at 10 a. m., with uniforms, as they will have their pictures taken: Doran, Carroll, Pittner, Henry, Edwards, White, Willi, J. Buerger, F. Buerger, Wilson Beerman, Thorn, Bradley, Zeger and Miller. The Woodlakes still have some September and October dates open and would like to hear from all first-class amateur teams. Address Frank J. Buerger, 188 Mayflower street, East End.

BULLS RESTIVE IN EXPECTATION OF BOSS' ARRIVAL

All Sorts of Things Anticipated in Wall Street When Morgan Arrives.

FOOLED THEM ALL ONCE

Speculators Used His Prestige and He Used Them as Dumping Ground for High Priced Stocks—Colorado Fuel Row Approaches Crisis.

[BY LEASED WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

New York, Aug. 19.—Mr. Morgan is expected back tomorrow. The bull party has been making a stir incident to his home coming. The Louisville & Nashville deal is going to be settled forthwith, in anticipation of which the stock has been advanced this week to one high record after another. It made a new high record price today at 157½. United States Steel is going to be handsomely bulled, the common to at least 50. The anthracite coal strike is going to be settled as soon as Mr. Morgan gets around to it. It would require a great deal of space to enumerate all else that is going to happen.

It needs hardly to be remarked that most of these things are in the category of pure conjecture. Mr. Morgan's return from abroad last year was productive of speculative sentiment very similar to that that now prevails, and the stock market community was deeply disappointed. In the language of the west, Wall street was "fooled up a lot." Instead of marking out a bull market Mr. Morgan, as was afterward suspected, improved the opportunity to sell a great many stocks. It is quite possible that an equal measure of disappointment is in store for those who are buying stocks in anticipation of a rousing bull market on this occasion.

Some Will, Some Will Not Occur.

There is no doubt at all that the Louisville & Nashville deal will be closed up, but this has been foregone from the beginning. As for the coal strike, the talk of Mr. Morgan's using his influence to settle it on any kind of a compromise basis is the sheerest nonsense. It is violating no confidence to say that the policy pursued by the operators from the beginning of the trouble has been shaped largely by Mr. Morgan. It was he who was most determined that no political or other outside influence should be permitted to weigh in this controversy. He has insisted from the beginning that the thing should be fought out to a finality along the lines which in 1900 the operators were forced to abandon.

It is doubtful whether the return of Mr. Morgan will immediately alter the essential aspects of the market situation beyond the settling up of the Louisville & Nashville affair and some other matters which have been holding open. Mr. Morgan was a bull when he went away, and from accounts he comes home in that same mood. The moral effect of his presence, of course, will count for nothing, but whether it will put Steel common up to 50 and advance Southern Railway 10 points may be reasonably regarded as doubtful.

Keene Promises Some Action.

It is anounced that the return of James R. Keene, who follows close in the wake of Mr. Morgan and is expected to arrive about Saturday, will be the signal for more aggressive bull tactics in Southern Pacific. The house of Talbot J. Taylor & Co., where Mr. Keene makes his Wall street headquarters, and where, also, the Southern Pacific pool centers, has spent a lot of time and money getting up pretentious bullish literature on Southern Pacific stock, and this will be distributed with the arrival of Mr. Keene. Southern Pacific made a new high record price today at 73½. It is evident that the bull pool was not taken unawares by the news of the proposed issue of $100,000,000 bonds. It will be necessary, however, to find some speculative influences other than the prospect of early dividends on which to advance the stock. Inside interests discourage talk of dividends at any near date, and state frankly that a great deal of money will have to be spent on the property in order to bring it up to Harriman ideas. Attractive subscription "rights" doubtless will accrue from the bond issue.

The Colorado Fuel row is fast approaching a climax. At the annual meeting tomorrow the tale will unfold. As previously stated in this correspondence, the Osgood people have been depending largely upon their superior knowledge of the more or less intricate corporation laws of Colorado.

There is no doubt about the Gates party's commanding an overwhelming majority of the stock, but because these holdings have not been transferred on the Colorado books it may be impossible for the Gates crowd to carry the meeting.

Sure Thing Not a Certainly.

At the office of Harris, Gates & Co. in Wall street there is a great deal of uncertainty as to this transfer feature of the case. The stock exchange authorities are also ignorant of the Colorado laws and cannot say whether stock registered here and not registered in Colorado can be voted at the meeting. "Charlie" Gates said today that the Osgood faction had been resorting to some desperate tricks and might succeed in retaining control for awhile.

The up-bidding of Louisville & Nashville today was by the same brokers that have been marking the stock up for a fortnight. Interests who are identified with the Gates-Hawley coup assert that the deal is to be quietly arranged immediately upon the return of Mr. Morgan, and that 7 per cent will be guaranteed on Louisville & Nashville. Professional information is that the stock will be advanced to 175, or to a 7 per cent dividend basis. A positive demand has lately appeared in London for "calls" on the stock. The English option writers are understood to be heavily short of the stock by virtue of their outstanding privileges. It is a mistake, though, ever to suppose that London option writers get hurt. Privilege writing in London has been reduced to a precise science and is not conducted on speculative lines at all. The authors of privileges may be technically short of a stock, but they are protected to the smallest fraction on all of their transactions.

Pool Openly Announced.

In the case of a new industrial company it is a common thing for inside interests to pool a lot of stock, set a minimum price on it and then to operate in the market, buying and selling the shares and distributing profits pro rata. The United Box & Paper company interests are the first, however, openly and authoritatively to announce the existence of such a pool. The news has been given to all financial newspapers that the directors and many of the large stockholders of this new company have pooled more than half of the entire capital stock and have set a minimum price of 92½ on the preferred and 40 on the common. The stock is deposited with a trust company. The life of the pool is limited to one year. The object, of course, is to facilitate the making of an attractive market for the stock.

A noteworthy feature of the market was the revival of bullish activity in a price at 34½. Other prominent specialties were Wisconsin Central, Detroit Southern, St. Joe & Grand Island, Des Moines & Ft. Dodge, Evansville & Terre Haute, Denver & Rio Grande, M., K. & T., Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic and the "Soo" issues. Several of these recorded very sharp gains.

Some Active Dealing in Wall Street

DEALINGS TOOK AN ACTIVE TURN IN WALL STREET

The Really Striking Gains, However, Were in Few Stocks.

MORGAN HAD INFLUENCE

Approaching Return of the Napoleon of Finance Was Cause for Renewed Demonstration—Less Tendency to Flurry in Money Market.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

New York, Aug. 19.—There were more shares of stock sold on the exchange today than yesterday, dealings rising again over the half million share mark. The market took on a fair appearance of average strength, but an analysis will show that the gains in the majority of usually active stocks are fractional, while the really striking gains are confined to a few spots in the market.

The dealings were largely in professional hands and were supposed to reflect the operations of speculative pools, in cluding some of the prominent capitalists of the country. The situation of affairs was not materially changed from that of yesterday and the new demonstration of strength was based largely on the approaching return to New York of J. P. Morgan, which has caused a renewal of many long current rumors of financial projects and railroad deals, which are supposed to await his action to be put into force.

The most prominent of these in its effect upon the speculation is the formulation of a plan for control of Louisville & Nashville. There seems a fairly general agreement that this plan will take the form of a guarantee of a dividend on Louisville & Nashville, commonly supposed to have been fixed at 7 per cent.

Southern Stocks Affected.

The movement led by Louisville made itself felt in other southern stocks, notably Illinois Central and Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis. Norfolk & Western and Chesapeake & Ohio were also supposed to derive some benefit from this cause, although the advance in Pennsylvania and Baltimore & Ohio pointed speculation on the soft coal traffic.

A settlement of the coal strike and a decision on the presidency of the United States Steel corporation are also supposed to await Mr. Morgan's action. The upward movement in Southern Pacific was aggressively renewed today for the first time since the announcement of the protested $100,000,000 mortgage to provide funds for betterments. This movement was also associated with the homeward bound movement of a well-known speculative leader, who has operated largely in it in the past.

Canadian Pacific and its subsidiary companies form another center which rated strength and the gossip to account for the rise pointed to efforts by that company to secure an entrance into Chicago. The strength of Wisconsin Central and of the Chicago Terminal stocks seemed due to the same rumor. There were various other points of strength in the market, but all seemed equally due to special causes.

Money Flurry Decreased.

The money market was not appseciably easier, although there was less tendency to flurry than yesterday. The rate for call loans was well sustained, however, at about 4¾ per cent for the largest part of the loans. The recent rapid downward course of foreign exchange was arrested and there was a tendency to recovery in that market.

Some selling of stocks here for London account was a factor in the firmer exchange market. It became known today that $500,000 in gold was shipped out of the country yesterday to Buenos Ayres, supposed to be for the purpose of moving the crops there. A violent break of 6 points in Colorado Fuel followed a suggestion that the struggle for control of the property might throw it into the hands of a receiver. The stock rallied 3½. The market closed dull and irregular.

Liquidation in Central of Georgia income bonds was continued and made the bond market irregular. Total sales par value $1,825,000. United States bonds were all unchanged on the last call.

WALL STREET FEATURES.

Total sales for the day were 571,100 shares.

Dealings took an active turn, but the strong gains were in few stocks.

Approaching return of J. P. Morgan had stimulating effect on the market.

Lively movement in Louisville & Nashville advanced other southern railroad stocks.

Less apprehension about the condition of the money market was apparent.

Talked About in Wall Street

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—The Herald this (Wednesday) morning says:

There was a revival of pool and clique operations all along the line in Wall street yesterday, which resulted in an expansion of business and numerous sharp advances in prices. Commission houses reported very little change in the character of the dealings, which were regarded as almost entirely of a professional nature. There was a rather poor distribution of activity and the specialties of the list felt the chief force of the movement. However, the operations were conducted aggressively, leaving no doubt as to the intention of the manipulators to attempt a revival of a movement for the advance timed to the homecoming of Mr. Morgan.

Little developed in the way of news having a direct bearing upon the general situation, aside from the changes in the money market. The professional character of the market was probably best disclosed through the fact that the notable hardening of time money and the sharp recovery in sterling exchange was void of influence. Deal rumors proved a potent factor in the market, and were freely circulated to give explanation for the movements in the specialties in connection with which there were no developments. The western element was exceedingly active in some of the minor properties. Crop and weather advices for the day were somewhat more favorable.

London prices came generally higher and cable advices reported a somewhat better tone to the American security market abroad. Foreigners sold on balances, however. The transactions for foreign account were estimated at about 35,000 shares, of which 25,000 were sales. London sold Southern Pacific on the bond proposition and was reported as buying some Union Pacific. The dealing, however, was not regarded as of much significance.

Colorado Fuel sustained a net decline of 5¾ points during the morning on a selling movement, the reasons for which were hard to determine. The bitter contest between the Gates and Osgood factions for the control of the company, which may be decided today, was thought to be responsible for the drive against the stock, in that many charges and counter-charges of wrecking the company were made. The denunciations of these factions hurled against each other, together with unpleasant allegations on past deals, assisted in developing a weak market for the company's stock.

White Will Spend Winter Abroad.

BERLIN, Aug. 19.—Andrew D. White, United States ambassador, has returned here for a few days' work before going to Switzerland, via the Rhine country, with his daughter, Mrs. Newberry, and her third son. Mr. White, after his retirement, will probably spend the winter in Switzerland and Italy, as he desires several months quiet work on the literary designs which he has in hand.

President Will Review Troops.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 19.—The war department is preparing an order for the army maneuvers to take place at Ft. Riley, Kan., in the latter part of September. The maneuvers will be timed to suit the president, who will review the troops. Several thousand regular and volunteer soldiers will appear.

Petroleum in Yucatan.

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 19.—There is much excitement in the peninsula of Yucatan, where petroleum has been discovered.

NEWS FROM THE MINES

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—A modern cutting and polishing plant is to be established at the tourmaline mines at Mesa Grande, Southern California, miles from the famous tourmaline mine near Camalilla, Mex., played out, this deposit is the only source of supply of these gems. They are found in outcropping ledges of white quartz, and are of all colors, with pink and green predominating. The mines are largely owned in New York.

Work has been resumed on the Centennial-Eureka, at Tintic, Utah, which stopped shipments about a year ago. In 20 months prior to the withdrawal of its ores from the market this property delivered 67,000 tons to the furnaces of the smelter trust. It is estimated that ore worth $14,000,000 is exposed in the mine.

Boston capitalists have bought the Cash Entry near Coviolton, N. M., and will build a plant for the treatment of lead and zinc, which abound in the district.

Minneapolis men have taken a three-year-lease of the old Dominion near Coiville, Wash., and will push development upon the property.

More gold will come out of the Nome district this season than during any previous year. The beaches are worked out, so far as rocking is concerned, but new machinery is being installed which will save much of the gold lost in the primitive rockers. The creeks are now being worked systematically, supplies are cheap and general affairs in a prosperous condition.

The old Stag at Idaho Springs, Col., is driving a crosscut tunnel from the Oneida mill to reach a large body of ore opened up in the upper workings.

A dispatch from Slocan, B. C., reports that American capitalists have acquired the Enterprise, Bonanza and Lucky creek. Ore shipments from the district are very heavy, the total last week being 201 tons.

Advices from Nelson, B. C., note that T. A. Noble and A. W. Coleman of Pittsburgh have bought the Ottawa on Springer creek, for $32,000. Twelve tons of ore from the Camborne crushed at the Granite mill resulted in a gold brick worth $400.

The Rising Fawn, Ressaca, Eleanor, Homer and Perry claims, near Kingman, Ariz., have been bonded to Messrs. T. E. Ludlam, mayor of Sea Island City, N. J.

The Tullaride (Col.) mill, which has been closed for repairs for three weeks, is running again with full tonnage capacity.

The Metal Market.

All metal markets were quiet today and so far as local prices were concerned there were no changes noted. Demand for tin was dull and spot was quoted at yesterday's figures of 26¾@25 40. Copper was also unchanged 0s, closing spot at £127 10s and futures at £123 12s 6d. Copper was just as dull. At the moment buyers are not in the market, yet there is no pressure to sell, and prices are therefore steady. Standard, spot, closed at $10 00@$11 25; lake, $11 50@11 70; electrolytic, $11 40@11 50. Copper in London improved 3s 9d, closing with spot at £51 13s 9d and futures at £52. Lead ruled quiet and steady at $4 12½ for spot. London advanced 1s 3d to £11 3s 9d for spot. Spelter abroad gained 2s 6d and closed at £18 15s for spot. The local price remained firm at $5 45. The foreign iron markets reported slight gains. Glasgow closed at 56s 6d and Middlesboro at 52s 3d. Locally, while the market had a firm undertone offerings were scarce and trade as a result dull; warrants were nominal. No. 1 foundry, northern, was quoted at $23 00@24 00; No. 2 foundry, northern, $22 00@23 00; No. 1 foundry, southern, $22 00@23 00; No. 1 foundry, southern soft, $22 00@23 00.

Wheat, Corn and Oats Higher

DEALING BRISK IN THE CHICAGO GRAIN MARKET

Unsettled Weather and Poor Grading Started the Support.

HIGHER AT THE CLOSE

Wheat, Oats and Corn Were Strong at the Finish—Provisions Also Took Upward Turn—Bulls Had the Better of the Argument.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

Chicago, Aug. 19.—Grain trade was restless and nervous today. The unsettled weather and poor grading of all grains, together with diminishing contract stocks, started a brisk early support. As usual, manipulation caused a setback, but excellent cash and seaboard business brought a rally in wheat, and other grains advanced sympathetically. At the close September wheat was 1c up, September corn ⅜@½c higher and September oats ⅝@⅞c higher. September provisions closed 2½c to 20c higher.

Strong northwestern markets had much to do with the upturn in wheat. Rains in Manitoba and the northwest made shorts nervous over the spring harvest situation. There also was fear of the manipulator and at the start there was a good spurt. September opened ¼@⅜c to ⅝@⅞c up at 69⅜c to 69¾c, and sold to 70c. The early demand soon fell off and trade grew somewhat dull.

Bulls, however, soon started up the argument of very little contract wheat and extremely poor grading. Receipts, northwestern and primary, were lighter than a year ago. A good cash business sprang up and the seaboard reported 24 loads taken for export.

Cables Were Firm.

Clearances at the seaboard equaled 901,000 bushels in wheat and flour, or 1,229,000 bushels in two days. This started a late reaction and September, which had dipped to 69¼@69⅝c on the lagging trade, closed strong 1@1⅛c up at 70¼c.

Cables were firm. Long holders let go on the bulges. Local receipts were 470 cars, three of contract grade; Minneapolis and Duluth reported 102 cars, making a total for the three points of 572 cars, against 622 last week and 809 a year ago. Primary receipts were 1,007,900 bushels, against 1,158,000 bushels. Bradstreets reported the visible supply increased 259,000 bushels.

Corn started strong on the weather and the wheat advance. Trade, however, was inclined toward dullness. Any little demand caused upturns because of the big short interest in September and the very light receipts. Stocks here decreased and the visible supply was lower by over 1,000,000 bushels. Cables were firm, but the cash demand was light.

Local Stocks Were Very Dull and the Market's Tone Was Easier

PHILADELPHIA CO. COMMON STOCK ACTIVE

Price Advanced to Par on Supposedly Eastern Buying Orders.

BANKING ISSUES FIRMER

Diamond National Made a New High Record and Real Estate Trust Co. Rallied $4—Steel, Coal and Window Glass Shares Dull.

The market on the Pittsburgh stock exchange yesterday was exceedingly dull and for a short time after the opening gong sounded there was hardly an effort to do any kind of business. During the first half hour only 125 shares changed hands and for awhile looked as if the day would be the record-breaker for dullness. Toward midday, however, the execution of a good-sized buying order in the general list for the time and business improved. Near the close it again lapsed into extreme dullness and finished in that condition. The tone was somewhat easier as a whole, though a few individuals manifested some little firmness. The principal activity of the day was in Philadelphia Company common which sold nearly 1,500 shares at 49¾@50c, most of that amount going at the top figure, which was a gain of ¼ for the day. The buying was principally by one house with close Philadelphia connections and was presumably upon orders from that city. The preferred did not sell but was steady at 49% bid. The banking group furnished something of interest and generally appeared firmer. Diamond National advanced $15 to $425 for 10 shares and more was wanted, the price being a new high figure. Real Estate Trust was firm and rallied $4 to $285, sales and bid, at the close. Cosmopolitan National bank sold 10 shares at 108½, a decline of 1½ and a new low record. The other members of the group were dull and neglected. Small lots of Allemannia Insurance sold at 62@69, a decline of $5 between sales. A. V. R. R. preferred was dull at 34½, a loss of ¼, and were offered after the sale at 34. American Window Glass common was very dull at 62½, a loss of ¼ and were offered at that figure. The other glass stocks were ignored. The steel issues were very dull and practically without features of any kind. Crucible common closed at 22 and the preferred at 86⅝, both being declines of ¼. U. S. Steel stocks were in nowise affected by the reports concerning President C. M. Schwab's condition, and the trading in the issues was entirely insignificant. The coalers were dull, the only change of note being a loss of ¼ by Pittsburgh common, which closed at 28¼. Manufacturers Light & Heat was dull and unchanged at 78, while Marsden common reacted ¼ to 4⅜ on light sales. All of the Westinghouse issues were passed without a sale, but were about steady and unchanged in the quotations. Fire Proofing shares were quiet but steady. Bonds were very dull and featureless.

PITTSBURGH FEATURES.

Bank exchanges gained $797,966 47.

Sales Pittsburgh stock exchange, 3,532 shares and $1,000 bonds.

1,475 shares Philadelphia Company common sold at 49¾@50, closing at the top.

Cosmopolitan National bank was 1½ lower at 108½.

Diamond National bank jumped $16 to $425, a new high record.

Real Estate Trust was $4 higher at $285.

Window Glass was dull and ⅛ lower at 62½.

Crucible Steel closed at 22 and the preferred at 86⅝.

U. S. Steel closed at 40⅞ and the preferred at 90.

Manufacturers Light and Heat was dull at 78.

Pittsburgh Coal common declined ½ to 28¼.

Marsden common lost ¼ at 4⅜.

Westinghouse stocks were not traded in.

FINANCIAL DRIFT.

Doty & Sutton bid 12¾ for 1,000 River Coal common.

London was a seller of stocks yesterday to a moderate extent on balance.

The first sale of the day was 25 National Fire Proofing preferred at 30¾.

Whitney & Stephenson and Sproull & Co. were the chief sellers of Crucible Steel preferred. The first named firm also sold the common.

Robinson Bros. were the largest buyers of Philadelphia Company common, taking over 800 shares; Hill & Co. and Sproull & Co. were also big buyers; Miller sold 1,800 and offered more.

Foreign exchange is heavy and dull at about $4 87¾ for demand. Mr. Morgan's return from abroad is expected today and Wall street of course expects important developments to follow in connection with his properties.

The London Statist says: "Apparently we are about to witness before very long a kind of electrical boom. This country has been singularly slow in adopting electricity. Former generations of Englishmen were quick to perceive the advantage of new inventions and to turn them to commercial account. But during the past quarter of a century or so there has been a strange apathy. Whether it be due to the defects of the law, or whether it is to be accounted for by the fact that the country had become so rich that people did not care to extend their business—were, that is to say, too much intent upon enjoyment and studied to work very hard, whatever may be the explanation, there is no doubt that in regard to electricity we have fallen entirely behind the United States, Germany and France, and, indeed, scores of the smaller countries, too. Perhaps there may be an ultimate advantage in this. At all events we have plenty of foreign experience to draw upon and our people, if they only take the lesson thus furnished to them to heart, may avoid immense mistakes. We were the first in adopting railways, and no doubt part of the present unsatisfactory conditions of our railways is due to that fact."

Wall Street Brokers' "Tips."

Pennsylvania promises to do better.

I have a room tip to buy Manhattan.

Southern Pacific looks like going higher.

Colorado Fuel & Iron looks like selling lower.

We hear strong bull talk on Chicago Terminal preferred.

It looks as if the bears will have a pretty long road to victory.

There are confident reports that the Chattanooga deal is to be put through.

The pool buying in Southern Pacific had every evidence of meaning to put it very much higher. I think it perfectly safe to buy it even at these prices.

This rise in Louisville & Nashville is evidently anticipating important news. The advance is not the sort that would result from the pool manipulation.

There are points out to buy Chicago Great Western. Certainly it looks from the floor like it ought to be a first class gamble. I hear there are 10 points in it.

There is to be a very big movement in Baltimore & Ohio some time this fall. It may be slow, with constant reactions for a time, but it is going very far. The convertible bonds are being bought in chunks now.

Union Pacific should be higher on the advance in Southern Pacific.

Butter, Eggs and Cheese.

There is a most active demand for eggs, one large dealer yesterday afternoon reporting that he did not have an egg in the house. The suspension of navigation on the Ohio river, shutting out the packets, is expected to make eggs work higher. Chicago quotes higher prices and eggs were marked up at Pittsburgh one cent on the dozen.

Butter—Elgin creamery, prints, 23@23½c; do tubs, 22@22½c; Ohio and Pennsylvania creamery, 20½@21½c; dairy butter, 14½@15½c; fresh country roll, 15@15½c; cooking butter, 13@14c.

The Horse Market.

August is considered the poorest month of the year by dealers in horseflesh, and the market is quiet now, although there is a fair demand and quotations are ruling firm. Good prices for stock of this kind are well maintained. Few such horses are offering, however.

At the exchange auction sale yesterday, 140 head of horses were offered and were all disposed of at figures close to those ruling last Tuesday. Offerings were of all grades, but principally common and medium stock. Buyers were out in force, and selling was done with a fair degree of activity.

The Wool Market.

BOSTON, Aug. 19.—There has been considerable doing in the wool market, although a little more quiet than last week. The position is firm with prices practically unchanged. Territory wool increases in firmness. The tendency is still upward with the wool dealers having wools to sell that have cost them even above the market prices at present. Fine staple territories, 65@66c; strictly fine, closing 50@ 55c; fine and fine medium, 50@52c; medium, 48 @46c. Texas wool is in a very strong position with the offerings small; full cleaned basis, nominal, 45@48c; 12 months, 55@58c; six to eight months, spring, 52@55c. Fine fleece wools are higher, but the offerings are small. Quotations are strong: Ohio and Pennsylvania XXX nominal, 30@31c; XX and above, 28@29c; X, 26@27c; Michigan X, 25@ 26c. Delaine wools are especially firm. Ohio fine delaine, 29@31c; Michigan, 27½@28c; No. 1 combing, 28@30c; No. 2, 27@28c; coarse, 24@26c.

Turpentine and Rosin.

SAVANNAH, GA., Aug. 19.—Turpentine steady at 43½c. Sales, none. Quote A, B, C, $1 05; D, $1 10; E, $1 15; F, $1 20; G, $1 25; H, $1 40; I, $1 85; K, $2 45; M, $2 95; N, $3 40; WG, $2 50; WW, $3 70.

CHARLESTON, S. C., Aug. 19.—Turpentine steady at 43½c. Rosin steady at $1 15@1 15. Crude turpentine firm at $1 40, $2 50 and $2 60. Tar firm at $1 50.

The Drygoods Market.

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—Today's business in cotton goods has been of late ordinary character at first hands, but local jobbers are doing a good business in general merchandise. Print cloths continue dull at previous prices. Export demand for cotton goods is inactive, but a few small parcels have been sold lately for China and Africa.

Large Realty Deals Approaching Completion

CHALFANT FARM PURCHASED FOR SUB-DIVISION

Wilkins Township Property Sold to Braddock Investors for $96,000.

EAST PITTSBURGH HOTEL

Several Large Downtown Deals Reported—Eighth Street Property Changes Owners—Bellevue and Avalon Transfers.

The Albert Chalfant farm, located in Wilkins township, has just been purchased by several real estate men of Braddock for $96,000. The property contains 100 acres, and is situated on a hill overlooking the boroughs of Turtle Creek and East Pittsburgh. The purchasers are Rinard & Stewart, and George Stemates of Braddock. The property is finely located, is naturally attractive and will prove desirable for residence purposes. The farm will be plotted and subdivided into building lots as soon as possible.

Bernard O'Hara of East Pittsburgh has purchased from the East Pittsburgh Improvement Company a lot measuring 30x120 feet in Braddock avenue, East Pittsburg, for $10,000. The lot is opposite the plant of the Westinghouse Electric Company. Mr. O'Hara is a hotel proprietor in East Pittsburgh and will erect a new hotel building on the property.

The real estate market was alive yesterday with rumors and reports of sales, many of which lacked any foundation whatever; others could not positively be confirmed, although there is evident reason for believing that several of the sales talked of are either about closed or so near consummation as to make the transactions almost certain for the near future. Absence from the city of the principals has caused several deals to hang fire.

It is reported on good authority that the sale of the Fifth Avenue Methodist Episcopal church building, which has been rumored sold several times, is all but completed. The price at which the congregation holds the property is understood to be $125,000. The church is on the north side of Fifth avenue, near Magee street, and has a frontage of about 50 feet.

Reported Deals Downtown.

There was talk on the street of the sale of the M. E. McKee property in Wood street, adjoining the Standard building, a four-story building standing on a lot measuring 18½x90 feet, and the price said to have been paid was $92,500, or $5,000 a front foot. The Real Estate Trust Company was credited with having made the sale, but officials of that concern refused to discuss the matter.

There is also rumor of a large sale about to be consummated in Smithfield street, but parties said to be interested in the deal would not commit themselves or acknowledge that there was any truth in the report.

The deed has been registered conveying to Louis Cohen from Ella M. Fraser, an improved property, 18½x85½, fronting on the west side of Eighth street, near Penn avenue, Fourth ward, the price being $10,000. There is a three-story brick dwelling on the lot, and the purchase is said to have been made for investment.

Anna M. and W. J. McWilliams sold to I. Leonard Aaronson, an improved lot 33x90½ feet, at the northwest corner of Haights avenue and Springer alley, Nineteenth ward, also an improved lot 35x100 feet on the east side of Haights avenue, near Station avenue,

SAYS HUSBAND'S SUIT FOR DIVORCE FOLLOWS THREAT

Wife Alleges That George L. Bollinger Told Her He Would Disgrace Her.

DENIES HIS CHARGES

Mrs. Bollinger Brings Counter Suit Claiming Her Husband Accused Her of Shoplifting and Employed Detectives to Dog Her Steps.

A bill of particulars was filed yesterday in common pleas court No. 3 in the divorce case of Elizabeth Bollinger against George L. Bollinger. The case is an unusual one, as the husband has a similar action pending against his wife, the details of which are mentioned in the bill.

Mrs. Bollinger states that her husband deserted her in June, 1901. She states that she expects to be able to prove that by constant course of insults and profane language, and by his seeking quarrels without reason, her condition was rendered intolerable.

She says that when Bollinger left her he declared that he would disgrace her so that no decent person would associate with her, and in pursuance of this threat he instituted an unfounded action for divorce, in which charges of the most infamous and scandalous nature were made.

Mrs. Bollinger says that her husband employed detectives to follow her and that he accused her of shoplifting. She also charges that he took their household goods away at night, and that when she asked for a bed to sleep on, she was told by him to sleep on the floor.

Says He Refused to Marry.

Suit was entered yesterday against Dudley Frye by Dora Brown for alleged breach of promise to marry. Attorney A. L. Cramer filed the papers. The plaintiff in demanding $5,000 damages avers that in January, 1902, the defendant made her an offer of marriage, which she accepted, and that they were to be married in July, but that the defendant refused to keep his promise. She avers that she lost a good position in Wheeling in order to come to Pittsburgh and keep the agreement.

New Suits Filed.

LEGAL BRIEFS.

A precipe was issued in the case of William Gilmore vs. H. S. Moore and William Kenefick & Co.

The will of Anna K. E. Aschenbren of Pittsburgh was filed. She gives an estate valued at $633 to relatives.

By the will of Elmer M. Bridges of Pittsburgh certain personal property goes to near relatives and the residue of a small estate is bequeathed to Marion Bridges.

Elizabeth Hildreth sued the Pittsburgh Railways Company for $2,500 damages. She alleges she was permanently injured by being struck by a car in Ellsworth avenue.

Two foreign attachments were issued by the Pittsburgh Gauge and Supply Company vs. the William Griesser Construction Company naming the Home Brewing Company of Braddock as garnishees.

The following executions were issued yesterday: Joseph C. Riston vs. T. C. Sechler, $230; Mison Rendering and Fertilizing Company vs. John T. Lutz, $99 65; Julia G. Taylor vs. George W. Taylor, $500.

John Helm, by his will, disposes of a $4,400 estate in Ross township, leaving it to his wife for life, but at her death it is to be divided among their six children in equal shares. Attorney H. I. Riley represents the estate.

Sophia Weismann and others filed exception to the bond of the Pittsburgh, Carnegie and Western Railway Company in the condemnation of property in the Thirty-second ward. The bond is for $15,000 and they allege the damage will amount to $300,000.

The will of Martin Preiss of Pittsburgh was filed. An estate valued at $1,400 is left to the widow with the provision that she does not remarry. In the event of her remarriage she is to get a dower interest and the residue is to go to the children.

David Wurhaft yesterday sued Joseph Friedman for $5,000 damages for alleged false arrest on a charge of assault and battery. The action is a cross suit, Friedman having sued Wurhaft on Monday for alleged false arrest on a charge of embezzlement.

The borough of Edgewood entered suit against Frank Perry and 15 others for $10 each, for the alleged violation of city ordinance. It is alleged the parties named excavated in Walnut street, Edgewood, without receiving permission from the authorities.

The report of the commissioner in the divorce case of Stanton A. Garrett against L. Mary Garrett was filed. They were married April 21, 1887, and desertion on April 30, 1898, is alleged. It is charged that when the respondent left she declared she hoped that she would never see his face again.

An answer to the bill of particulars in the case of John Healy vs. Conrad and Catharine Freund was filed. The plaintiff sued to recover damages caused by improper drainage. The defendants deny that they allowed water to flow on the premises of the plaintiff through the construction of a mound by them.

The will of Sarah Pollock of Wilkinsburg was filed. The estate is worth $6,500. The following bequests are made: Laura B. Supple, a neice, $3,000; William Pollock, a nephew, $1,000; Isaac, W. Pollock, a nephew, $500; David Pollock, a brother, $500; H. P. Williams, a nephew, $500; Elmer G. Williams, a nephew, $500; William A. Williams, a nephew, $200. The residue of the estate is left to Laura B. Supple.

Details of the Destruction of Chinese Cruiser and Loss of Crew.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 19.—The navy department has received information concerning the explosion which completely wrecked the Chinese cruiser Kai-Chih, on June 22 off Nanking.

The vessel was blown to pieces and all of the officers and men, about 130, were lost, with the exception of a seaman who was picked up slightly wounded.

When there is frequent "hawking" of mucus, hoarseness, a hacking cough, or corresponding symptoms, more serious pulmonary troubles are to be apprehended. Dr. D. Jayne's Expectorant will remove such obstructions and effect a permanent cure.

BIG PRICE PAID FOR OHIO OIL PRODUCTION

Last week brief mention was made of the United States (Incorporated) Oil Company's purchase of production in Monroe county, O. At that time the details were lacking. The property acquired consists of the Luzerne Oil Company's leases on the Levi Wise and Greenbank heirs' farms, on which are three wells; Martin & Co.'s leases on the Spiry farm and three wells; Roy & Co.'s lease on the Henry Young farm and one well and Martin & Co.'s lease on the John Young farm and one well—eight producers in all, having an aggregate production of 150 barrels a day. The best one in the lot is the old No. 1 on the Fred Spiry farm, which was drilled in more than a year ago by the late Samuel Galey, and is still producing more than 50 barrels a day. The price paid for the entire property was $300,000, or $2,000 a barrel, and is the highest figure ever paid for production in Southeastern Ohio.

When the Pure Oil Company purchased 1,000 barrels of production from the Fisher Oil Company last month it paid the latter $1,000 a barrel, just half as much as the price quoted in the sale to the United States Company. The Pure Oil Company either got a bargain in its purchase or the United States Oil Company paid a fancy price for its leases and eight wells.

Reports from the lower southwest oil fields were light yesterday. West Virginia had a decidedly off-day in completing new wells. In the Volcano district, Stiles Bros. have completed their Nos. 33 and 34 on the Volcano Oil & Coal Company's tract and have a brace of salt sand pumpers so small as to barely escape the duster list.

The Ohio side made a little better showing in completed work but the dry hole aggregation was not forgotten. On Wolf creek, Morgan county, A. Girard completed his test on the George W. Murdock farm and has a failure. In the Chester Hill district, Dunnington & Selby completed No. 8 on the S. N. Smith farm and A. A. Cameron completed No. 23 on the Bowman farm. Both are dusters in the shallow sand.

In the Marietta district, Washington county, A. A. Cameron has completed No. 2 on the Andrews Breckenridge farm and has a 50-barrel producer. In the same district Henry C. Lord & Co. have completed No. 10 on the Joseph Fisher farm and have a show for a 15-barrel pumper. This territory is furnishing some good wells. They show very good staying qualities for shallow sand producers. The gauges of the best three are as follows: Buckley's No. 5 Nancy Robinson, 125 barrels; Lilly Oil Company's, No. 5 George Ammon, 180 barrels, and Cameron's No. 4 E. C. Lynch, 150 barrels a day.

In the lower end of the Chester Hill shallow sand territory the Ohio Consolidated Oil Company has completed No. 12 on the E. R. Heilman farm and has a duster. No. 13 on the same farm has been completed and had a close call to getting into the same class. Heane & Co. have completed No. 3 on the Scott heirs' farm and have a duster. Buell & Co. got nothing better than a light pumper at their test on the A. M. Abel farm.

Southeast of Rinards Mills, Washington county, the Carter Oil Company's No. 2 on the Esau McVay farm, located in the Big Injun development, is holding up at 325 barrels a day. There will be several more wells due in this development within a few days.

In the Bowerston district Harrison county, R. G. Gillespie has completed a test on the E. M. Copeland farm and has a show for a 15-barrel pumper.

Weather—Fair. Wednesday, August 20, 1902.

The Autumn Bride and Her Trousseau.

The first thing that requires lengthy and intelligent discussion is the matter of silk for the wedding gown. There are silks and silks as there are prices and prices.

We make no claims in behalf of our silks and the large variety in which they are shown, that we cannot substantiate.

Ours is the only house in Pittsburg maintaining an office in Paris, so that in reality we are next door to the French capital.

Anything new that appears in the silk markets of France is on our counters almost simultaneously with its appearance there.

The foregoing dissertation is simply to emphasize the fact that our Silk Department offers rare opportunities for the bride to buy her wedding silks of us.

We carry such bridal silks as

White Satin Duchesse, $1 to $5 a yard.
White Crepe de Chine, $1 to $4.50 a yard.
White Satin Faced Crepe de Chine, $1.50 a yard.
White Satin Striped Crepe de Chine, $1.50 a yard.
White Moire Velour, 85c to $1.50 a yard.
White Moire Antique, $2 to $3.50 a yard.
White Brocade in moire effects, $2 to $5 a yard.
White Paillette de Soie, 75c to $1.25 a yard.
White Peau de Cygne, 75c to $1.25 a yard.
White Zibeline de Soie, $1 a yard.

We may say in passing that we have all the above silks in a full line of colors—especially those tints suitable for the bridesmaids. Same prices, of course.

Special Prices on Black Silks.

The same large and liberal variety among the black silks as is to be found among the colored silks. Just at present some very special prices.

Handsome Black Peau de Soie—full yard wide—a soft finish silk that will be much used this Fall for coats, a $1.50 grade for $1.35 a yard.

Black Moire Velour in a 22-inch width, soft finish, but of a very high luster, a fine coat silk, $1.25 grade for $1 a yard.

Among the new Silks out for Fall waists are Peau de Favorite, Tricotine, Satin Diamant and Satin Sultana, selling for $1.25 to $2.50 a yard.

We have a special Black Taffeta which is sold for 50c a yard, although it is worth all of 65c. It has the maker's full guarantee.

The New Velvets.

It is generally conceded that Velvets will be employed to a greater extent this coming Fall and Winter than for many years past.

We surmised this and bought heavily. Our importations are now arriving, and even at this time the assortment is a sumptuous one—just such as you would expect of this store.

Among the new arrivals are

Paons from Lyons, with all the velvety beauty that can be given velvets. Beautiful new tints in street and evening shades—something admirable for millinery and dress trimmings. $1 a yard.

New lines of Black Velutinas, a material that makes a striking tailor-made gown. It will be used extensively all through the coming Fall and Winter. Prices range from 75c to $2 a yard.

The August Bedding Sale Starts Today.

New Comforts, Blankets and Bedspreads—fine goods bought expressly for this early sale, and sold for much less than such goods sell for in the regular season.

The wisdom of buying now is apparent.

BLANKETS.

To make use of the present for laying in a supply of Blankets is but to anticipate, by a few weeks, what will be an absolute necessity then. Which is the more business like: To buy now at the known underprices or to wait and probably have to purchase when the market presents a strong tendency to extravagant upward flights?

Examples of how Blankets will be sold in this August Sale:

Blankets at $2.50 a pair—worth 50c a pair more. No question of their being all wool; no question of their being country made. Plain gray, plain scarlet, black and white and red and black plaids.

Blankets at $3.50 a pair, that would cost at any other time $4.25 a pair. All wool, country made, and you can have them in white or any colors that are preferred.

Blankets at $5 a pair, on which an even dollar is saved. Nothing but best selected wool warp and filling is used. There are plain white with pink, blue and red borders. There are fancy plaids in pink and white, blue and white, tan and white, black and white and red and black.

Blankets at $6 a pair, worth $7.50. They sell for the latter price in the regular season. White with fancy woven jacquard borders in pink, blue, red and yellow.

Blankets at $7, $8, $9, $10, $12.50, $15, $17.50 and $20 a pair, on each grade of which there is a saving of something like 15 per cent.

Special showing of fine Silk Blankets made in Italy, admirable for couch covers, dens and cozy corners. The brightest of Roman colorings have been employed most effectively and harmoniously. $1.25 to $6 each.

A special sale of Fancy German Robe Blankets which can be used either for bath robes or couch covers. $3 and $3.50 each.

COMFORTS.

All our Comforts were selected with special reference to quality of filling.

1,000 Cotton Comforts, covered with new Fall styles of silkoline, the filling of best white cotton, at the several prices of $1, $1.50, $2 and $2.50 each. About 20 per cent saved here.

Merritt's Health Wool Blankets, for which there was an immoderate demand last season, are here in all weights and sizes. Following are prices for those covered in cheese cloth, for which coverings can be selected as the fancy suggests:

63x84, weight 3 pounds, $2.50 each.
72x84, weight 3 pounds, $2.50 each.
81x90, weight 4 pounds, $4.00 each.
90x96, weight 5 pounds, $5.50 each.

Merritt's Health Wool Blankets, covered first with cheese cloth, it in turn covered with the newest and prettiest designs of silkoline, the prettiest designs we have ever shown in wool comforts, at these prices—
